SPAIN CRUSHES ROYALIST COUP; TRAPS REBELS

15,000 Troops March on Seville.

BULLETIN.

MADRID, Aug. 11 (Thursday).—(AP)—Gen. Jose Sanjurjo, leader of the royalist revolt, fled from Seville early today, a report here said. Gen. Manuel Gonzalez Lopez, governor of Cordoba province, who was sent by the Madrid government to take charge of Seville province, was reported in command of the city.

MADRID, Aug. 10.—Spanish monarchists who tried to shoot their way back into power in a sudden uprising against the republic today fumbled their coup in the capital and failed to win over the provincial garrisons of the republican army, but they have raised their standard in Seville.

Fifteen thousand loyal infantrymen, a fleet of bombing planes, and five destroyers are closing in on Seville tonight. Gen. José Sanjurjo, the man who made the Spanish revolution bloodless a year ago by turning over to the infant republic the dreaded civil guard which he commanded, proclaimed a counter revolutionary provisional government here today. Apparently he has the full support of the large detachment of the civil guard stationed there as well as the military garrison.

Communications Are Cut.

Communications are cut between Seville and the rest of Spain, so it is hard to tell exactly what is happening. According to some reports, the insurrectionary movement is spreading over other parts of Andalusia. It was also reported that Socialists had declared a general strike in Seville as a protest against Sanjurjo's seizure of power.

Government bombers circled over Seville tonight dropping circulars announcing to the populace that the revolt had been suppressed in Madrid and calling on them to rise up against Sanjurjo's civil guards.

Sanjurjo apparently is cornered and will have to put up a fight or surrender himself for court martial. He has almost 5,000 troops, it is estimated. The government announced tonight that a troop train sent out by Sanjurjo to blow up the bridge at Lauro del Rio had been captured by loyal forces.

Coup Falls Flat.

Save in Seville, the monarchist coup has fallen flat. The newly created storm troops of the Madrid police broke up the attempt of a handful of conspirators to seize the central postoffice and ministry of war early this morning after a pitched battle in which eight were killed and 50 wounded—the bloodiest single incident in the history of the Spanish revolution.

A cavalry regiment on the outskirts of the capital tried to march into the city, but arrived too late to aid the insurrectionists, while the Alcala Henares cavalry regiment, one of the chic outfits under the monarchy and the last hope of King Alfonso XIII, staged a brief mutiny, only to give up when it saw the case was hopeless. At Jerez de las Frontera the civil guard revolted, but, according to latest reports, surrendered when enraged townspeople drove the guardsmen into the barracks and surrounded them.

Police Round Up Monarchists.

Arrests of known monarchists is going on throughout Spain. Ninety were seized in Madrid when the attack on the postoffice was frustrated. Included among these were Gen. Godet, until two weeks ago chief of staff of the Spanish army; Gen. Cavalcanti, one of former King Alfonso's closest friends; Fernando Perez and Gonzales Garrasco, several other high army officers and the son of a duke.

A direct result of the plot was a nationwide demonstration in favor of the republic. Crowds with republican banners paraded the streets.

The revolt flared up at dawn in Madrid, but it did not catch the government napping. Tipped off by police spies that the coup was to be pulled off within a few hours, the guards around the ministry of war and other important buildings had been strengthened and a few armored cars were circulating nearby.

The postoffice was the first goal of the plotters. Several retired officers, dressed in flowing green capes with white crosses, stalked into the building and ordered the civil guards on sentry duty to wake up their commander and surrender the building.

$5 WAGE SCALE IS SIGNED BY ILLINOIS CHIEFS

Tally Sheets Stolen; Union Heads Act.

Open Mines at Once

Benton, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company, owners of the two huge Orient mines, plans to resume operations tomorrow morning, it was announced tonight.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Acting in an "emergency," officials of the United Mine Workers and the Illinois Coal Operators association today signed the wage agreement of a $5 basic wage to become effective at midnight tonight. After announcing the scale had been signed, the wage conference issued a statement predicting that 25,000 Illinois miners would would be back at work on Monday. Coal operators predict further that there will be 150,000 men at work in connection with the Illinois mine industry by mid-September.

JOHN L. LEWIS.

W. J. Jenkins, president of the Illinois Coal Operators association, conferred with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and state mine union officials on the "emergency" existing after tally sheets containing the vote of 200 local unions on the wage scale were stolen this morning.

Theft Starts Uproar.

The theft of the tally sheets created an uproar in union circles. After much debate at an afternoon conference, the union officials, who were in favor of the wage scale, declared it approved in the referendum. The scale committee and the operators were summoned into immediate joint session and the new wage agreement was signed.

The reaction of the powerful faction of the miners who were opposed to the new scale is awaited with considerable anxiety. Fears were expressed that the unions might be split wide open into two factions. The state unions represent about 50,000 diggers.

The contract provides for $5 a day as compared with the old scale of $6.10 for day workers or company men and a tonnage rate of 68 cents a ton for hand diggers of coal. President Lewis, District President John H. Walker, Vice President Fox Hughes, Secretary Walter Nesbit, and Chairman John Moulin of the wage scale committee signed the contract for the miners and Jenkins and Fred S. Wilkey, secretary, signed for the operators.

Tellers Held Up.

The tally sheets were taken from Orlie Blackman and George Gee, tellers, by two unidentified men who stopped the tellers in an alley near the mine workers' building. The tellers said they had taken this route from a bank where the tally sheets had been placed to the miners' headquarters in order to dodge a group of miners loitering in front of the headquarters.

Blackman, who was carrying the tally sheets in a brief case, reported he was told by one of his accosters to "hand over that package." One of the alleged holdup men kept his hand in his coat pocket as though holding a gun. Blackman gave up the tally sheets to the pair, who ran down the alley and escaped in an automobile.

President Lewis called the holdup "a farce." Walker called it "a fitting climax to a campaign of terrorism that has been carried from the field to district headquarters."

Lewis Says Pact Approved.

"The loss of the ballots threw the entire machinery into confusion," said Lewis. "It rendered impossible any official calculation of the returns in accordance with the laws of the organization and official instructions given the local memberships. The officers have been and are now of the conclusive opinion that the agreement was passed upon by a majority of the membership in the recent vote. The unofficial tabulation heretofore compiled supports this judgment.

"Mines of the state will resume operation as quickly as they can be made ready and as fully as market conditions will permit. Continuation in

JOHN GILBERT'S 4TH BRIDE WED ON 4 HOURS' NOTICE

He telegraphed his fiancée, Virginia Bruce, film actress, at 2 p. m. and told her to show up for a wedding at 6 p. m.

Surprised in her screen makeup of ragged clothing and covered with a brown stain, Miss Bruce demurred, but hurried off the set at 5:45 p. m. and was a bride by 6:30. Previously there had been no definite plans for the wedding.

Gilbert, 35, and Miss Bruce, 21, former Follies dancer, filed notice of intention to wed last Saturday. He has been successively married to and divorced from Olive Burwell, Leatrice Joy, and Ina Claire, all actresses.

Tavern Owner Slain in Beer Syndicate War

Joe (Big Rabbit) Connell, 35 years old, was shot and killed last night as he stood in front of his saloon and cabaret, the Island Tavern, at 1140 Hickory avenue on Goose island. The killers are believed to have used automatic shotguns.

Investigation this morning indicated that Connell was slain because he had branched out into the beer business in competition with the syndicate. Police, however, are also investigating possible labor racket motives.

Called to Door and Shot.

The Tavern is a two story structure, occupied above by Connell as a residence, and below as a whoopee spot. Shortly before 11 o'clock Connell stepped outside for some fresh air, leaving Frank Dukes, his bartender, 2028 Holly avenue, and Margaret Delli, 1540 North Talman avenue, a check girl inside. As he stood at the door a small sedan containing three men drove up.

"O, Joe, come here a minute," one of them called.

Connell advanced toward the automobile. As he did he was met by a burst of fire which sent him stumbling, fatally wounded, into the passageway adjoining his place. He was dead when picked up. Examination showed that he had been struck by 30 slugs.

Half a dozen police squads raced through Goose Island to the Tavern. Detectives at first were agreed that Connell died because he had challenged the beer syndicate.

Beer at $7 a Barrel.

"Connell used to buy his beer from two places," said one detective. "Then he started making beer for himself. This cost him only $7 a barrel. More recently he started out selling his beer at $30 a barrel to outsiders. The syndicate gets $55 a barrel."

From other sources it was reported that not only did Connell peddle his own product, but that he had "protection" in convoying it to near north side speakeasies. Late last night some of the police in the Racine avenue district, in which the killing occurred, declared they believed that Connell was not killed because of his beer brewing, but because of labor racket affiliations.

Connell was described as having been a former boss of the old Garage Owners' association, and more recently as having been active in trying to muscle into power in the Teamsters' union.

One man high in labor circles said, however, that Connell never was more than a minor hanger-on in any labor group. He had no status in the plot of powerful gangsters to gain control of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, it was said. This move was exposed yesterday, involving the names of Murray Humphreys, ex-Capone agent, Marcus Looney, and George [Red] Barker, now dead.

Connell was known as a slugger for a taxi company in 1919. His police record is one of petty setups. He tried his hand at politics last spring, running second as a Democratic candidate for state representative of the 31st district. He was a brother of George [Little Rabbit] Connell, now serving a burglary term at Joliet. He was married and the father of two children, Marie, 1 year old, and Dorsey, 2. His widow, Ann, told police Connel had no union affiliation and that she did not know why he was killed.

STOCKS AGAIN CLIMB; BONDS, COMMODITIES ALSO SCORE ADVANCE

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Further large gains were made on the New York Stock exchange today, with closing prices around the best level of the day.

Extreme advances up to 10 points were scored by the most active issues through the day and new high ground was reached by many favorites.

Railroad shares were a feature of the market, while prominent industrials joined in the rally.

Along with the rise in stocks wheat and cotton rose rapidly.

Robber Puts Mr. Taylor on Ice for the Firemen

A fire department truck, responding to an alarm from the Polar Bar, Inc., offices at 8 North Franklin street yesterday, liberated Joseph C. Taylor, 4641 Woodlawn avenue, from the vault where ice cream bars are stored. Taylor, nearly frozen, said he had been robbed of $100 by a bandit who locked him in the vault. No one could be found who had turned in the alarm and it was finally decided that the robber had done it.

Deny Plea to Halt Trial of Mayor Walker

BULLETIN.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 11 (Thursday).—(AP)—Sidney Levine, seeking a writ of prohibition to prevent Gov. F. D. Roosevelt from acting on the Walker case on the ground that cities only have the power to remove their officials, was refused a writ here early today by Associte Justice Harold J. Hinman of the Third judicial district.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Jimmy Walker, playboy mayor of New York, hove into town tonight. Tomorrow he will go on trial on the charges of Samuel Seabury that he is unfit to hold his present office and should be removed at once.

The mayor stepped jauntily from his New York train and was at once engulfed in a jam of Democratic politicians and pay rollers, as well as plain curious folk. Aerial bombs and cannon crackers created a din, and a fifty piece brass band blared: "We Won't Go Home Until Morning."

Pay Rollers Ordered Out.

Orders had gone out from the local Democratic headquarters to all pay rollers on the city and county forces to report promptly at the depot to greet Mayor Walker. It was plainly a political maneuver intended as a left handed slap at Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the man who alone holds Walker's fate.

The local Democrats have been at loggerheads with Gov. Roosevelt, even though he is the candidate for President and the nominal leader of the party. Albany politicians bow to the rule of Tammany Hall, as their greeting to Walker attested.

Mayor Walker and Mrs. Walker, who accompanied him, had a jolly party with them, including a battery of legal experts, John J. Curtin, former Judge Adelbert Rich, John J. Glenn and Winfield S. Palmer.

Hopes to Quiz Accusers.

On the train the mayor expressed his hope for the privilege of cross-examining his accusers.

"We're here to be heard and to take whatever comes," Mayor Jimmy said. Asked whether Mrs. Walker planned to sit in on the hearing with him, the mayor said:

Mrs. Walker was smilingly silent.

Mayor Walker will appear at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the governor's public hearing room at the capital to plead his defense to charges by a legislative committee of specific acts of dishonesty and corruption.

Seabury Due This Morning.

The governor spent most of the day in going over the records of the Walker case.

"Politics is out entirely until we get this over," he said this afternoon. "I have notified my secretaries and the national headquarters at New York to make no political appointments for me during this hearing."

Mr. Seabury, with a corps of assistants, is expected tomorrow morning.

Gov. Roosevelt is hopeful the hearing may be concluded by Friday, but if it has not he expects to put it over until Monday.

Ban on Hearing Denied.

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—An unsuccessful last minute attempt to block Gov. Roosevelt's removal hearing on Mayor James J. Walker was made this afternoon, even while the mayor and his aids were busy packing a mountainous pile of documents and records and leaving for Albany.

George Donnelly, secretary of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce, applied to Supreme Court Justice John E. McGeehan, sitting in special trial term in the Bronx, for a writ of prohibition to prevent the governor from hearing the Walker charges tomorrow. Justice McGeehan agreed to hear argument, but finally dismissed the petition.

AWAIT HOOVER TALK TO CLEAR WET-DRY PUZZLE

G. O. P. Faithful Flock to Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Washington was alive with political activity tonight as Republican leaders and party workers from all sections of the country arrived by the thousands to participate in the traditional ceremonies tomorrow evening when President Hoover will be notified officially of his renomination and will deliver his speech of acceptance.

The President's voice outlining the stand he will take on prohibition and the other major issues of the campaign will be the signal for the formal opening of a nationwide drive to establish the Hoover family in the White House for another four year term. Party officials announced in advance of tomorrow's ceremonies that the drive for campaign funds to keep the Republican electioneering machine operating until election day in November would begin Friday.

All Sections Represented.

A friendly audience of more than 4,000 Republicans representing all sections of the party structure will jam Constitution hall during the notification ceremonies at night. Millions of other citizens of both political parties will listen on the radio as two big broadcasting chains carry the address.

(The address will be heard beginning at about 9:15 Chicago time over W-G-N.)

Those who have been permitted to look over the President's address of acceptance, but who refused to be quoted by name, were authority today for the statement that Mr. Hoover will break new ground in the prohibition field and part company at last with the extreme drys who have fought against any change in the eighteenth amendment. It is said the President will attack both the saloon and the bootleg era ushered in by the eighteenth amendment.

Expected to Doom Bootlegger.

Party leaders expect the President to go somewhat further than did the party when it adopted a prohibition plank at Chicago. Just how much farther the President would go, none would forecast.

Persistent reports are that the President will recommend the modification of the eighteenth amendment in such a way as to make it possible to end the bootleg era. But he will insist, it is said, that when a change is made it must guarantee the wet states against a return of the saloon and the dry states against importations of liquor.

The party platform goes no further than to propose that congress give the country an opportunity to vote on the proposition of modifying the eighteenth amendment to allow the wet states to have liquor, but not the saloon, and the dry states continued federal aid in stopping prohibition violations. It does not give the country a chance to vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It does not even urge that the eighteenth amendment be modified.

"No Longer Sacred."

It is expected that the President will take the position for the first time that the eighteenth amendment is no longer sacred, that great evils, namely the speakeasy and the bootleg joint, have flourished under it and that as a result many people are ready for a change.

Those who have read his speech say that the President will urge that certain changes be made to cure evils which can no longer be tolerated.

But President Hoover had not completed and approved his speech when he left his office tonight. At 9 o'clock his advisers were still working over the latest copy. The President was still not quite satisfied. His aids stated that it probably will not go to the printers before tomorrow morning some time. Dozens of telegrams reached the White House today following circulation of reports that he intended to ditch the fanatic drys, warning him what this would mean in lost votes. Whether the President will modify his prohibition utterance will not be known until he begins to speak. His wet friends say that hotel and restaurant owners, who have been flirting with Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, since his party came out for flat repeal, will be attracted by Mr. Hoover's prohibition views.

The Hoover speech is devoted principally to economic subjects. The President also, it was said today, will

A procession of Republican chieftains, party workers, and well wishers jammed the lobby of the White House and the halls of the local Republican headquarters all today and into the evening. Among those who saw the President were Everett Sanders, chairman of the national Republican committee; Henry Field, the Iowa seed man who tamed Senator Smith W. Brookhart [radical Republican] in the Iowa senatorial primary, and Representative Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], who will tell the President tomorrow night that he has been nominated.

As is natural, the word brought to the President on the eve of his formal notification was optimistic. From Chairman Sanders down, the Republican leaders congratulated the President on his birthday and assured him he would be reelected. Mr. Sanders told newspaper men they need use no guarded phrases in quoting him as saying President Hoover would be reelected. In all quarters the business upturn was hailed as the biggest ally that had come to the party in its time of need.

Field Center of Attraction.

Newspaper men flocked around Mr. Field, the Iowa business man and farmer who upset Senator Brookhart in the primaries in June, when the seed man emerged from the President's office with Harrison E. Spangler, national committeeman from that state. Mr. Field was optimistic regarding Republican chances in Iowa, but cautious in discussing his own plans if elected to the senate. He said he preferred not to make promises, but would meet legislative problems as they arose with such common sense as he was endowed with.

"What did you talk about with the President?" a reporter queried as Mr. Spangler attempted to draw Mr. Field away from the reporters to keep another engagement.

"Well, what do you think two Iowans would talk about?" asked the Iowan. "We talked about Iowa and how high the corn grows out in that state. I told him that Iowa farmers would have their biggest corn crop in years and that they were feeling better. I also said that I believed Iowa would go Republican."

Mr. Field added that during the last six weeks the rise in commodity prices had increased Iowa wealth by 100 million dollars.

VARIOUS EVENTS REMIND HOOVER OF HIS BIRTHDAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The strains of "Happy Birthday, Dear President, Happy Birthday to You" penetrated the political hum at the White House today and reminded President Hoover that it was his fifty-eighth anniversary.

The song came from a group of children accompanying a delegation from the national fraternal congress, with whom Mr. Hoover posed for a photograph.

There were other reminders of the birthday. A cake with fifty-eight candles prepared at the orders of Mrs. Hoover topped off the White House dinner. Another cake came from officials of the United States lines. Boy Scout troops came with moccasins and a birthday scroll.

There were also, of course, scores of cards, letters, and telegrams. Most massive of this style of greeting was a card bearing 40,000 signatures, including those of 48 governors and 150 mayors.

This Is American Legion Day at Citizens' Camp

Today is American Legion day in the Citizens' Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan. Hundreds of legionnaires from Chicago, the north shore, Michigan, and Wisconsin are expected to attend. The regular drill and athletic routine of the day will be followed, and there will be a parade and review at 5 p. m. Maj. David B. Falk will be the reviewing officer.

T. ROOSEVELT'S WIDOW HOSTESS TO G. O. P. WOMEN

She'll Fly to Capital and Visit Hoovers Today.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, widow of former President Theodore Roosevelt, will fly to Washington tomorrow morning to attend President Hoover's notification ceremonies as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover. She had planned originally to make the trip on a train leaving at midnight tonight.

Mrs. Roosevelt's change in plans became known this afternoon at a luncheon she gave at the Sagamore Hill estate in celebration of the 58th birthday of President Hoover, at which she was hostess to more than 300 women. She felt, after a strenuous day of entertaining and campaigning for the Republican nominee, it would be easier and more enjoyable to travel by plane, according to a member of the family.

It's All for Hoover.

Although she observed her 71st birthday anniversary last Saturday, Mrs. Roosevelt confined today's luncheon to celebration of Mr. Hoover's anniversary. In a welcoming address that was said to be the longest political speech she had delivered in years she said:

"I welcome you all very especially on our President's birthday and thank you all for coming. I want you to try to recall some of the old days here. We want to take off our coats, run up our sleeves, and elect our President."

Mrs. Ethel Roosevelt Derby, daughter of Mrs. Roosevelt and president of the Edith Kermit Roosevelt Republican club of Oyster Bay, the organization represented at the affair, read a telegram which was sent to the President. The club, the dispatch said, "sends you their congratulations and best wishes in deep appreciation of your record of the last four years and confidence of your success in November and pledge to you our loyal and enthusiastic support."

Corrects Misinformation.

Mrs. Roosevelt will be accompanied on the flight to Washington by her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. Richard Derby of Oyster Bay. They plan to motor to Roosevelt field at about 10 o'clock.

Guests at the luncheon party generally believed the affair was given to correct the misimpression arising from the similarity of her name and that of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, a fifth cousin of her late husband. She explained the distant relationship to a Brooklyn boy in a recent letter in which she said "I am a Republican and am voting for Mr. Hoover."

Joe, 6 Feet 2, Socked by His 100 Pound Wife

Joseph Baricev, 39 years old, a structural iron worker, did not appear to prosecute charges of assault and battery against his wife, Helen, 25 years old, when the case was called yesterday before Judge John J. Lupe in the South Chicago court. Baricev, who is six feet two inches tall, obtained a warrant Monday, declaring his wife had tapped his skull with a rolling pin. When he did not appear yesterday, Judge Lupe told the wife she was free. She is five feet tall and weighs 100 pounds.

MISSING KIN OF POET POE FOUND; SHOT 3 TIMES

Shot three times, Edgar Allan Poe, McHenry county automobile agency executive, who disappeared early Monday, was found last evening in a box car on the North Shore electric line, one mile east of Libertyville. Poe, who claims distant kinship with the American poet of his name, is 44 years old, a war veteran, and lives at 434 Steele court, Waukegan.

Poe was found by a motorist and was taken to the Condell Memorial hospital, in Libertyville. He had been shot twice in the left foot and once in the left wrist. None of the wounds is serious and he will recover.

Poe told Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy of Lake county that three or four masked men seized him near Libertyville Monday while he was driving to his motor agencies at McHenry and at Woodstock. They held him captive in a house for over 48 hours, he said, and robbed him of $105. When he resisted, he said, they shot him and beat him.

Eight hours before Poe was found State's Attorney V. S. Lumley of McHenry county, obtained a warrant for his arrest on a charge of operating a confidence game. Mr. Lumley charged that Poe had not accounted for $700 due his employers.

INDIANA HOUSE ASKS FOR LIBERAL DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT ACT

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A resolution memorializing congress to "liberalize" the national prohibition enforcement act was approved today by the house of the Indiana general assembly.

The house several days ago passed a bill repealing some of the most drastic provisions of the state enforcement act.

The resolution upon which the house acted today urges congress to liberalize the national enforcement act to the fullest extent of its powers under the constitution for the purpose of "recruiting the depleted coffers of the treasury from sources which have heretofore constituted the ill gotten gains of gangsters."

Then the Indiana senate struck out all but the enacting clause of the house bill modifying Indiana's drastic "bone dry" law and amended it to provide for a referendum at the November election on repeal or modification of the state prohibition act.

HOME TOWN HAILS CERMAK, THE BOY WHO MADE GOOD

Mayor Visits the House in Which He Was Born.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KLADNO, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 10.—This ordinarily dreary little mining town in the heart of the northern Bohemian coal area spread itself today with gay flags and military bands and public receptions to welcome home its most illustrious son.

"Tony" Cermak they called him here. Old inhabitants and hardy miners all recalled how the Chicago mayor's parents, miners like everybody else here, took him, back in 1875 when he was barely two years old, to the land of opportunity across the sea, where "Tony" went to work in the mines at Braidwood, Ill., when he was 11.

Mayor Cermak and his party drove out from Prague this morning. The mayor made a triumphal entry into the town of his birth. The local police, all dressed up in Sunday uniforms, were unable to handle the crowd. As the mayor alighted from his car at the city hall, they broke the police lines and all but mobbed him.

Makes Speech to Crowd.

The mayor's bodyguard, Capt. Phil Parodi; County Commissioner Charles H. Weber, Matthias [Paddy] Bauler, and his son-in-law and physician, Dr. Frank Jirka, surrounded him and managed to get him into the city hall safely. He was welcomed by Mayor Karl Kindl and other leaders.

Mr. Cermak hardly had time to reply to the speech of welcome before shouts of the crowd outside brought him to a balcony overlooking the square. He said to the crowd:

"I am glad to be back to the place of my birth and glad to be with you workers. I started to work in mines just like your mines are and I'm not ashamed of it."

Visits House of His Birth.

After the ceremony the mayor visited the little house where he was born. It is an unpretentious one story four room frame house on a quiet little unnamed street and is undistinguished from the others all around except by the number 8.

Mayor Cermak elbowed his way past the villagers and entered the back door. He stepped right into the kitchen. It was lunch time and a pot was boiling on the range stove. A kerosene lamp hung from the immaculate whitewashed wall. Josef Jirasek, whose parents bought the home from Cermak's parents, and Mrs. Jirasek led him proudly over the freshly scrubbed carpetless floor into the living room. The mayor stepped past the stove into the adjoining bedroom. There was an old fashioned bed with large decorated bedposts and a red quilt cover, just as in the old days.

Jirasek explained how his family, too, had emigrated from that house to Chicago. His grandson, Rudolf, was born in Chicago on Feb. 11, 1927, at 2626 South Spaulding avenue. His family, however, has returned to live in Kladno.

Ask for Beer Trade.

For lunch the mayor was guest at the Casino of the National forest, just outside the town, where a sumptuous feast was served to 200 people.

Here Rudolf J. Psenka, who was introduced as editor of the Bohemian Daily Svornost, Chicago's oldest daily next to THE TRIBUNE, told in Czech of Cermak's work as mayor and how he had raised the prestige of Chicago and the Czech people. One local magnate appealed to the mayor to help the Czechs' beer export to the United States when prohibition is repealed.

"I'll try, because your beer is very good," promised the mayor, gulping a stein of Pilsen to emphazie his word.

Tomorow the mayor will journey to Pilsen to inspect the famed brewery there.

MURDERS DECREASE IN FIRST YEAR OF CERMAK'S REGIME

The first year of Mayor Cermak's administration shows a decrease in the number of murders in Chicago, according to figures prepared by Frederick Rex, librarian of the municipal reference library.

Mr. Rex's statistics, gathered almost entirely from federal agencies, showed that in 1931 there were 24 cities with a higher murder rate per 100,000 population than Chicago's. In 1930 there were 21 cities with a higher murder rate than Chicago's. In 1930 Chicago had 350 murders, or 10.38 per 100,000 population. In 1931 it had 344 murders, or 9.94 per 100,000.

Birmingham, Ala., had the worst record last year with 101 killings, a ratio of 37.54 per 100,000. The next eight cities on the list, in the order of their murder ratio, are all in the south or southwest. Gary stood tenth on the list with 16 murders, a ratio of 15.23 to 100,000.

Among the larger cities whose murder rate exceeded Chicago's in 1931 and their percentages per 100,000 inhabitants were: New Orleans, 13.9; Kansas City, Mo., 13.48; St. Louis, 13.3; Washington, 12.42; Cincinnati, 11.81, and Cleveland, 10.2.

Chicago still has the highest murder rate of cities over a million population, although the rate of New York, which stands 33d with a ratio of 6.89, is based not upon the formal reports to the federal department of justice made by most large cities, but upon a statement of the New York police department that there were 489 killings in the city during the year.

Milwaukee has one of the lowest murder rates in the country. Last year six murders in its population of 592,600 gave it a standing of 1.01, in 77th place.

"INTELLECTUALS" DENIED CHANCE TO SEE HOOVER

Protest at Eviction of Bonus Army.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—President Hoover today declined to receive the so-called "writers' delegation," who arrived in Washington this morning intent on protesting to the President against the recent use of troops to evict the bonus marchers from the capital.

The delegation came to the White House describing themselves as "intellectuals" and left crying out against the President's preference for seeing Boy Scouts and politicians instead of listening to "the intellectual opinion of the country." They did not explain just whom they meant by the "intellectuals," themselves excluded.

Turned Back in Kentucky.

Officially the visitors represented the national committee for the defense of political prisoners and were much the same group that not long ago was denied permission to investigate conditions in the Kentucky mine areas. Among them were Sherwood Anderson, Waldo Frank, and William Jones, Negro editor.

They entered the White House armed with six page mimeographed publicity handouts and made immediately for the pressroom. Denied admission to see the President they then sought to see Lawrence Richey, one of the secretaries. They were finally received by Theodore G. Joslin, another secretary, who admonished them to tell the truth and "relate that from 3,000 to 4,000 men, turning from their own leaders to the leadership of radicals and communists," had assaulted the Washington police and driven the District of Columbia commissioners to call on the President for troops.

Intelligentsia Scorned.

"The President's refusal to see us is proof that he holds intellectual opinion in contempt," said Frank in reply.

Washington under Hoover, he declared, was no better than Kentucky. The delegates again besought the attention of the press and, rising in sequence, delivered their opinions.

"We are writers of reputation," said Frank. "We are intellectuals, but the President prefers to listen to Boy Scouts and politicians."

EMMERSON GOES TO INSPECT CAMP OF GUARD TODAY

Will Spend Three Days at Training Area.

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Seventeen guns booming the official salute of the Illinois National Guard to its commander in chief, Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, will welcome him to Camp Grant tomorrow afternoon.

The governor is expected to spend at least three days with the militiamen. His exact hour of arrival was unknown today, but he will motor to the camp from Springfield and probably reach here shortly after 3 p. m.

Escort of Honor.

As the governor's car enters the camp an honorary escort composed of troopers of the headquarters company, 106th cavalry, known as the Black Horse troop, will precede his automobile to division headquarters.

There he will receive the official welcome of Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, division commander, and Brig. Gen. Carlos E. Black, adjutant general of the state troops, members of their staffs, and the governor's aids.

Review on Saturday.

On Friday the governor will conduct an unofficial inspection of the camp, but otherwise he will forego participation in the guardsmen's activities until Saturday, when the annual divisional review is held.

He and other distinguished guests will lunch Saturday at the division headquarters mess hall and in the evening he will attend a boxing show and fireworks exhibition at Bell bowl.

Death Comes Fast to One Who Wanted It That Way

"When my time comes to die, I hope it's sharp and sudden," said Gust Englund, 57 years old, 5209 Lake Park avenue, during a discussion with a fellow worker on Tuesday. Yesterday, less than 24 hours later, Englund touched the bared live wires of an electric drill in the yards of the W. L. Robinson Coal company, 5231 Lake Park avenue. He was electrocuted.

ALD. SCHREIBER IS CALLED BEFORE INSURANCE BOARD

Receiver Asked to Explain Alleged Forgery.

Ald. Irving J. Schreiber of the 5th ward, receiver for six Hyde Park apartment hotels, was called before the Chicago board of underwriters yesterday to explain an alleged forgery on an application for an insurance agency filed with the board.

The agency is managed by Bunny Schreiber, the receiver's younger brother, and its headquarters are in the Irving J. Schreiber real estate offices at 1530 Hyde Park boulevard. It was organized to write all the insurance for the buildings of which the alderman is receiver. Recently when investigators for a bondholders' protective committee examined books of the agency Ald. Schreiber declared himself shocked to learn that the application bore his signature. He said it was forgery.

During an afternoon meeting which lasted several hours the insurance underwriters' board asked the alderman to tell how his name was placed on the application. No action was taken by the board at this meeting.

A Receiver Since May, 1929.

An examination of the court records yesterday disclosed that Ald. Schreiber has been a receiver since May, 1929, when he was placed in charge of a 27 apartment building at 3700 West Grand avenue. During 29 months in which he was receiver for this property he collected a gross of $21,515. His books showed a net profit of $1,158, from which he and his attorney were paid $1,000.

In October, 1931, Ald. Schreiber became receiver for the $2,000,000 Fairfax Apartment hotel, 1369 Hyde Park boulevard, a ten story structure. A monthly report of a hotel service magazine cited by a bondholders' committee member yesterday showed that this hotel was well rented and had a restaurant operating at a profit just before the receiver took charge. The magazine stated that the profits averaged $4,000 a month. After six months of operation under the receiver a total net profit of $2,000 was reported.

Flamingo Hotel Receiver.

On Dec. 17, 1931, the alderman became receiver for the Flamingo hotel, 5520 South Shore drive, an eighteen story apartment hotel which real estate brokers say is the "cream of the south side."

This property was operated at an average monthly rent income exceeding $18,000, with an annual profit of $50,000, one year before the receiver was appointed, according to figures in the receivership proceedings. The alderman's report for his first four months of operation, filed with a protection committee last June 15, shows that his income amounted to $53,855 and his expenditures were $56,649, exclusive of $3,000 borrowed by the receiver to pay salaries due hotel employés on last Dec. 18, 1931.

The alderman's most recent appointment occurred last April 1, when he was made receiver for the Gaylord apartments, 5820 Kenmore avenue, another one million dollar property. This appointment was made by Judge John P. McGoorty. All the others were made by Judge Robert E. Gentzel.

Request for Funds.

A member of the Flamingo bondholders' committee pointed out that Ald. Schreiber, in a petition filed last Feb. 23, asserted that "at the time of his appointment the building was in a dilapidated condition, dirty, carpets and upholstery badly worn . . . and it was necessary to practically rehabilitate the premises."

The petition asked that he be given $22,832 for purchase of upholstery, china, and linen. It further asked that the receiver be permitted to spend $70,400 for redecoration of apartments and halls, an average of $56 a room.

This contrasts, the bondholder asserted, with a report of W. J. Forster & Co., accountants for the Chicago Beach, the Edgewater Beach, and other hotels, made shortly before the receiver was appointed. According to this report, "more than the usual amount of money had been spent in the upkeep of the Flamingo, which was in excellent condition." The report also cited that the redecoration of the building had cost $25 a room in the past.

Profit of $6,000.

Bondholders of the Flamingo recently said that offers had been made to their committee by a hotel management corporation to take charge of the building for an indefinite period with a guaranteed monthly profit of $6,000.

The bondholders, in protesting recently against the receivership of Ald. Schreiber, asserted that five of Schreiber's relatives are profiting directly from his régime. His brother, who, they said, is not an experienced hotel man, heads a company which operates the Flamingo, the Park Shore, and the Fairfax properties.

Two cousins, H. Sobel and Jerry Lobell, are, respectively, desk clerk at the Fairfax and interior decorator for the whole group. Another relative, Sam Schneider, is receiving clerk at the Fairfax, and the alderman's father, I. B. Schreiber, sells curtains to the receiver, the bondholders charged.

Recently Ald. Schreiber publicly denied that he was paying debts of political patronage through appointment of ward workers to hotel jobs.

VON HINDENBURG FIGHTS HITLER FOR CHANCELLOR

Nazis Increase Efforts to Gain German Rule.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—President Paul von Hindenburg today refused to appoint Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, as German chancellor. His refusal came during the day's maneuvers of political leaders who are trying to solve the intricate German cabinet situation.

When urged to name Hitler, the German president replied that his appointment would conflict with his intention to administer Germany by a government "above parties and unfettered by party wishes." He intimated he would rather resign as president than appoint Hitler as chancellor.

Hitler's friends, undaunted, tonight increased their pressure upon Von Hindenburg, and despite the president's unfavorable attitude, Hitlerites insisted that the chancellorship was within the grasp of their chief, if he wished to accept it.

Von Schleicher for Hitler.

Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense and moving power of the present government, was reported to be leading the pro-Hitler movement tonight because of fear that most of the reichswehr [army] had transferred its allegiance to Hitler. Von Schleicher, incidentally, conversed with Hitler and his aides this afternoon.

The way out of Germany's political labyrinth appeared to be as complicated late tonight as before the series of parleys began. Von Hindenburg, who arrived here today from his east Prussian estate at Neudeck, conferred at length with Chancellor Franz von Papen this afternoon. The cabinet met for nearly three hours without result. Von Papen also called in Alfred Hugenberg, Nationalist leader.

Von Papen tomorrow will talk with other party leaders, notably those of Dr. Heinrich Bruening's Catholic Centrist organization. The Centrists were believed by many to hold the key to the solution, for it is conceded that much depends upon whether they have decided to be pro or anti-Hitler.

Meanwhile, Berlin seethed with rumors that Hitler's "storm troops" are encamped near the city ready to act if Hitler fails to get the chancellorship. Officials admit that Nazi storm troopers are assembled in large camps near Berlin, but they declare that this is satisfactory, since it removes them from contact with republicans in the celebration of Constitution day tomorrow.

Reports Arms Delivered.

It was reported tonight that 3,000 rifles and plenty of ammunition had been delivered to the storm troops. Police officials ordered a "second stage alarm" and armored cars have been driven to political centers of unrest, while sentries have been reinforced at official quarters.

Count Helldorff, leader of the Berlin storm troops, issued a proclamation today denouncing rumors of the "illegal intentions of storm troopers" as lies.

"These lies are to make the storm troops seem to be lacking in discipline," he asserted. "It is comprehensible that our storm troop comrades are nervous after the recent political fights. But now is the time for the storm troops to show their discipline. I alone give orders, and am responsible for them. I would punish illegal actions most severely if they happened."

Despite the threat of death sentences terrorists continued bombings and shootings today. One republican and three communists were killed in the last twenty-four hours.

CHINA ACCEPTS ACRE FOR EXHIBIT AT CHICAGO FAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—The Chinese commission in charge of preparations for the Chicago Century of Progress exposition next year today cabled fair authorities at Chicago accepting the space assigned for the Chinese exhibits. This space consists of an acre on the lake front just north of the 23d street entrance, which the Chinese propose to convert into an oriental garden, with courtyards similar to the better class of Chinese home.

The commission said China's expense will be about $300,000, a third of which will be supplied by the government and the remainder to be raised from concessionaires.

The Chinese had practically decided that the political and economic situation was too critical to warrant participation in the fair, but decided to go ahead when they learned that the Japanese were spending three million yen [$795,000] at the exposition. Allen Diehl Albert, representative of the fair, who has been conferring with the Chinese, will leave soon for Japan.

FORMER KAISER'S BROTHER-IN-LAW GETS DANCING JOB

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Alexander Subkoff, husband of the late Princess Victoria, sister of former Kaiser Wilhelm, got a job today in a public dancing place here.

Subkoff, young Russian dancing teacher, has had numerous difficulties during the last few years. When his wife died in 1929 his exact whereabouts were not known but a few days later he turned up and Prussian police arrested him, as they were apprehensive that there might be unpleasant incidents at the funeral. Subsequently he was sentenced to a week in jail on a charge of entering Germany illegally.

TARGET IN SUIT

MRS. SYLVIA WENTWORTH.

A contest over the $700,000 estate of the late Edward C. Wentworth, partner in the real estate firm of Whiteside & Wentworth, was brought yesterday in the Circuit court by his daughters, Mrs. Carolyn W. Parker, 200 Linden avenue, Winnetka, and Mrs. Hester Crawford, 817 Chestnut court, Winnetka. The daughters filed a bill to set aside conveyances and gifts, made by their father, to his second wife, Sylvia Wentworth, 1408 Jarvis avenue.

The bill states that the daughters were promised the estate of their father, which is largely stocks and bonds, in the summer of 1929 while they were visiting him. He died last Nov. 21 without leaving a will. The widow failed to appear in the Probate court to seek administratorship.

According to the bill, Mrs. Wentworth told the daughters she did not seek the administratorship because their father had turned over all his holdings to her before his death. The daughters ask two-thirds of the estate, charging that the father was of unsound mind for some time before his death and that undue influence was exerted by Mrs. Wentworth.

B. E. F. MARCHERS AWAIT OUSTER FROM HOME HERE

One hundred stragglers of the bonus expeditionary forces, who have occupied a house at 17 West Pearson street for the last five days, late yesterday had not found a new refuge and did not know where they would go when they are forced to vacate the building at noon today. The city fire prevention bureau ordered them out on the ground they constitute a fire hazard.

Leaders of the bonus marchers were searching for new quarters for the men. One of their members, Otto Schwartz, said that if they fail to find a place to go they would camp in Grant park. Howard W. Tower, another leader, promised fire department officials that their departure from the building "will be peaceful." Aid in finding a new headquarters was promised the marchers by J. F. Kinsella, coommander of Daniel C. Gibbons post, No. 269, of the American Legion.

W. H. H. MILLER PLEADS POVERTY TO GET LIBERTY

Asks Judge to Void Fine So He Can Quit Jail.

William H. H. Miller, director of the state department of registration and education when Len Small was governor, who has just completed a term in the county jail for conspiracy in connection with the issuance of fake medical diplomas, filed a petition yesterday to Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court stating he was penniless and unable to pay a $2,000 fine. The fine must be paid or remitted before Miller can be released from jail.

W. H. H. MILLER.

The petition was filed by Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach. The public defender could not be reached for an explanation as to why Miller has discarded the law firm of Hoffman & Daugherty, which represented him through long and expensive litigation in connection with the conspiracy trial.

Gets Seven Month Sentence.

Miller was sentenced to serve seven months and one day in the county jail and pay a $2,000 fine by the late Judge Jacob Hopkins in January, 1930. Court attachés recalled that Miller was apparently wealthy at that time and ordered his lawyers to appeal the conviction to the Appellate court and then to the Illinois Supreme court.

After the conviction had been upheld by the Supreme court, Miller evaded the sheriff for many months until he was finally arrested early this year. His jail sentence, with 14 days off for good behavior, was completed on Aug. 9, but Miller has been detained because he has not paid the fine.

The petition, which will be heard today, said that Miller has no money or property. It asks that he be released from payment. Acting Warden George Gibson declared there were no provisions for a county jail prisoner working out a fine.

Property Deeded to Wife.

Miller's home is in Champaign, where his wife and a daughter are now residing. Champaign county records show that late in March of this year Miller deeded to his wife his half interest in three properties which he owned in that county.

The public defender's office, which is now representing Miller, was assailed recently by the Chicago Bar association for representing persons who obviously have funds for the employment of attorneys. The public defender's office was almost abolished by the county board last spring, but the appropriation was finally allowed to stand.

Judge John Prystalski, incoming chief justice of the Criminal court, has already announced a policy to the effect that any prisoner who is able to furnish bail is able to hire his own attorney and will not be represented by the public defender at the taxpayers' expense.

Court's Ruling May Give Simpson G. O. P. Nomination

A ruling by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch yesterday may have given James Simpson Jr. the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth district in the contest with State Representative Ralph E. Church.

The court invalidated 321 ballots in the 3d precinct of the 7th ward of Evanston, which had been initialed by a clerk of election, Hathorn W. McCulloch, instead of by an election judge as is required by the law.

That ruling cost Church 158 votes and Simpson only 45, a net gain of 113 for Simpson, which wiped out Church's previous lead of 88 and gave Simpson a margin of 25. Simpson's attorney, Urban A. Lavery, was of the opinion this means final victory for his client, but counsel for Church contended that the battle was not over.

No Appeal from Circuit Court.

Spectators who have been interested in the long drawn out contest immediately began to conjecture concerning the possibility of an appeal from Judge Lynch's ruling, but the primary law states in unquestionable terms that the decision of the Circuit court is final. There can be no appeal.

The court acted favorably on a motion of Attorney Lavery to strike from the record all the testimony of judges and clerks of the precinct under challenge, which was to the effect that they had agreed among themselves that McCulloch, who held a clerk's appointment, should perform the duties of a judge because one of the appointed judges, De Witt Hardy Jr., 21 years old, was inexperienced, while McCulloch had served in previous elections.

The court held that the precinct record books were signed by McCulloch as a clerk and that this alone was proof that he had no authority to initial ballots.

Church's Lawyers Overruled.

Counsel for Church, John F. Tyrrell and Cornelius J. Harrington, pleaded with the court that 321 voters—118 of whom failed to vote on candidates for congress—should not be "disfranchised" by the action of the precinct election officials. They were overruled.

Following his victory on this point, Attorney Lavery, for Simpson, attacked the validity of 215 ballots initialed on the face, instead of on the back as specified by the statutes. Of these, 150 were cast in the 2d precinct of the 3d ward of Evanston and 65 in a Wilmette precinct. Judge Lynch took this question under advisement and tomorrow will hear arguments on Lavery's contention that votes cast by affidavit are invalid.

City Sells 610 More Licenses for Autos

The city clerk's office issued 610 city vehicle stickers and collected $3,812 yesterday. The day's business brought the total number of stickers issued to 3,739, and the amount of money collected to $20,870, since Commissioner of Police Allman's order last Thursday calling for the arrest of motorists driving without state or city vehicle licenses.

Indict Negro Bootlegger for Slaying U. S. Dry Agent

Drew Clark, 35 years old, 3817 Indiana avenue, Negro bootlegger, was charged with the murder of Eugene Jackson, 34, colored prohibition agent, in an indictment returned yesterday by the county grand jury. Jackson was shot and killed when he attempted to arrest Clark for prohibition violation, according to the testimony.

JOHN BAIN QUIZ ENDS; DRAMATIC SCENE IN COURT

Woman Spectator Cries "God Will Punish You."

With the demand, "Where did you get the name of 'Honest John' Bain?" Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber yesterday brought to a close his cross-examination of the ex-plumber and south park commissioner who is on trial before Judge John M. O'Connor. Judge O'Connor, sitting without a jury, is hearing charges of conspiracy against Bain, his sons, John H. and Robert A., and his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, growing out of the crash of their bank chain last summer.

Bain was prevented from answering the prosecutor's question by an objection by his attorney, Francis X. Busch, which was sustained. Its basis was Prosecutor Raber's statement that Bain, his co-defendants and other officers of the West Englewood Trust and Savings bank, parent institution of the chain, owed the Bain chain $2,325,000 at the time of the crash. The receiver has been able to collect only $17,000 of this debt.

Meets a Depositor.

Early in the day Bain had an encounter with one of the depositors who have been faithful spectators of his three day cross-examination. As he stepped down from the witness stand at the close of the morning session of court, a housewifely little woman in a yellow gingham dress confronted him.

"God will punish you," she cried, waving a paper fan in his face. "God will punish you."

The woman, who began to weep, became the center of a crowd of fellow depositors in the corridor outside the courtroom. She refused to give her name until others urged her to do so.

"I'm Mrs. Susan Birch, and I live at 3242 West 64th street," she said. "I lost our life savings, $5,000, in the Chicago Lawn bank. Before that we'd been getting along. Now we've had two operations in the family. We intended to buy a farm and move out of the city. Now we've lost everything. It just got to be too much. I couldn't stand it any longer."

Window Dressing.

In the final stages of his cross-examination of Bain, Prosecutor Raber charged that Bain and his bank officers used several kinds of "window dressing" to keep the banks afloat during the last six months before the crash. He intimated in his questions that brokers had been furnished with spurious quotations on Bain bank stocks and asked later that they not be passed on to the newspapers. Raber also charged that the sale and repurchase within three days, at a loss, of $1,500,000 worth of bonds held by the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company as collateral on loans was for the purpose of showing in quarterly statements that the Bain chain had no such obligations. The examination on these points follows:

Q.—Did you at that time give various brokers quotations on your stocks to be put in the papers? A.—That wasn't to go to the papers. That was just in case of sales.

Q.—Why did you ask the brokers to stop giving these quotations to the newspapers? A.—We were just not in the market.

Too Many Phone Calls.

Q.—Wasn't it just because the telephone rang too often—stockholders demanding to know what it meant? A.—That's just your twisted idea.

Q.—What about the Auburn Park bank quotation—200 bid, 285 asked? Did you send a notice to brokers on June 30, 1930, to please discontinue the stock quotations to the paper? A.—Those were strenuous times. They didn't warrant putting those quotations out.

Q.—As a matter of fact, the quotations had been given the papers to bolster Bain bank stocks, hadn't they? A.—No.

Q.—You sent a letter to the heads of all your banks, stating: "Many customers, I've learned, are coming to our banks to dispose of Bain bank stocks. I suggest that you talk to them and try to persuade them to hold them. If you cannot, make the deal privately, or in a last instance make a loan on the stock through member banks." Now what did that mean? A.—I just wanted the people to keep their stocks. I did that up to the last day.

Q.—Did you know that there were $1,300,000 of such loans in your banks, with various Bain bank stock as collateral? A.—I didn't know that.

Q.—You operated the banks as a unit didn't you. It was just like a bank loaning on its own stock, wasn't it? A.—No. But if we did loan a million like that, the capital stock totaled $6,500,000. We could certainly loan a million on that.

Q.—But the assets were gone, weren't they? A.—(Bain leaned forward and shook his fist at the prosecutor, and shouted his reply.)—No, they weren't gone. You've destroyed more of them than any one else, right here.

Later Prosecutor Raber questioned Bain about the bond deal with the Continental Illinois bank. The Bain banks had posted $1,500,000 worth of bonds with the loop bank as collateral for a loan. On Dec. 30, 1930, the Bain banks sold the bonds to the larger bank and retired the loan. The loan was reinstated on Jan. 2, 1931, and the bonds repurchased by the Bain chain at a loss, the prosecutor contended. He brought out that on Dec. 31 the Bain banks had made public their regular quarterly statements. The questions:

Q.—Wasn't this to make the statement appear that you had no liabilities? A.—No.

Loss on Repurchase.

Q.—How did it occur, then, that they bought on Dec. 30 and you repurchased on Jan. 2, and your banks took a loss on the repurchase? A.—That was just according to agreement.

Q.—Didn't you think the statement in the press that you had no bills payable would bolster your banks? A.—No. When a bank borrows from another larger bank, it looks as if they have securities which are good behind their capital stock.

Prosecutor Raber then led Bain back over his own dramatic recital, given on direct examination, of the final day, June 9, 1931, on which the banks closed.

The recital closed as Bain retold how he had instructed Charles Meacham, one of his officers, to close the banks, and had himself dictated a statement on the matter. That was what Raber sought.

Q.—You were the man who didn't give any orders, weren't you? When did you get to be boss? This is the first time that you have admitted that you were head of this bank chain. A.—I was always boss.

$500,000 in Notes.

Q.—You had $500,000 in personal notes in the bank, you had trust 687, you had Normandy Hall, you had a million of John Bain, Inc., notes, you had the indebtedness of John H. Bain and Walter S. Buhlig, and the certificates of indebtedness of Frank A. Mulholland. [All those mentioned were indicted with Bain.] Why didn't you put them up as collateral for a loan to keep the banks open? A.—The Continental wouldn't take them.

Q.—Do you know the proportion of loans to bank officers at the West Englewood bank—that they had loans of $2,325,000 out and carried deposits of only $21,000 at the bank, and that the receiver has collected only $17,000 on those loans, while from outsiders to whom you loaned $5,032,000 he has collected $1,357,000? A.—I didn't know that.

Q.—Where did you get the name of "Honest John" Bain? [defense objection sustained].

Q.—Did that deal look square to you, when you could be so careful with outside loans, and so careless with loans to your officers? A.—I don't know.

In a moment Prosecutor Raber announced "I'm through." Attorney Busch will start the redirect examination of his client this morning. It probably will not consume more than an hour, he said.

THE MORNING SESSION

Prosecutor Raber began baiting Bain shortly after he started his examination, when he quizzed him about the property at 79th street and Emerald avenue on which the Auburn Park Trust and Savings bank was later erected. The questions:

Q.—The Inlander-Meyer trust bought that for $62,000 and you sold it six weeks later to the bank for $82,000, didn't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Then you carried the valuation of the property on the bank's books at $200,000. Did you ever have a competent appraisal? A.—I don't know.

Q.—How did you jump that figure so much? It was only good for a bank, wasn't it. A.—O, I don't know. It might have been used for an undertaker's establishment or something else like that.

Q. [Raber snarled it]—That's what it was, wasn't it? [No answer.]

Q.—You listed $1,500,000 in resources of the Auburn Park bank in the circular which you put out, didn't you. A.—I don't know about that circular. It may have been on my desk downtown, but nobody has accused me of writing it.

Just the Pictures.

Q.—You just looked at the pictures, I suppose? [Bain testified Tuesday that he rarely examined the circulars offering the securities of his companies for sale, except to look at the pictures.] A.—That's about all.

Q.—Why did you do that? A.—I don't know. I was just curious, I guess.

Q.—Now, who was interested with you in the Lombard subdivision? A.—Frank A. Mulholland [a co-defendant who has obtained a separate trial].

Q.—Mulholland wrote certificates of indebtedness against that property to buy out Howard Elmore's [sanitary district trustee] shares, and then left the notes in the West Englewood bank, didn't he? A.—Yes.

Q.—Didn't the clearing house tell you in 1929 that these loans were bad, and should not be in the bank, or in the hands of the investing public? A.—[Bain's face flushed, his eyes watered, and he tore off his glasses as he replied.]—Howard Sims [chief examiner for the clearing house] made that statement. Our banks wouldn't have closed if the Reconstruction Finance corporation had been in operation. Sims kept his friends in the loop open. Sims said he didn't know a thing about real estate, and yet the value of a city and a state is in its real estate, not in the stock exchange.

Not "John" Any More.

Q.—Did Sims ever call you John? A.—Yes, but I'm glad he's stopped.

Q.—Did you ever take up with the bank examiner whether you were qualified to run a bank? A.—For 25 years I got permits to run a bank from the state auditor. No one ever accused me of not knowing how to run banks. We paid our obligations.

Q.—[Another snarl.]—Yeah, with your depositors' money. [No answer.]

Q.—Previous to 1930, the clearing house told you that you had $2,000,000 in bad paper that you would have to liquidate, didn't it. A.—Yes, and we liquidated $900,000 of that.

Q.—Sims didn't know, though, whether you had taken something out or put something over on him, did he? A.—I never put anything over on him, or you or anybody else.

There was a stir and muttering among the depositor-spectators in the back of the courtroom.

Relations with Clearing House.

Prosecutor Raber then held an extended discussion with Bain over the Bain banks' relations with the clearing house. It was his contention that the clearing house wanted either all or none of the banks as members, so that if it was to clear checks on Bain banks, it could examine the books of all the banks. Eventually all of the Bain chain except one withdrew from the clearing house, the other banks clearing through that one, the Auburn Park Trust and Savings.

Raber showed Bain a resolution by the clearing house, ordering that unless the eight Bain banks, which were members then removed $1,500,000 of doubtful securities form their assets, they would be denied clearing privileges.

Estimated Losses.

Q.—What did you do after you got the resolution? A.—Those were only estimated losses, that $1,500,000. Estimated losses are not facts.

Q.—Those fellows were awfully good guessers, though, weren't they? Anyway, what did you do? A.—I took it up with our directors.

Judge O'Connor adjourned the morning session.

In his cross-examination of Bain on Tuesday Prosecutor Raber referred to Mrs. Robert Esplin, 6616 South Marshfield avenue, who invested the proceeds of a $40,000 life insurance policy in now worthless Bain real estate securities as a widow. Her husband, Robert Esplin, said yesterday that he is very much alive, in spite of the flowers and messages of condolence received by Mrs. Esplin. The insurance money she received came to her after the death of her brother, he said.

AIRMAN DENIES SLAYING; UPSET BY QUESTIONING

Shows Confusion During Cross-Examination.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The unemotional calm with which Capt. W. N. Lancaster, noted British flyer, had previously denied the killing of his friend and rival in love, Haden Clarke, disappeared under cross-examination by State's Attorney Vernon Hawthorne in the eighth day of the murder trial this afternoon.

"Did you kill Haden Clarke?" asked the prosecutor.

"I did not kill Haden Clarke; he committed suicide," said Capt. Lancaster. But the witness became excited and stammered his answers as the state's attorney hurled an avalanche of questions at him.

Tells of Fatal Night.

Earlier in the day, on direct examination, Capt. Lancaster had told of the fatal night in the home of Mrs. J. M. (Chubbie) Keith-Miller, Australian flyer, whose affections Clarke had usurped.

"I was awakened by a bang," he said, "and I thought it was the crash of a window. I called out, 'What is that, Haden?' and heard a gurgling noise. I leaped from bed and found blood streaming from Haden's face. There was a pistol lying by his side. I called Chubbie and she bathed Haden's face with a towel while I called a doctor.

"Then I looked around and saw that he had left no suicide notes. I wrote two and asked him if he could sign them, but he could not. Then I made my mistake. I signed one of them 'Haden' and the other 'H'."

On Verge of Tears.

Lancaster was on the verge of tears as he told the jury Clarke's last words to him after they had discussed their relations with Mrs. Keith-Miller before retiring the night of the shooting.

"Bill, you're the whitest man I ever knew," he said Clarke told him.

The witness said Clarke discussed his love for Mrs. Keith-Miller and expressed regret for his past life, his affairs with other women. He testified that Clarke admitted awakening and finding himself in Mrs. Keith-Miller's room, after a night of drinking, during the flyer's absence in St. Louis.

Lancaster clung to his story that he purchased the pistol before leaving St. Louis to replace one he had borrowed in Miami and pawned. He said he discussed the gun with Clarke and told him it was loaded when he laid it on the table between their beds.

Asked whether he had not left St. Louis hurriedly when he heard of Clarke's affair with Mrs. Keith-Miller, Lancaster replied that he did, but insisted it was to protect the woman.

"I was afraid Haden would hurt her," he said.

"You mean you were afraid he would seduce her?" Lancaster was asked.

"Yes, I was afraid that under the influence of liquor he would," said the witness.

Breaks Law for Aviatrix.

When the prosecutor sought to show that Lancaster was jealous of Mrs. Keith-Miller the witness, wilting under a barrage of questions, admitted that he would steal or even die for her. He admitted that he had stolen chickens, rabbits and ducks for her, had lied for her, and broken the law buying liquor for her.

"I didn't consider breaking the prohibition laws a major offense," he said.

Lancaster denied the charges of two state witnesses that he had threatened to "get rid of Clarke."

DRY AGENT KRIEGER KNOWS HOW TO USE THOSE GIRLISH TONES

Jack Gallagher, 3737 Giddings street, and Clarence Summers, 5523 Kenmore avenue, were held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $2,000 each by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on charges of violating the prohibition law.

The story of their arrest was told by Prohibition Agent Sam Krieger, who has a somewhat girlish voice. He installed himself in a north side apartment, Krieger said, and telephoned Gallagher's place of business, where Summers was employed. The exact address of Krieger's headquarters was not revealed.

"This is Miss Kay," he told Summers in his best girlish tone. "Bring over two fifths of gin."

Summers arrived, collected $3, and was arrested. Fifteen minutes later Krieger again telephoned, identified himself as "Miss Kay," and told Gallagher the gin had not arrived. Gallagher promised quick delivery. He arrived with the gin and was arrested.

Defense Attorney William F. Waugh asked one question:

"Did you disguise your voice?" he inquired.

"No," Krieger replied, and was dismissed from the witness stand. Government agents were prohibited from using woman aids in an order issued several months ago by Prohibition Administrator Amos Woodcock.

WIFE OF NEW U. S. ATTORNEY HAPPY OVER PROMOTION

'He Got What He Wanted,' Comments Mrs. Green.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Mrs. Mabel Green, wife of Dwight H. Green, appointed United States district attorney by President Hoover, is glad her husband got what he wanted. She said she was more interested in that than in the honor of the appointment.

Mr. Green will succeed George E. Q. Johnson, who was appointed a judge of the United States District court on Tuesday when the Green appointment was announced. The new district attorney, who is only 35 years old, is one of the youngest in the country.

"I'd be content if he were just an obscure lawyer," said Mrs. Green in their apartment in the Belmont hotel. "And I'd see more of him, instead of having him work day and night. But whatever makes him happy makes me happy."

Doesn't Want a Career.

They have two children, Nancy, 4 years old, and Gloria, 16 months old. Mrs. Green said she never wanted a career for herself, and doesn't want one for her daughters. Neither does their father, who says he wants them to be "just girls."

When her husband entered the internal revenue department in Washington before their marriage in 1926, Mrs. Green said, he had no political ambitions, expecting to enter private practice after familiarizing himself with the income tax work.

"I hope he doesn't continue long as a public figure," she said. "It's too much like being a goldfish in a bowl."

Before her marriage Mrs. Green was a secretary to the president of a Washington bank. It was there that she met her husband.

Mrs. Green was a spectator in court during the trials of Al Capone and Jack Guzik, in which her husband figured prominently in the prosecution. The thing that surprised, she said, was how "how stern" he could be.

Names First Assistant.

Mr. Green announced yesterday he had named Assistant United States Attorney General William J. Froelich, as his first assistant. Mr. Frolich was educated at the University of Nebraska and at Georgetown university, where he studied law. He is 31 years old.

Froelich's appointment will become effective next Monday. At that time there will be a double ceremony at which Mr. Johnson will resign and take the oath of office as federal judge and the new district attorney will be sworn in.

Mr. Green was born Jan. 9, 1897, in Ligonier, Ind., where he obtained his grade school education. He attended Wabash college, where he was a star football player for two years. When war was declared he enlisted in the air service and served as second lieutenant and instructor at Kelly field, Texas, and Mather field, California.

Enters Private Practice.

After the war he attended Leland Stanford Jr. university and the University of Chicago, receiving a Ph. B. degree in 1920, and a bachelor of jurisprudence degree in 1922.

He entered private practice in Chicago, remaining until 1925, when he entered the general counsel's office of the bureau of internal revenue in Washington. He was still attached to that bureau, although acting as an assistant to District Attorney Johnson, when the appointment was made. In April, 1927, he was put in charge of all income tax matters here.

The retiring district attorney is now recuperating from a major operation in New Troy, Mich. He will occupy the new courtroom on the fifth floor of the federal building, which is scheduled to open in the fall term.

2 YOUTHS SHOT AS THEY TRY TO 'AVENGE INSULT'

Two south side youths were shot this morning when, with three companions, they attempted to beat up another youth at 66th and State streets. The wounded men were Daniel Ambrose, 22 years old, of 6850 Justine street, shot in the neck and right side, and Thomas Hayes, 24 of 6956 Harvard avenue, wounded in the left groin. Conrad Niehoff, 23, of 6737 Prairie avenue, was arrested by Sergt. Frank Reynolds as the youth who did the shooting.

Niehoff said that he was standing at State and 66th streets when Ambrose, Hayes, and three others slighted from a car. They accused him of insulting Ambrose's mother two nights ago. Hayes, Niehoff said, held his hand to his hip pocket. When the quintet advanced on him, Niehoff fired, he said.

The unwounded men picked up Hayes and Ambrose, and drove them to St. Bernard's hospital. They abandoned the pair in front of the hospital. Hayes' cries for help aroused attendants. Ambrose was operated on immediately. It was said he might not recover. Hayes was removed to the Bridewell hospital.

RELIGIOUS TIBET ARMY WARS ON REDS IN MONGOLIA

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

HARBIN, Aug. 10.—News of a vast military movement, largely of religious inspiration and aiming to wrest outer Mongolia from soviet control, was received here today. Many Mongolians who recently escaped over the closely guarded outer Mongolian frontiers told of large Tibetan armies advancing through inner Mongolia in two columns.

The southwestern outer Mongolian border has already been penetrated at a point northward of the Gobi desert, they said. The second column is nearing the southeastern boundary north of Shensi province. The only Chinese opposition encountered was at Paotowchen, in inner Mongolia across the Hwang river from Ordos. The Tibetans captured the city.

Meanwhile, members of the religious sect of Lamas in western Mongolia, who have been persecuted since the region was sovietized, are fomenting riots. Mutinous Mongol soldiers who escaped from Urga, capital of outer Mongolia, reported that dead and wounded Russian officers and instructors were being taken to Urga in airplanes from the troubled zones. The soviet regime at Urga is using bombing planes in an effort to suppress the rebellious Mongolians, who are eager to join the Tibetans.

DRYS SEIZE ALKY PLANT.

Prohibition agents under Al Aman, chief enforcement officer, yesterday raided a house at 3654 East 97th street and confiscated a 1,500 gallon recooker, a 250 gallon tank of moonshine alcohol and 89 five gallon cans of alcohol. Mike Cardora was arrested as the operator.

JAPANESE FLAY STIMSON SPEECH; PROTEST LOOMS

Threaten to Withdraw from Kellogg Pact.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 10.—The Japanese continued to heap criticism upon Secretary of State Stimson today. The Tokio foreign office reiterated the possibility that a protest will be filed with the United States over the secretary's address Monday night in New York.

The foreign office had previously indicated that it regarded as offensive Mr. Stimson's allusion to the Sino-Japanese hostilities in which, it was claimed, he inferred the Japanese were the aggressors. The foreign office spokesman today added that the secretary had misinterpreted the Kellogg peace pact.

"If the other powers approve Stimson's interpretation, Japan may be forced to withdraw from the pact," he said.

Await Full Report.

Filing of a formal protest with Washington, D. C., is awaiting the full report of the address to be sent by Katsuji Debuchi, Japanese ambassador at Washington, the spokesman declared. He took Mr. Stimson severely to task for his behavior throughout the Sino-Japanese complications.

He stressed the grave importance to Japan of adverse statements from responsible officials of foreign countries since, he pointed out, the league of nations commission of inquiry on far eastern affairs is about to submit its report. The spokesman expressed the opinion that Mr. Stimson's remarks will influence the commission. He added that if Mr. Stimson were talking for presidential campaign purposes, he was placing too light a value on American-Japanese friendship.

He charged that the recent publication of an American note to Japan in 1918 was altogether unnecessary and discourteous as Japan had not previously been consulted. This note was from Secretary Lansing criticising Japanese military activities in Siberia. The spokesman said that Japan is doing her best to clear up matters and make it impossible for any one to say that Japan violated the terms of any treaty but that Stimson is making this harder by giving out dogmatic interpretations of international treaties.

"The sending of 80 per cent of the American navy to the Pacific is merely another indication that Stimson intends to impose the 'Stimson doctrine' on the world," he said.

Debuchi Talks to Stimson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Ambassador Debuchi of Japan and Secretary of State Stimson talked at length today concerning far eastern questions. Although both were chary about disclosing details of the conference, it was indicated that Secretary Stimson's speech in New York Monday night was given attention.

Debuchi, it is understood, was instructed to obtain a complete report of the address to forward to Tokio.

U. S. Marines Strengthened.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—Officers refused to confirm reports today that the United States Marines are being increased in strength to 600 due to the tension resulting from the renewal of the anti-Japanese boycott.

The Chinese municipal chamber of commerce today instructed the lumber dealers' guild the seamen's union, the Chinese ship owners' association, and various other trade organizations to stop dealing in Japanese merchandise.

T. V. Soong, recently resigned Chinese finance minister, stated today that the present crisis of the national government in which the cabinet has resigned will result in an ultimate strengthening of the government and a united resistance against the Japanese.

Unrest Grows in Corea; Japan Fears Revolt for Freedom

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—A recent concentration of Japanese troops in and near Corea and a buzzing of Corean agitators at home and abroad appear to indicate that another Corean revolt for freedom from Japan is ripening.

Corean revolutionaries have exploited energetically the present chaotic situation in Manchuria. They have flooded Shanghai with revolt propaganda calling for help in seeking "revenge upon Japan, the menace to the peace of the orient and the oppressor of Corea."

Agitation Grows in Manchuria.

The Chientao district in southeastern Manchuria, on the Corean border, long a hotbed of Corean liberty agitation, has boiled of late in its activity. Recently a detachment of Coreans from this district united with Chinese volunteers to attack the Japanese position at Tunhwa, in southern Kirin province.

This union is regarded as highly significant, since one of Japan's worries in her Manchurian expeditions, it is agreed, has been that the Chinese and Coreans might get together.

Trouble also brews within Corea. Foreign consular officials and missionaries stationed there report that serious unrest prevails among the 21,000,000 Coreans, particularly among the student classes. Consequently, the Japanese garrisons have been strengthened.

Japan "Handles with Care."

The present Corean independence movement has been collecting momentum since early in the year. Japan, realizing the harm which might result from making enemies of the 1,000,000 Coreans in Manchuria, has handled them with care and kindness. This protection antagonized the Chinese to such an extent last summer that they retaliated by destroying Corean irrigation ditches.

One thing led to another until enough ill feeling had been engendered between the Chinese on one hand and the Coreans and Japanese on the other to work to the advantage of the Japanese for several months after the beginning of Manchurian hostilities.

Corea next bobbed into the Asiatic picture on Jan. 8 of this year when one of her sons tossed a bomb at Emperor Hirohito of Japan as he rode in his carriage. The mikado escaped injury.

Recall Shanghai Bombing.

The next Corean bomb was hurled in Shanghai on April 29. It killed two and injured four high Japanese military, naval and diplomatic officials.

The Japanese authorities, thoroughly alarmed by this new Corean manifestation, raided the entire Corean community in Shanghai and arrested twelve residents. They also issued warrants for the arrest of more than 100 other Coreans living in the French concession, who were charged with being agitators and terrorists. Chinese police broadcast a warning, however, and none of these was apprehended.

Several days after the bombing, a Corean named Kim Koo sent Shanghai newspapers a document appealing for help and purporting to throw light upon and justify the Corean independence plots. Kim Koo said he is the head of an anti-Japanese terrorist society which has as its object the annihilation of high Japanese officials and of the Corean Patriotic association the object of which is to liberate Corea.

Last Revolt in 1919.

Coreans last revolted against Japanese rule in 1919, but the movement was put down. The country was formally annexed by Japan in 1910 after having been a Japanese protectorate since 1905.

Aside from Corean communities in the Chientao district of Manchuria, there are two nationalist Corean groups which have been worrying Japan. One of these is in Shanghai and the other in Los Angeles.

SPAIN CRUSHES ROYALIST COUP; TRAPS REBELS

15,000 Loyal Troops March Against Seville.

At the same time a group of 200 or 300 rebels attempted to storm the ministry of war. They were met by a storm squad of police armed with rifles and machine guns. It was here that the casualties occurred.

President Niceto Alcala Zamora rushed back to the capital from his country place and presided over an urgently called cabinet meeting. The cabinet ordered all automobile owners to place their cars at the disposal of the government for transportation of troops and requesting citizens not to congregate in the streets.

This afternoon the cortes was convened. The entrance of Premier Azana and the ministers was greeted by wild cheering of all the deputies. Premier Azana told the legislators the government was well prepared for the revolt, which was scheduled to occur a week ago, but which was delayed for some reason. The house gave the government a vote of confidence.

The Madrid bourse was not shaken by the revolt. State issues remained firm, while the peseta suffered only a slight drop.

AIMED AT DICTATORSHIP

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The monarchist conspiracy in Spain was in the old Spanish manner—essentially one of generals and other officers, either retired or diminished in grandeur by Premier Azana's reforms of the army.

Fundamentally it was monarchist in nature, the aim being to establish a dictatorship of Gen. José Sanjurjo and other generals and prepare for the return from exile of former King Alfonso XIII. With the generals were elements that, while up to now paying lip service to the republic, thought the moment had come to scotch it before the agrarian reform, which they greatly fear is accomplished.

Supported by Clergy.

They chose to strike at a moment when debates on Catalan autonomy still are at a fever pitch and the country is in a state of nerves. They had at least the tacit support of the die-hard elements of the clergy, who cannot forgive the disestablishment of the church, expulsion of the Jesuits, and the constitutional provision, as yet unenforced, for taking education out of the hands of the church.

Once before monarchists raised their heads and monasteries broke into flames soon afterward. What is feared now is that the populace that has been streaming through the streets of Madrid today crying for vengeance will take matters into their own hands. There is reason, too, to think that the cool group of men who have guided the destinies of the republic successfully thus far might be inclined to let the populace try its hand, or at least not stop them right away.

Alfonso Declines to Comment.

KOENIGSWART, Czechoslavakia, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Former King Alfonso XIII, of Spain was in the hills hunting deer near here today while rebellion rose in the land he once ruled. He declined to comment on events there. His secretary, the duke of Miranda, said Alfonso planned to remain in Czechoslovakia for the present.

Rebels Trapped

The map indicates centers of the Spanish revolt. The rebellion was crushed in Madrid. An army of 5,000 is holding out in Seville. Fifteen thousand loyal troops, a fleet of bombing planes and five destroyers are converging on this city.

GANG THREATENS POLICEMAN WITH A MACHINE GUN

Policeman Matt Mandernath, stationed at Roosevelt road and Wabash avenue, yesterday noticed a touring car approaching him which had no vehicle license. He motioned the driver of the car to the curb and walked over, pulling out his arrest book.

There were five men in the car. According to Mandernath, one of the men sitting in a rear seat, with a cap pulled low over his face, produced a machine gun and pointed it at the policeman. The latter dropped to the ground and the car roared away.

Mandernath jumped on the running board of another automobile and the chase led north in State street, past the detective bureau. The fleeing car was lost near Halsted and Polk streets, the policeman reported to his superiors.

Detectives recalled the stories about James [Fur] Sammons, machine gun expert, who was released from Joliet penitentiary a month ago by order of Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of McHenry county. Sammons has been at liberty since then and was mentioned in connection with the machine gun killing of Patrick Berrell and Willie Marks near Shawano, Wis., two days after Sammons' release. On occasions when he is being taken with his machine gun to the scene of a killing Sammons has to be restrained by his companions from practicing on sidewalk crowds, according to the stories.

ARIZONA BANK ROBBED.

Prescott, Ariz., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Two masked men early today waited for the six employés of First National bank to arrive at work and one by one trussed, blindfolded and gagged them, then forced a teller to unlock a vault from which was taken $16,800 in gold, silver, and currency.

ILLINOIS MINERS SIGN WAGE PACT IN "EMERGENCY"

Rule $5 Scale Approved After Vote Theft.

the industry is thus terminated. Resumption of normal activities will ensue and the power of the union will be used to carry out obligations of the agreement to compel obedience to its provisions and exact compliance with laws of the United Mine Workers of America.

"Disorder which has reigned in certain communities must be allayed and lawless characters who have been creating trouble will be dealt with in the proper ways."

About half the votes had been counted, but union officials refused to divulge how the miners of the state had voted on the proposed wage scale. Dan McGill of Springfield, leader of a group of miners who were opposed to the $5 scale, declared the robbery was a frameup. A large majority of the miners had voted against the proposed scale, he declared.

"Some of our men got the license number of the automobile in which the ballots were taken away," said McGill. "We know to whom it belongs. The vote was running against acceptance of the scale and some one thought it better to have the ballots disappear."

Call Indiana Meeting.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Abe Vales, president, and John Settle, secretary of District 11, United Mine Workers of America, tonight invited John Templeton, president, and Harvey Cartwright, commissioner of the Indiana Coal Operators' association, to meet the mine workers in a joint scale committee meeting here Thursday. The invitation was accepted.

The joint scale committee of the two organizations has held several meetings recently, but has been unable to reach any agreement.

At the same time Gov. Harry G. Leslie, under observation in an Indianapolis hospital, canceled a conference he had called to discuss troubles in the southwestern Indiana coal mining district. Instead, he asked Vales and Cartwright to submit to him in writing their opinions on the situation.

It is expected the settlement of the Illinois disagreement will aid in reaching an agreement in Indiana. The two states for many years have been on adjusted parity.

Vales and Settle tonight also addressed a letter to the entire membership, asserting that they "regret and denounce the recent occurrence at the Dixie Bee mine." The letter says:

"Brothers: Some time ago we circulated our membership, notifying them of certain depredations being committed in the mining communities for the purpose of discrediting our organization, and admonished them to take no part in any demonstrations that would in any way violate court orders, state or national laws. We regret and denounce the occurrence at the Dixie Bee mine, where one human life was lost and further loss of life no doubt was prevented by the action of the governor.

"We are asking the members of our union to refrain from attending any meetings unless called by accredited officers of our organization.

"The organization does not believe in such unlawful activities. It has always been the policy of the United Mine Workers to uphold the laws of our government and that will continue to be our policy, as this is the only way that our organization can continue to be a credit to its membership."

MINE PACT WILL GIVE JOBS TO 150,000, SAYS CHIEF OF OPERATORS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Expressing gratification that a miners' wage agreement had been reached, William F. Jenkins, president of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, tonight said 25,000 to 35,000 men would be back at work within 30 days and that the state would have a great unemployment relief burden removed.

He said he anticipated no disorders and said he believed "the miners would live up to their contracts."

Jenkins estimated that when the mines again were going full blast 150,000 persons, directly and indirectly, would be given employment in mining, transportation, and allied industries.

"Seventy-five per cent of the mines shut down since the lapse of the previous wage scale last March will attempt to open within a week," he said, "and the other 25 per cent within 10 days. The industry will absorb unemployed miners as fast as possible."

MANY MINERS JOBLESS

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Clinton, Ind., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Between 10,000 and 15,000 miners have been in a state of chronic unemployment for the last five or six years in Indiana's vanishing coal industry—these are the trade estimates. The shaft mines employed 35,000 in 1923 and 24,000 in 1927, and in 1931 only 9,869.

In the peak years considerable labor was recruited from the farms from men who followed agriculture in the crop growing months and went into the mines or factories during the winter. Many have gone back to the farms in the last few years while Indiana mining has been sliding down hill, but it still leaves a large surplusage, even were there no general business depression.

Mining for many years has been recognized by union leaders as perhaps the most overmanned industry in the country. If Indiana mines were now operating on the basis of last year's production there would still be more than two miners for every available job. This has added to a demand for a short working day to increase the number of employed, if the mines ever start up again.

Incidentally, this is being used by radical groups as an argument against a reduced wage scale, which many leaders of the union are advocating as a necessity if the men are to have any jobs at all. The radicals are saying if working hours are cut the wage rates must remain high, otherwise the miners will get a double cut.

The conservatives are combating this by remarking that unless the Indiana mines are placed in a position to compete with the low wage fields in Kentucky and West Virginia the markets and the jobs will keep sliding away until Indiana coal mining is only a phantom of what it used to be.

The mine fields are scenes of economic desolation. Eight or ten years ago when miners were out of work many went into the automotive cities and got jobs in factories. When Detroit's parks began filling up with jobless automobile labor the miners drifted back to their old habitat, where potatoes and other vegetables could be got out of the back garden. In other strike years there was always more or less absorption of idle miners by industrial plants. This time, due to the depression, none has been absorbed. The long period of lean years has brought restlessness, and conservative miners declare it makes a fertile field for disturbers and radical soapboxers who swarm over the Indiana-Illinois coal fields by automobile.

Idle shafts dot the landscape. Pumps have been pulled in some of the mines. Abandoned cabins are numerous. Vacant buildings in some places are turning prosperous communities into ghost villages. Idle miners are sitting around almost everywhere.

Jobless Have Gardens.

At that the idle miners do not have it so tough as jobless industrial workers in the cities. They are closer to the soil and to vegetables. Many of them have their own gardens. Clothing is not such an expensive item as to the city worker; the item of rent is not as great.

So it appears to the casual observer. In some regions prohibition has been a life saver for many a miner. Home brew and moonshine and homemade wine have helped many a coal digger keep the wolf from the door.

In the Clinton region is produced a type of distillations held in high esteem by purchasers in the cities. It is held to be better than the Canadian stuff, for it is not so green. Andy Volstead has proved an aid to many a miner in time of strike and economic distress.

In the last three years many groups of miners seeking a chance to dig coal that can be sold in competition with low wage Kentucky and West Virginia have been working in many mines on a profit sharing basis, especially in the Vincennes region. Others have gone to nonunion mines which have paid a lower wage than the union scale.

DEVELOP DEVICE TO DETECT ORES BEARING RADIUM

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A prospecting instrument for detecting radio active ores has been developed in the laboratories of the University of British Columbia by Dr. G. M. Shrum, professor of physics, and Ronald Smith, graduate student, it was announced today.

The mechanism of the instrument is being kept a secret.

The device, the inventors said, promises to revolutionize prospecting for radium bearing ore. Two years' research in cosmic and gamma rays by Dr. Shrum and his assistants preceded the discovery.

ROB WAREHOUSE.

Wadena, Minn., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Thieves looted the Mason Brothers warehouse here early today. The loot consisted of $18,000 in bonds, $5,500 in bank notes, $500 in cash, and 35 cases of cigarets and other articles.

Forget the adjectives for a moment . . . and listen to the findings of Science.

A great testing laboratory recently made 75 tests* of 4 leading brands. These tests, verified by scientists of two universities, definitely proved that the smoke of an OLD GOLD is cooler . . . and hence more appealing and easier on the throat.

COOLNESS is the key to quality in a cigarette. The finer the tobacco . . . the cooler the smoke. The PURER the tobacco . . . the cooler the smoke. The more artificial flavoring . . . the HOTTER the smoke.

When Science found O. G. the coolest cigarette, it simply verified the fact that OLD GOLD is made of PURE tobacco; the choicest Grade "A" domestic and Turkish leaf, with no artificial flavoring. That's the reason for OLD GOLD'S superior flavor, throat-ease and taste appeal. Smoke the coolest cigarette . . . and you smoke the best.

TEACHERS MAY BE PAID WITH 'N. S. F.' CHECKS

Plan to Sound Them Out on Repeal of Law.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Payment of Chicago teachers and other school employés in "N. S. F. checks" appeared a probability yesterday after a conference in the office of Corporation Counsel Sexton on the proposed move to repeal the check law which was passed by the last special session of the legislature. The tangible outcome of the two hour meeting was the appointment of a subcommittee to ascertain the sentiment among school teachers for and against the suggested repeal.

The school board owes its employés about $12,900,000 on 1932 salaries and will require an added $18,100,000 for compensation to complete the year—a total of $31,000,000. While the "N. S. F. check" law is in the statutes the law firm of Chapman & Cutler, security experts, declines to approve of tax anticipation warrants of the school educational fund as an investment.

Move for Special Session.

Without such approval banks, investment houses and insurance companies will not buy the warrants, and the school board consequently is unable to raise cash. So a movement was started to call a special session of the legislature to repeal the check law.

The conference in Mr. Sexton's office was attended by the attorneys for the school board and various teachers' organizations. To them was read a letter from Robert C. Moore, secretary of the Illinois State Teachers' association, in which he advised against any "hasty action" in calling a special session.

Says Board Must Act.

Mr. Moore said in his letter that the state Supreme court decision upholding the validity of the "N. S. F. check" law "means that the Chicago board of education must issue these interest bearing warrants."

"My interest in this decision is quite natural," continued the letter, "because I had something to do with getting the governor's tax conference to recommend house bill No. 39, which became the law that the Supreme court now says must be obeyed by your board of education, because it affects directly over 8,000 Chicago members of the Illinois State Teachers' association . . . and because it affects indirectly the other 31,000 members of the state association scattered throughout the state."

The letter also said that the Supreme court asserted the new statute enhanced the value of "N. S. F. checks" and declared their issuance should not interfere with the sale of tax anticipation warrants.

Plan to Sound Out Teachers.

Opposition of the state teachers' organization to a special session is regarded as decreasing the possibility that one will be called. To ascertain what the sentiment is, Corporation Counsel Sexton appointed a subcommittee consisting of Attorneys Thomas V. Sullivan, Alla J. Carter, T. G. Essington, W. W. Mills and Thomas Mason, and Robert C. Moore and R. R. Smith of the state teachers' organization, and Aaron Kline, head of the Chicago Principals' club.

Meanwhile the school board continued yesterday to hand out tax anticipation warrants for back salaries of last year, which total $5,428,340. For the first time warrants were given out for June, 1931, pay. Hitherto the wararnt payments have been for April and May, 1931. During the day the city gave back to the board $3,400,000 of 1931 tax warrants in exchange for the same amount of 1932 warrants.

This $3,400,000 has been broken down into warrants of small denominations so that they may be distributed to teachers and other employés. The reprinting of these warrants cost $29,400.

$3,000,000 Warrants Released.

Attorney Carter also obtained a court order yesterday releasing $3,000,000 of tax warrants held in a trust to insure the payment of scrip. Mr. Carter asked Corporation Counsel Sexton to cable Mayor Cermak for a proxy to sign this latest batch of tax warrants. Mr. Sexton said that was impracticable, and wrote the mayor instead. It will therefore be some time before these warrants are available for distribution.

The school trustees have hoped that the city would invest part of its aggregate of funds in 1932 educational tax warrants, thereby releasing some cash. The city council has adopted a resolution opposing that policy. In addition, Corporation Counsel Sexton has written an opinion on the question, which was made public yesterday.

The opinion replies to several questions by City Controller Szymczak, who said that the aggregate of funds is now $17,500,000 "overinvested" and asked if his bond would be placed in jeopardy by more investments. Mr. Sexton in his opinion said that it "will not be proper to increase the city's investment in school board tax warrants at present."

SONSTEBY ASKS CITY JUDGES TO ACCEPT PAY CUT

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court yesterday sent a letter to the judges of the court asking them to accept the plan of docking them 48 days' pay in proportion to wage cuts adopted for other employés. The letter was sent to each judge, though a majority of judges have already pledged themselves to take the cut.

In the letter Chief Justice Sonsteby stated the city council has appropriated $325,819 for the judges' salaries, which at the present rate total $375,000. The difference represents 48 days' pay for the judges. The chief justice pointed out that under the law no deduction can be made without consent of the judges, and asked that they sign an attached agreement to the reduction. Results of the appeal will be given after judges have a reasonable time to consider the request, Chief Justice Sonsteby said.

Wife Asks Divorce; Names Widow as Co-respondent

Mrs. Dorothy Gall, 6341 Wayne avenue, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court against Silvius J. Gall, an employé of the New York Life Insurance company. The bill names Mrs. Mabel B. Davis, a widow, 9026 Throop street, as co-respondent. On July 20 Mrs. Gall brought a $50,000 suit, charging alienation of affections, against Mrs. Davis. The Galls were married in 1919. Mrs. Gall asks custody of a son, Gilbert, 12 years old, an injunction to prevent her husband from disposing of his assets, and a writ of ne exeat to prevent him from leaving the jurisdiction of the court.

Safe Crackers Refuse to Accept Tax Warrants

Six men broke open three safes of the American Wrecking company, 3800 Milwaukee avenue, early yesterday and escaped with $150. They forced the watchman, Henry Marbrow, 50 years old, to open the door and knocked the combinations off the safes. Police found scattered on the floor $850 in tax anticipation warrants, which the robbers had tossed aside.

On Way Home

James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, who took off from New York on July 5 on a flight around the world, only to be forced down in a Russian bog two days later, landed at the Chicago airport last night in a United Air Lines plane from New York. They were greeted by George Brumley, representing Greeter Gaw, and went to the Hotel Sherman, where they spent the night. This morning at 11:15 o'clock they will depart on another United plane for Oklahoma City, where they got backing for the flight. In the crowd of 300 that met the flyers at the airport was Mattern's aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Summerville, of Chicago, and representatives of various aeronautical organizations.

LOSES FIGHT TO PREVENT REALTY SALE FOR TAXES

George F. Koester Jr., a member of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers of Illinois, lost his action yesterday for an injunction to restrain the county treasurer from selling his property for $5,500 delinquent 1930 real estate taxes. Circuit Judge Craig A. Hood sustained a demurrer by Assistant State's Attorney John E. Pedderson, who argued the suit had no standing in court in view of recent decisions of the State Supreme court in similar actions.

Judge Hood entered seven more default judgments against delinquent 1930 personal property taxpayers on suits brought by Special County Attorney Lee LaRochelle. The judgments were entered against Louis Karn, 1123 South Kedzie avenue, owing $1,013; Kingsley Miller company, 625 West Jackson boulevard, $1,959; Waukon Creamery company, 1110 West Monroe street, $1,328; Chicago Machinery company, 2825 West Harrison street, $3,431; Otto Reiman Inc., 756 West Adams street, $3,358; Imperial Leather Manufacturing company, 841 West Harrison street, $1,691; and the Broadway Strand building corporation, 1641 West Roosevelt road, $4,522.

TAX CUT SHOULD BE 50%, REALTY CHIEF DECLARES

Asserts Property Owners Cannot Pay More.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A tax reduction of three times that forecast by the citizens' committee on public expenditures was urged yesterday by J. Soule Warterfield, president of the Chicago Real Estate board. He commended the work of the committee, but asserted that a much larger reduction in assessments is a prerequisite of any hope of full and prompt payment of local taxes.

The committee, headed by Fred W. Sargent, predicted that the 1931 taxes—to be collected early next year—will be 25 to 30 million dollars below the 1930 tax bill, with a resultant reduction in real estate taxes of about 20 per cent. Mr. Warterfield said that the decrease in real estate taxes should be 50 per cent.

Urges 50 per Cent Cut for 1932.

The Sargent committee forecast that the 1932 taxes will be 45 million dollars below those for 1930, with a probable reduction on real estate of 25 to 35 per cent. Mr. Warterfield said that the cut on real estate for 1932 should be "at least 50 per cent." Other real estate operators said it should be 60 per cent.

The Sargent committee forecasts, by its estimates, a reduction in the total 1931 tax bill of Cook county of 8.6 to 10.4 per cent. Mr. Warterfield said that the reduction should be 31.7 to 33.4 per cent. These percentages result from Mr. Warterfield's estimate of the right amount of taxes for real estate being added to the committee's estimate of personal property and railroad taxes for 1931.

For 1932, the committee forecasts a 15.5 per cent cut in the local tax bill. Mr. Warterfield, by his estimates, would have a reduction of 34 to 41.7 per cent.

For Substantial Reduction.

"Taxes in Cook county must be reduced substantially, not meagerly, if we are to have any hope of collecting them," said Mr. Warterfield. "Real estate cannot be reasonably expected to pay more than 50 per cent of the 1930 levy. That amounted to $221,452,000.

"The joint tax commission made an investigation last Friday of 100 well managed and well located buildings. From that inquiry, the commission was able to demonstrate that a person cannot afford to own real estate in Chicago without a minimum tax reduction of 40 per cent.

"More recent investigations have been made by members of the real estate board, and the results are being turned in to L. W. Porter, head of our committee on taxation. The figures show plainly that it is unprofitable to own real estate unless there shall be a reduction of 50 per cent from the 1930 taxes.

"That can be readily demonstrated to any fair person.

"The last four years have supplied convincing evidence that we have arrived at the point of diminishing returns in tax collections. While the assessments have continually increased, the collections have progressively decreased. It has therefore been demonstrated, in my opinion, that we have reached a point in tax assessments where the property owners cannot pay."

"The immediate and effective remedy—although later other methods of solving the problem should be found—is a drastic reduction in the expenditures of the local governments. The Sargent committee has made a sincere effort to curb expenses and the public is to be congratulated on what the committee has accomplished, but the reductions obtained still leave taxes so high that real estate owners cannot pay them.

"Tax Strike Overrated."

"Some public officials indicate, by their actions, that millions upon millions can still be extracted from the public in the form of taxes. They seem to think there is an organized resistance to tax payments. That I believe is much magnified.

"The so-called 'tax strike' is of little or no consequence. Every one connected with the associations protesting taxes, whom I know, is unable to pay his taxes. These people haven't the money and are unable to borrow. According to the experts national income has decreased 50 per cent. Chicago hasn't escaped. Its income has probably been decreased as much as that of other communities.

"May I repeat, I firmly believe that local real estate cannot pay more than one-half of the taxes levied in 1930."

Levies Versus Collections.

The basis of reckoning by both the Sargent committee and Mr. Warterfield is the 1930 assessment. The following table shows the amount of 1930 taxes levied and collected, together with the percentages for each kind of property in Cook county:

| Property— | Levy. | Collections. | Per cent. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Real estate | $221,452,079 | $115,330,554 | 52.07 |
| Personal | 55,492,275 | 26,399,778 | 47.57 |
| Railroad | 13,339,415 | 10,470,304 | 78.49 |

Under the Sargent committee forecast the 290 million dollar tax bill of 1930 will be reduced to 260 or 265 million for 1931, and real estate will be called upon to pay 177 million of the total.

Under the Warterfield plan real estate would pay only 110 million, and the total bill of the county would be between 193 and 198 million, assuming that personal property and railroads would pay between 83 and 88 million, as forecast by the Sargent committee. In Mr. Warterfield's opinion the committee forecast for 1931 taxes is 67 million higher than it should be.

For 1932 the committee forecast of taxes is 54 to 76 million higher than Mr. Warterfield believes that the tax bill should be.

BRITAIN SEALS DEALS WITH FOUR UNITS OF EMPIRE

Canada Faces Isolation as Deadlock Grows.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 10.—Great Britain today completed her trade deals with Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and southern Rhodesia, but her struggle with Canada for a bargain which is advantageous to her still goes on.

To a certain extent the imperial conference, which is now in its last week, has been a success. Britain has consolidated its empire on the basis of raw materials and primary products from the far flung dominions and colonies in exchange for manufactured goods, but with industrial Canada she has arrived at a deadlock which no one now expects will be solved by anything better than a coat of whitewash.

Even the Irish Free State is reported to be coming into the British picture, leaving Canada alone and free to follow her destiny in line with the United States.

Report Canadian Cabinet Revolt.

The British and Canadian delegates got together last night for a heart to heart talk. The meeting was a late one and didn't last long. It was succeeded by a meeting of the Canadian cabinet, which met again this morning, and today Ottawa is humming with rumors of a serious revolt against Premier Bennett's rule. Two ministers named as in rebellion are E. B. Ryckman, minister of national revenue, and C. H. Cahan, secretary of state.

The story goes that Bennett has been pleading with his cabinet to authorize him to make a better offer to the British and that these two ministers have threatened to resign and take the stump against him if he gives away anything that will in jure Canadian industry. The story is officially and categorically denied.

Seek New Set of Figures.

The only real development in the British-Canadian struggle today was that the experts of both countries met together and agreed to forget the figures already put forward by each on Canada's trade and the possible benefit that might accrue to Britain under various forms of preference. It is reported now that they have started with a clean slate and are trying to get a set of figures which both can accept.

Today the semi-official explanation of the failure to agree on the first set of figures was that it was all a mistake by an unnamed Canadian expert. The Canadian figures were based on the foreign trade of Canada for the year ended June, 1931, when Canada's trade was 800 million dollars. Inadvertently this unnamed expert is said to have put 1932 at the head of his proposals and the British, working on the figures of 1932, when the trade of Canada abroad was only 500 million dollars, thought it was just a bad joke.

The British, who are nothing if not polite, accept this explanation, but many of them are still wondering about the items on the list of preferences which Britain never made and never will make.

S. S. MANHATTAN LEAVES PORT ON FIRST VOYAGE

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The first sailing tonight of the new $10,000,000 United States liner Manhattan marked the beginning of a new era in American shipping, for she is not only the largest trans-Atlantic liner ever built in the United States, but is the first one to be built in an American shipyard for the North Atlantic trade in thirty-five years.

While the new vessel was sailing out of New York harbor with many notables, among whom are R. Stanley Dollar, president of the United States lines, and his family, Capt. George Fried, the skipper, was celebrating his birthday at her helm.

The new ship is carrying almost her capacity of 1,300 passengers on her maiden voyage. She will ply between New York, Cobh, Ireland; Plymouth, England; Havre, France, and Hamburg, Germany. She departs after having been inspected at her pier for the last two weeks by thousands of persons. She has a record speed for trial trips of nearly 24 knots.

Four Youths and Girl, 15, Held as Robbery Suspects

Four youths and a 15 year old girl were being held by Irving Park police last night in connection with a series of robberies on the far northwest side. The prisoners are Elizabeth Murll, 7327 Diversey avenue; William Budmats, 3911 North Nottingham avenue; Casimir Botilinski, 7177 Irving Park boulevard; Andrew Schaar, 3500 North Oak Park avenue, and Peter Miller, 3931 North Nottingham avenue. Sergt. Arthur Rathke said the robbers used Elizabeth as a blind, carrying her in their car to avert suspicion.

One of Slayers Suspected in Tavern Murder.

Portage, Wis., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Two hundred special deputies searched throughout Columbia county tonight for two bank bandits who shot and killed Joseph Kirley, 26 years old, cashier of the Doylestown State bank, 14 miles southeast of here, late this afternoon.

The bandits, who escaped with about $1,000 in cash, are thought to be hiding in this district because the alarm was spread to adjoining counties within a few minutes of the shooting and all roads are guarded.

Suspected in Other Killing.

One of the bandits is believed by Sheriff A. E. Gilbert to be Richard Riley of Chicago, who participated in the murder of Ole Hansen in a roadhouse near Kilbourn last Sunday night. Descriptions of Riley answer the description of one of the robbers who slew young Kirley this afternoon.

The bank bandits were last seen near Pardeeville, five miles east of here. Two special deputies, riding in an automobile, were passed by an automobile going in the opposite direction. One of the deputies, Ben Winkie, was wounded in the hand by a shot from the other automobile.

Story of Fatal Holdup.

Young Kirley was alone when the two bandits entered this afternoon. His father, W. J. Kirley, president of the bank, was in an adjoining room. The bandits fired almost immediately after entering, and the elder Kirley entered the room to see them running out after they had scooped up cash visible in open drawers. He spread the alarm at once. Young Kirley died almost immediately.

The Doylestown bank was robbed on Sept. 11, 1931, and the elder Kirley was wounded at that time. Sheriff Gilbert said he believed the two bandits at that time were the same men who held up the bank today and that one of them was Riley.

HUNT DIVORCEE HERE.

Chicago police were still hunting last night for Mrs. Irene Smith Flannigan, 26 years old, red headed divorcée, whose home is at 6121 Dorchester avenue, wanted as an accomplice in the murder of Ole Hansen.

James Grippando, John Paul White, and George Harper, arrested here on Tuesday, confessed to participating in the holdup and murder and were taken to Portage yesterday. They are to be arraigned and sentenced this morning.

ESTRANGED MATE SHOOTS WIFE.

LIBBY HOLMAN BACK AT CHESAPEAKE BAY ESTATE, POLICE SAY

Havre de Grace, Md., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Libby Holman Reynolds was today reported by police to have returned to Oakington, the estate on Chesapeake bay, as secretly as she left Saturday night or Sunday for Wentworth, N. C., to answer the indictment and charges connecting her with her young millionaire husband's death.

Benjamin Ray, chief of police at Aberdeen, Md., who on request supplied guards at the estate, said:

"There is no doubt in my mind that Mrs. Reynolds is now at Oakington. When Joseph Pussey, superintendent there, sent for me last night to arrange for the guards he told me she was expected during the night." Mrs. Reynolds' six passenger speed boat, Waterboy, was moored at Oakington pier today.

Mrs. Louisa Jenny, the young widow's hostess, has, it is said, leased Oakington for an indefinite period.

Mrs. Bruce in Air 24 Hours on Her Endurance Flight

IPSWICH, England, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Victor Bruce and her two co-pilots, who took off yesterday in her "flying bungalow" in an effort to establish a new endurance flight record, were still in the air today, with more than 24 hours behind them. They had refueled five times in the air and had received a hot breakfast along with the morning newspapers. Two bottles of beer were placed aboard the ship for lunch.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE WILL PAY $100.00 IN CASH PRIZES EVERY DAY

for the best solutions to "WANT AD JINGLES"

You DON'T have to make 'em up . . . simply find the ready-made lines hidden among today's want ads!

No hard work to do—no "catches"—just a lot of fun and a chance to win a cash prize!

Today the Chicago Tribune presents another fascinating game of "Want Ad Jingles." It's loads of fun. It's easy, but not too easy. It's instructive. It'll keep you on your toes. It's full of laughs—and there's $100.00 every day in cash prizes to reward successful contestants!

THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. Daily and Sunday until further notice the Tribune will print four incomplete Want Ad Jingles. The missing rime-lines to each day's Want Ad Jingles will be found hidden in want ads in the Tribune Want Ad Section of the same day. At least twelve rime-lines will be hidden each day. You are invited to find and select the FOUR rime-lines which you think best fit each day's Want Ad Jingles and try for the cash prizes which the Tribune will pay.
2. For the best solutions to today's Want Ad Jingles submitted in accordance with these rules the Tribune will pay $100.00 in cash prizes: First prize, $25.00; second prize, $15.00; third prize, $10.00; next 3 prizes, $5.00 each; next 10 prizes, $2.00 each; next 15 prizes, $1.00 each.
3. This offer is open to all—men and women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.
4. Awards will be made to the persons who send in the best entries. Each entry must consist of the four Jingles printed that day. Judgment will be based on the suitability of the lines submitted, and neatness. No special consideration will be given to elaborate entries. Therefore, make your entry simple and neat, choosing the best lines you believe to be most suitable. Only one entry to each game may be submitted by any one contestant. However, you may submit an entry to every game.
5. Entries should be mailed to "WANT AD JINGLES 'M'," the Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries for today's game must be received in the Tribune office before 6:00 P. M. on Monday, August 15, 1932. NOTICE: The new postage rate on first class mail (letters) is THREE CENTS for each ounce or fraction thereof.
6. All entries will be considered by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept all decisions of the committee as final. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid to tying contestants. No entries will be returned, nor can the Tribune engage in correspondence on this subject.
7. You need not purchase the Chicago Tribune to compete. The Tribune may be examined free of charge at the Tribune offices or at public libraries. You may use the handy blank supplied here, or you may submit your entry on a separate sheet of paper. Names of prize winners will be announced in the Tribune as soon as possible.

31 CASH PRIZES EVERY DAY!

ARMY EXCHANGES ORDERED TO QUIT CIVILIAN TRADE

Move to End Competition with Private Interests.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The war department moved today to prohibit army post exchanges from engaging in retail civilian trade in competition with private business.

In a special order dispatched to post commanders throughout the country the department prohibited post exchanges from selling merchandise of any kind to any one other than enlisted men and their families. The order likewise directed post exchanges to dispose of all surplus stocks of merchandise and to return immediately any goods held on consignment.

Inquiry Reveals U. S. Competition.

Retailing at army exchanges has recently come into prominence as the result of investigations of the Shannon congressional committee which is conducting an inquiry into government competition with private industry. Testimony brought out before the Shannon committee during the last session of congress and at recent hearings showed that private citizens could buy from the army stores at discounted prices.

Officials at the war department said the order was issued in accordance with the last section of the 1933 war department appropriation bill which directed that no part of the 1933 appropriation could be used in connection with the "conduct, operation, or management" of a post exchange "except for the real assistance and convenience to enlisted men and troops."

Oklahoma Merchants Protest.

Lawton, Okla., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Lawton merchants registered their protest against alleged competition from the government today at a hearing conducted by Representative Joseph B. Shannon [Dem., Mo.] into the sales of army post stores at Fort Sill.

A highlight in the testimony was a statement by W. J. Wilson, tailor shop manager, who was wounded in the world war, that he was placed on the Fort Sill "black list." He said: "I can get work at Fort Sill, but can't collect for it unless I am on the collection sheet."

It was explained that officers arranged for Lawton merchants to be placed on the collection sheets for which 10 per cent was charged.

Also in Laundry Business.

Albert Keys, laundry manager, produced figures showing that the post laundry did a business of $74,172.33 in 1931 and the dry cleaners a business of $10,517.72. He said a government truck, driven by a civilian, picked up laundry and clothing.

One wholesale merchant told of a proposal from an officer that the firm allow a discount "so that the army store could undersell" the city merchants. When the discount was not allowed he lost the army business.

Activities of the federal farm board have intensified the depression, C. T. James of Gage, Okla., president of the State Grain Dealers' association, told Shannon as the hearing shifted to that phase.

ESSAY WINNER

PHILIP CLIFFORD.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Philip Clifford, 14 years old, of Park Ridge, visited David L. Shillinglaw, past commander of the American Legion, in the latter's office at 1 North La Salle street yesterday and went away with a $25 prize. Philip was the winner of the essay contest on George Washington conducted by the Legion in Illinois for boys and girls under 14 years of age. The winning essay was selected from among several hundred submitted to the judges—Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction; Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, and Mrs. Mary A. Wall, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

POET AND MATE GET INJUNCTIONS IN MARITAL SUITS

Mrs. Edith Wilmans Born, poet, attorney and former member of the Texas legislature, was granted an injunction yesterday to prevent her estranged husband, Henry A. Born, president of the Born Refrigerator company, from molesting her. At the same time Born secured a similar injunction. Superior Judge Joseph B. David issued both of them.

MRS. EDITH BORN.

Mrs. Born appeared as her own attorney to present a petition in her third suit for separate maintenance. Judge David dismissed the first suit in 1930, a second was dropped in 1931 and the third was filed June 10.

FORMER CLERK IN BOND COURT UNDER ARREST

Ernest Stecker, 47 years old, of 5407 Dakin street, formerly a clerk in the bond court, was arrested last night by Sergt. Charles Kelly of the detective bureau on a warrant charging confidence game. Charles Gansler, said by police to have represented the Central Surety company, was arrested recently on the same matter.

Complaints against Stecker and Gansler were signed by James De Wine of 927 Eastwood avenue. They grew out of a $1,500 cash bond which De Wine posted for a friend several months ago.

Later the Central Surety company offered a substitute bond for the friend, releasing De Wine's $1,500. The bond court issued a check for that amount for De Wine and turned it over to Gansler to be given to De Wine. Instead of giving it to De Wine, police said, Gansler gave it to Stecker. Gansler, according to the police, admitted that Stecker cashed the check, giving him $150 as a bond fee.

STOLEN CHECK BRINGS ARREST OF TWO WOMEN, MAN

Mrs. Lutina Chapman and Miss Sunny Salisbury, residents of the Maryland hotel, 900 Rush street, were arrested in the First National bank yesterday when they tried to cash a $250 check made out to Mrs. Margaret Cavanaugh of the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles.

The check and $3,000 in jewelry had been stolen from Mrs. Cavanaugh in Los Angeles several weeks ago, police learned. They went to the Maryland hotel and arrested Robert Chapman, husband of Lutina, and found most of the stolen jewelry in his pockets.

Richard Cavanaugh, 3000 Sheridan road, insurance broker, divorced husband of Mrs. Cavanaugh, told police that his wife had telegraphed him concerning the robbery and he had asked the bank to watch for an attempt to cash the check.

Union Business Agent Slain in East St. Louis

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Alden Moore, business agent for the Boilermakers' union here, was slain by machine gun fire and two other members of the union were wounded tonight in front of the Central Trades Union building. Police said the shooting was an outgrowth of a labor feud which has been waged because of the employment of nonunion workers by the Phillips Petroleum company.

SHOE SALESMAN WINS WEST SIDE TENOR CONTEST

Competition Is Close for Music Festival Honors.

BY PHIL MAXWELL.

William Dalton, 26 years old, 4039 Warwick avenue, a shoe salesman, had to sing three times last night at the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue, before three judges named him winner in the tenor division of the west side vocal contest of the Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The festival is to be held Saturday night, Aug. 20, in Soldiers' field.

Dalton sang "I'm Falling in Love with Some One" from the "Naughty Marietta," by Victor Herbert. The man who ran him a close second was Ray Hatland, 34 years old, 407 North Lawler avenue, who is an inspector in a printing plant and sings in the St. James' Episcopal church choir. He sang "I Love Life," by Manna-Zucca.

Third place went to T. Q. McLean, 39 years old, 1632 Adams street, a vocal teacher, who chose for his number, "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapp.

Schroeder Baritone Winner.

Waldemar Schroeder, 22 years old, 1012 Broadway, Melrose Park, was awarded first place in the baritone division of the west side contest. He sang "Shipmates of Mine," by Wilfred Sanderson. Schroeder is a loop bank clerk. Second place went to George G. Dopp, 20 years old, 437 South Brewster street, Lombard, who sang "Without a Song," by Vincent Youmans. Third place was won by Edward Kavanaugh, 30 years old, 6814 Ardmore avenue.

Frank C. Wentink Jr., 17 years old, 7743 Sunset drive, Elmwood Park, the only bass entered in the west side contest, will represent that section of the city in the finals for Chicago singers which will be held Thursday night, Aug. 18, in the Gold ballroom of the Drake hotel.

The judges last night were Dr. J. Lewis Browne, supervisor of music in the public schools; Nellie Gardini, vocal teacher, and Frank Bennett, choral director. Mrs. J. Edmund Tyler, assisted by Harold Marshman, had charge of the contest.

South side sopranos and basses will compete at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Beach View club, 1725 East 53d street.

Two to Represent Chicago.

At the Chicago finals two singers, a man and a woman, will be chosen to represent the city against the vocalists from other cities in Chicagoland who will come here on the morning of Aug. 20 to compete in the Chicagoland finals at 10 a. m. in the Drake hotel studios of W-G-N. Ten vocalists, five women and five men, will be selected in this contest.

This group of ten will sing over W-G-N at 2 o'clock that afternoon and medals will be awarded to six of them. gold medals for first place, silver for second place, and bronze for third place. One of the two first place winners will be presented on the festival program that night in Soldiers' field before an audience of more than 100,000.

Tickets for the festival are now on sale. They may be purchased from THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street; in the lobby of Tribune Tower, from your newsboy, or by sending a check or money order to the Festival Ticket bureau, room 530, Tribune Tower, Chicago. The tickets are 25 cents each.

FURLOUGH RULE REVERSED FOR U. S. EMPLOYES

Government Departments Get New Ruling.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The efforts of Controller General John R. McCarl to interpret in practical terms the provisions of the government economy bill had thrown the government departments into a state bordering on turmoil today.

Thus far since the passage of the bill about a month ago Mr. McCarl has handed down 194 rulings designed to put its provisions into effect in the federal service. His latest decision, rendered late last night, was a direct reversal of a previous order.

JOHN R. McCARL.

Last night's ruling reversed his order that the 24 day legislative furlough provided for all employés by the economy measure could not run concurrently with administrative furloughs which many bureaus and departments have found necessary to keep within curtailed appropriations. Under the original ruling the legislative furlough would have had to be completed before any administrative furlough could be enforced.

Loophole in Measure.

The controller general was forced to reverse this decision, however, because of a loophole in the economy bill through which employés facing both legislative and administrative furloughs could delay the latter enforced leave period for five months. This loophole was a provision of the economy bill under which no employé could be forced to take more than five days a month of the 24 day annual legislative furlough.

An extremely complicated situation revolving around the establishment of a five day week as the means of carrying out the legislative furlough also was provoked by Mr. McCarl's latest decision. Mr. McCarl ruled where the five day week had been instituted employés would have to be cut one-eleventh of their annual salary, instead of one-twelfth as provided in the bill, due to a technicality.

Face Change in Policy.

As many of the independent federal bureaus are already operating on a five day week basis they faced a complete change of policy if their workers are not to be cut more than those whose legislative furlough is taken in another manner. The civil service commission announced its employés had voted to abandon the five day week in effect there. The labor department, Secretary Doak said, will retain its five days week policy regardless of the controller's order.

McCarl's latest ruling likewise had the effect of prohibiting certain bureaus from placing employés on a one year administrative furlough and using funds thus saved to pay others.

GROUP FORMED TO URGE APPROVAL OF RELIEF BOND ISSUE

The emergency relief bond issue committee was organized at a meeting of representatives of 15 state organizations at the Chicago Bar association yesterday afternoon. Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, was elected chairman of the committee, and Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic federation and the Bureau of Public Efficiency, was chosen secretary.

The committee was organized to prevent an increase of 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the state tax on real estate by working for approval of the $20,000,000 emergency relief bond issue at a referendum to be held in connection with the November election. If the bond issue is not approved funds to retire the state tax anticipation warrants already sold to carry on relief work will have to be raised through the additional levy on real estate, Mr. Smith said. Another meeting is planned next month, at which a Cook county committee will be formed.

250 MORE MEN TO JOIN WAR ON RAGWEED TODAY

Many Hay Fever Victims Ask Aid at Clinic.

Five hundred men, chosen from the ranks of the unemployed, continued their work yesterday to stamp out ragweed, destroying the plant wherever it is found in vacant lots, alleys and other grass plots throughout the city, in an effort to reduce the amount of polen that will be cast into the air about Aug. 15. Sufferers from hay fever are seriously affected by the polen they breathe.

Add 250 Workers Today.

The number of workers in the campaign is to be raised to 750 today, and that number will be at work daily until Aug. 20, acording to J. E. Hurn, assistant of Walter C. League, superintendent of the Goodwill Industries, who is supervising the campaign. They start every morning from the Shelter for Homeless and Unemployed Men, at 116 South Green street, and for the day's work receive $3.00 in the form of a week's food and lodging and 25 cents in cash.

While the work in the city continued there was little response from officials of suburbs, the forest preserves and the sanitary district, the three areas that are expected by medical authorities to supply most of the ragweed polen that will be carried into the city by the wind.

Take Hay Fever Serum.

In anticipation of the coming hay fever season many hay fever sufferers are seeking relief through serums made with the ragweed polen. They appeared at the hay fever clinic in the Illinois Research hospital, 1819 Polk street, which is conducted by Dr. Benjamin Rappaport.

The hay fever clinic's experimental ward, which is insulated to keep polen out of the air inside the room, will admit only twelve patients at a time, a number that represents an insignificant fraction of the number who have applied for admission to the ward, according to Dr. Rappaport.

PROGRESS TOWARD TAX RELIEF.

The citizens' committee on public expenditures has come to the conclusion that the next tax bills on real estate in Chicago will be 20 per cent lower than the last ones, with further savings to be expected in the future. The relief to real estate has been brought about by a reduction of something like 10 per cent in the total outlays of the governments and by transferring some of the remaining load from real estate to other forms of property.

So far, so good. Chicago is making progress, probably more progress than any other comparable city in the United States, toward solvency. It would be a mistake, however, to assume that the battle has been won. Even with the reductions already in sight, the burden on real estate will still be extremely heavy. A saving of 20 per cent will no doubt encourage many property owners to make the effort to pay instead of throwing up their hands in despair, but the limit of economy has not yet been reached.

An examination of the affairs of almost any of the principal local governments will show that the costs are still excessive. The board of education has made a good start by slashing $15,000,000 from its levy, but all but $2,000,000 of the saving came out of the building fund. The wastes in the purchase of supplies and in janitorial services still remain. Some governments, like the west park administration, are still a pay roller's paradise, though the employés are unpaid. There are millions of fat still to be fried out of the city, the county and sanitary district budgets as well.

The fight for economy has only begun. The results achieved so far offer evidence that the campaign thus far has been conducted on sound lines. It must be continued without relaxation if property values and the credit of the local governments are to be restored.

DESERVED REWARDS.

President Hoover has given recess appointments to George E. Q. Johnson to be United States District judge and to Dwight H. Green to be United States district attorney, succeeding Mr. Johnson, who himself takes the place on the bench opened by the promotion of Judge Wilkerson to the United States Court of Appeals. In each instance the advancement was a reward for notable work. In Judge Wilkerson's case a hypercritical opposition in the senate has been able to withhold confirmation, although sentiment in Illinois strongly and justly urges it for reasons which Senator Borah recognizes as compelling.

Wilkerson, Johnson and Green, with the investigators of the district attorney's office, are responsible for the first breach made by law in the immunities of great American gangs. The list of convictions is headed by the most notorious gangster of them all, Al Capone, and it includes other gangsters and racketeering politicians. No other jurisdiction has made such a record and it was in this one that the need seemed most desperate. It is true that graver crimes were in the background untouched by the judicial process, but the community had not been able to reach the criminals for them. The gangsters were caught where they had left themselves exposed, in their tax relations with the federal government. With well prepared cases and well conducted prosecutions the district attorney's office obtained verdicts of guilty in each case presented to a jury and consequently the penitentiaries are holding men who at liberty would have remained dangers to society.

The promotions given the officials responsible for this are well deserved rewards.

WE GIVE AND THEY TAKE.

Ambassador Edge in Paris has sent a memorandum to the French government summarizing the difficulties in the way of a new Franco-American trade treaty which he is trying to negotiate. The French seem to take the position that it is useless to seek to stimulate trade as long as we insist upon payment of the war debts and will make no changes in our tariffs.

As usual, the French expect favors in return for favors, and in so expecting they are exactly right. Only American negotiators regard international relations as a game of give-away. The more our spokesmen give, the more successful they are socially; conversely, the less they give the less they get in social favors. Therefore, as many of them crave admittance to aristocratic society, they will be found trading the interests of the United States for the gratification of their own ambitions.

If our state department wishes to play the game as the French and other European foreign offices play it, the course of procedure is plain. We can tell the French that we will reduce the debts they owe us if they extend trade advantages to us. As they increase the quotas of American products which they will admit to France and as they lower their tariffs against American goods, we will write off a part of the debt.

France is in a weak position with respect to the debts. Some other countries can say plausibly that they cannot pay because they haven't enough gold and we have raised tariffs which prevent their paying in goods. But France, which has just taken more than half a billion dollars in gold from this country, can offer no such argument. She has much more gold than she needs or is using as a basis for credit. If she doesn't want to pay, she ought to be willing to admit American goods more freely as an offset to her repudiation.

THE NEW WAR ON THE CHICAGO FRONT.

It is disclosed that the headquarters of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union at 220 South Ashland avenue have been fortified. A police squad has a machine gun nest across the street. The house has been reinforced with armor plate, and Steve Sumner, the head of the union, uses an armored car. The precautions, if bizarre, seem required by conditions. The union officials and the police have information of the plan of racketeers to seize control of the milk drivers' organization as a first step in the seizure of all teamster locals in the city.

It does not appear that there is much mystery in either what has happened or what is in prospect. Sumner names the men who came to him and explained what they proposed to do. They have concluded that the prohibition racket has seen its best days and that legal methods will soon take the place of illegal ones. Crime must therefore find another payoff of equal possibilities and looks to the commodity transportation business as offering opportunities which the gangsters are prepared by experience in liquor and beer movement to accept.

Sumner says he was invited to go along with the racketeers or to sell out. He names the men who laid guns as well as the cards on the table before him. He refused to deal. Subsequently the president of the union was kidnaped and Patrick Berrell, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was slain at Shawano, Wis. One of the hoodlums who visited Sumner, Red Barker of long criminal record, also has been killed. He has been eliminated from the picture, but the others are still there.

The police machine gun nest gives this private war a public character, but not enough of one. The city is threatened with crime control of its commodity lines of transportation which will mean not only the terrorizing of the employés engaged in transportation service, but, logically, of the citizens who receive it. Gang extortions will be added to costs if the raid on the unions succeeds and orders will be issued from the headquarters of crooks and murderers.

There are no men of mystery involved. They are all too well known characters of the city. Americans may be accustomed to incredible proceedings when crime undertakes to put law and order in the heat, but the situation which is threatened here can be accepted only if it is the intention of society to submit to a robber government and lay its tribute on the table.

The evidence already available would seem to give authority a fair start unless it proposes to abscond out of its own jurisdiction. The gangsters offer a test of strength with the city as a battlefield. They have been offered a lot of encouragement before they could conclude that it was a war a bunch of hopheaded killers, bombers, and kidnapers could win.

1927 RATES IN 1932.

Sixty shippers in the Chicago area have appealed to the interstate commerce commission against the recent increase in switching charges. These increases, it is said, make the Chicago rates materially higher than the rates in other cities. In the present condition of the railroads that injustice might be tolerated if it actually resulted in some benefit to the railroad companies. In fact, the complainants say, no such result has been achieved. Switching business which the railroads always had enjoyed has now been lost. Even building materials for the new postoffice being erected directly over railroad tracks are being trucked to the site, though the practice hitherto has been to use railroad service whenever it was possible to do so.

The only purpose in raising the rates was to increase railroad revenues. If the increase has had the opposite effect it is impossible to justify the higher schedules except as a deliberate attempt to handicap the shippers of the Chicago area in their competition with other business men in other sections of the country.

The complainants make another point which is well worth consideration by any one interested in the methods of bureaucracy. The higher rates, so it is said, were founded upon a survey made in 1927 and completed in 1928. The rates therefore are based upon a study of traffic movements near the peak of a business boom, but became effective at the bottom of a depression, four years later.

This is by no means an exceptional instance of how bureaucratic rate making works out in practice. Generally when rates have been lowered the reduction has come long after the earnings which warranted the lowering have fallen off, and, conversely, when rates have been raised the increases have come too late to save many railroads from bankruptcy.

Railroad managements should have a far freer hand in adjusting their charges to meet immediate business conditions and competition than they now have. No business man can expect to prosper if he has to wait a year or two before making any change in his selling prices and can make them only if he has the consent of a group of men who are in no sense responsible for the solvency of the business whose rates they are making.

LESS TOBACCO.

[Richmond News-Leader.]

The reported decline of 36 per cent in the acreage of tobacco planted in Virginia this year is doubtless correctly attributed by the crop reporting bureau to a combination of low prices, unfavorable weather, and lack of money with which to buy fertilizer. The heaviest declines are in flue cured and in fired tobacco.

As there was an unusual carryover, it is needless to point out that a decrease in acreage, if accompanied by better attention to that which has been planted, will tend to raise producers' prices from the ruinously low figure at which the crop of 1931 was sold.

Yet there could be no greater mistake than to assume that one short crop will restore the market. Like the rest of the tobacco belt, Virginia has to deal with long continued overproduction and lessened foreign demand. Her last estate will be worse than her first if farmers are misled by moderately better prices in 1932 and plant excessively in 1933. A small crop this year will only help the farmer, in the longer economic view, if it leads him to diversify production and, at the least, to raise sufficient food for his family and feed for his stock.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M. K.

IF CUBS WIN PENNANT—

WHAT we'd like to know, while in this what we'd like to know citadel of thought, is:

Whether Rogers Hornsby will be credited with a great part of their success for keeping what was appraised by most baseball writers a third place team right up in the race until Pittsburgh's Pirates cracked with an unprecedented sequence of defeats for a leading team, or Whether Rogers Hornsby's dismissal from so-called "master minding" in the thick of the title fight so imbued the Cubs with initiative and individual confidence, welded into team spirit, that they rallied to win that pennant—when, as, and if won.

This what we'd-like-to-knowing is in no sense controversial on our part. When the change was made The Wake-Line explained that we accepted the situation created by the management and would stand by for results.

The fact remains that in advance of the season, of 133 baseball writers polled, only thirteen placed the Cubs at the top. The consensus, on a point basis, was third; St. Louis was rated first, New York second, Brooklyn fourth, and Pittsburgh fifth. Strangely enough, not one of these prognosticators heralded the Pirates for the pennant.

Despite this expert analysis, the Cubs took a lead which aroused local pennant hopes, lost that lead to the underrated Pirates, who then seemed headed for the flag, when they, too, experienced a slump even more drastic and, because of its number of straight defeats, even more surprising.

Along about this time Hornsby suddenly was dismissed and Grimm supplanted him as manager. Now the Cubs again are the most dangerous contenders, local flag hopes once more rise high, even with the Pirates likely to come back, and Boston only a few steps away. St. Louis and New York, ante-season favorites, are in the second division, not out of it because of the close race, but far enough away to bring forth the trite "miracle team" if they chance to make up the lost ground.

So we'd still like to know, if there is any way of estimating, just what was Hornsby's worth during his tenure as manager.

HAS YOUR BABY CRADLE CAP?

WITH the coming of summer there was an increase in the number of letters from mothers asking what to do for that disfiguring and annoying scalp trouble known as cradle cap tetter, or eczema. It affects young children and older babies and, occasionally, even the very young. It is not seasonal, but there is more of it in the summertime and when it is present it is more annoying during the hot weather. While the head is its favorite location, it may appear on the face and, in rare cases, on other parts of the body.

No good purpose is served by saying that it is caused by foods, because everybody knows that. It is worth while having the people know that it is curable. Any mother whose baby has it can be certain what the trouble is, what causes it, and how it can be cured. Those questions are settled. What she has to decide is, is the cure worth what it costs in effort and risk? If she decides that it is she must next settle on the details she will carry out, learn how to employ them and, finally, undertake the job and carry it through.

It is known that almost every case is caused by the milk and cream in the baby's diet. Perfect mother's milk does not escape the blame in many cases, the fault being with the baby. Some babies are so sensitized to milk that they develop tetter regardless of the source of the food supply.

In some instances the trouble is caused by one ingredient of the milk, such as the fat or the sugar, and all that is required for cure is for the mother to remove the ingredient. For instance, some babies have no cradle cap when they live on skim milk. Many, however, must be changed from milk to some baby food with which no cow's milk is mixed either by the mother or by the manufacturer.

In many cases the mother chooses between the disease and the cure. The eruption looks unsightly and the baby scratches it, but, on the other hand, for a baby the milk diet is proper and finding substitutes is difficult and sometimes hazardous. In many cases to make this change in diets is wise. In some it is not.

Some cases can be cured or kept within moderate bounds by the use of coal tar salves with no change in the diet, and to follow this method may show judgment on the mother's part.

A common recipe is:
Crude coal tar, 2 parts.
Zinc oxide, 2 parts.
Starch, 16 parts.
Paraffin, 16 parts.

This ointment must be black. If it is greenish it is apt to do more harm than good. For years we have sent to those who inclosed a stamped and addressed envelope a slightly different recipe which many have written they were satisfied with, though occasionally they had trouble in having it made right. This ointment is smeared on twice daily. If small pustules appear it is well to change the crude coal tar of the mixture to a product made by passing steam through crude coal tar. When made with this the mixture does not appear to be quite as effective, but pustulation does not occur.

MAY MEAN MANY THINGS.

D. M. C. writes: What does it mean when a person's ankles sometimes swell? Is this a sign of some form of rheumatism?

REPLY.

It may be due to heart disease, kidney disease, severe anemia, varicose veins, milk leg, wearing tight garters. In hot weather the ankles are likely to swell from no ascertainable cause. In these circumstances the circulation in the feet, ankles, and lower legs is poor because of some organic fault, but the fault is so small that accepted methods of testing do not show what it is.

SWELLING ANKLES.

Mrs. J. M. writes: I am a woman 43 years of age. My feet swell during hot weather, so much so that at times I am unable to put on my shoes.

REPLY.

Swelling of the feet during hot weather may not indicate organic disease. It is said to be due to local acidosis. Use cold leg baths and vigorous rubs night and morning. Be certain your trouble is not due to heart disease, Bright's disease, anemia, varicose veins, pressure on the veins, in the legs, or in the pelvis.

HAVE LABORATORY TEST.

M. P. writes: Do swellings under the eye indicate any kidney disease?

REPLY.

Often but not always. Why not let laboratory tests decide?

NOT DANGEROUS.

N. H. writes: 1. Will the repeated use of a few drops of carbolic acid in the bath harm the health in any way?

2. I use iodine on my corns and calluses because it eases the pain and, in time, the corns come off. Is this injurious?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.

YOU NEED NOT WORRY.

F. M. writes: I have been in the habit of buying pork and beans and other canned goods, and eating immediately right from the can, within five or ten minutes after opening. With some canned goods I boil them right in the can, but, in any case, I eat the contents directly from the can with a spoon. Will I get ptomaine poisoning?

REPLY.

You need not worry about getting any form of food poisoning.

DRIVEWAY PERMIT NECESSARY.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—I own a small barbecue stand on State street. I am going to make a parking space in the rear. How will I go about having the curb cut down and will I have to reinforce the sidewalk? Also, do I need a permit to make these changes, and where should I apply for same? G. B. W.

It is necessary that a letter be procured from the alderman of the ward requesting that a permit be issued by this office for a 16-foot driveway and upon the filing of a $10,000 bond a driveway permit will be issued. JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Superintendent of Streets.

NOISE NUISANCE.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise as to whether or not city ordinances forbid the use of microphones in store windows for demonstrating purposes. J. O. E.

Revised Chicago code (1931) section 4194, reads in part as follows: "No person shall make, or cause, permit or allow to be made, upon a public street, or in such close proximity to a public street as to be distinctly and loudly audible upon such public street, any noise of any kind by musical instrument, or similar mechanical device or wind instrument, for the purpose of advertising any goods, wares or merchandise or of attracting attention or inviting the patronage of any person to any business whatsoever." TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PARKING LOT OILED.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—I am a tenant near a parking lot. Our kitchen and porch facing this lot are covered with dust stirred up by cars using this lot. Can't something be done to have this lot oiled so we don't get the dust? E. O. C.

Report is made that pursuant to action taken by our representative lessee of parking lot will oil same in order to abate dust nuisance. Location will be kept under observation to see that this is done promptly. JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Superintendent of Streets.

SALES TAX.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A lives in a state which does not tax a certain commodity. B lives in a state where every retailer must have a license to sell this commodity and must, in addition, affix to each unit a state revenue tax stamp previous to sale. 1. If B sends A the money to purchase the commodity in the first state, and A sends B the commodity which B consumes without selling, is either party liable to prosecution? 2. If several persons, through B, send A the purchase money for the commodity and A sends the corresponding quantity to B, who distributes it among the above mentioned persons, who consume it without selling, are any of the parties liable to prosecution? C. L. S.

1. No. We assume that the tax is a tax on sales. We could advise to better advantage if the wording of the tax law were before us.
2. Not on the bare facts stated.

MARRIAGE LEGAL.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A couple, both twenty years of age, were married in Illinois. Due to the fact that the man was a minor at that date [1] is this considered a legal marriage? 2. Would this fact, if marriage is legal, allow sufficient grounds for either one to secure a divorce? L. P.

1. Yes, unless it is set aside.
2. If the parties have continued to live together divorce would have to be based on some other ground. We could advise to better advantage if you had stated when the marriage took place.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DRAWER LIABLE.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like to know who pays the taxes on the checks drawn on a closed bank. A. C.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1916.

ROME.—The victorious Italians are continuing their terrific drive in the Goritz region. During the day they swept six miles to the eastward and about the same distance south of the fortress. The strong Austrian position at Boschini, south of Goritz fortress, has been occupied, it is officially announced. Another report says the Austrian aviation station of Aisovizza, six miles east of Goritz, has been captured. This has not been verified. As the advance continues more Austrians are falling into the hands of Gen. Cardona's men. It is estimated that, in addition to the 21,750 captured when Goritz fell, more than 12,000 Austrians have surrendered east and south of the stronghold.

PARIS.—President Poincare has sent the following telegram to the king of Italy: "I learned today, while in a town reconquered in Alsace, of the taking of Gorizia by the Italian troops. The acclamation of the population delivered by our army enabled me still better to understand the joy of Italians freed by the victory of their brothers. I beg your majesty to accept my heartiest congratulations for the magnificent successes of your brilliant army."

PETROGRAD.—The town of Stanislau in Galicia is already within the range of the Russian guns. The Russian general Letchitzky, losing no time in following up his victory at Tysmenietsa, has pushed westward along the railroad, fording the Zlota Lipa river, and northwestward along the wagon road, and in the latter direction has approached to within six miles of Stanislau. Simultaneously Gen. Letchitzky has announced a drive across the Koropice river and the formation of a new line of advance north of the Dniester. Gen. Letchitzky during the ten days' operations has taken upward of 15,000 prisoners. This would bring the grand total of prisoners to Gen. Brussiloff's credit since early in June to 402,000.

NEW YORK.—Two strange wireless calls for "Telefunken station, New York," heard at Sandy Hook between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning, and the refusal of the sender to disclose his identity, although questioned by the shore stations, led to the belief that the call might be from the German submarine Bremen. This could not be verified.

NEW YORK.—President Wilson will be called upon to take a hand in the settlement of the differences between the four railroad brotherhoods and their employers unless the deadlock which developed in the negotiations today can be broken, it was indicated here by representatives of both factions.

CHICAGO.—"I wish to thank THE TRIBUNE readers for the courtesy they have shown me during the last month or so," said Cy De Vry of the Lincoln park zoo last night. "I wish to thank Charles N. Wheeler particularly for some kindly articles he wrote. It wasn't until after THE TRIBUNE took up this affair of mine with the Lincoln park board that I realized how many friends I have in Chicago. It is worth some sacrifices to be able to stay here with my friends."

GRAIN EXPORTS AND THE SEAWAY

New York, Aug. 8.—Your editorial entitled "The Ottawa Conference and the Seaway" says:

"The most careful student of the probable traffic in grain, Mr. Edwin G. Nourse, estimates that 77,000,000 bushels, or 2,607,000 tons, of our grains of all kinds would be exported through the seaway and that the Canadian grain exports using the seaway would total 4,360,000 tons, more than twice as much. Mr. Nourse's estimate of Canadian grain exports is substantially identical with the figure reached by Prof. Leslie Thomson of McGill university."

The purpose of the St. Lawrence canal was to furnish an outlet to our western farmers for their surplus wheat that went into export.

Some years ago President Hoover, then secretary of commerce, at a meeting in New York at the state chamber of commerce said that shortly wheat in the United States would disappear as an item of export.

In the year 1930 we produced in this country 880,000,000 bushels of wheat. We exported, in round figures, 87,000,000 bushels of wheat. The people of New York in 1930 produced a little over four million bushels of wheat. Think of that! Of a total of 880,000,000 bushels of wheat New York produced only the negligible amount of a little over four million bushels. And in 1930 the state of New York consumed 88,000,000 bushels of wheat, or one more million bushels of wheat than were exported throughout the world. So that as an item of export, now that soviet Russia is producing wheat with cheap labor on cheap lands with American machinery, with Canada producing an enormous surplus, with the Argentine Republic producing an enormous surplus, the very basic, inherent reason for the construction of the St. Lawrence waterways has disappeared. And it is now a fatuous dream because in ten years there will be not one bushel of wheat exported from the United States to foreign countries.

Chicago and other lake port cities should and will be seaports. The canal down by way of the Mississippi will afford a direct outlet to the Gulf of Mexico if Canada will permit, under the proposed treaty, enough water from Lake Michigan, which lies wholly within the United States, to make its navigation at all times possible. The present barge canal of New York, built and maintained by that state, at present affords a 12 foot channel from Lake Erie and Lake Ontario to tidewater at Albany. There is not at the present time nor at any future time any more necessity for the St. Lawrence waterway than there is for warming pans in the Zulu country or artificial refrigeration at the north pole.

EDWARD C. CARRINGTON,
Chairman Great Lakes-Hudson Waterways association.

AT THE FLAG RAISING.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—I have just returned from the services of raising the American flag on the new pole on top of the Tribune Tower. To me it was a privilege to witness such a scene, and I thrilled to the quick as I saw Old Glory being slowly raised to its peak.

When it was waving full and free to the accompaniment of "The Star Spangled Banner" I looked around and was surprised and shocked to see the so-called patriotic citizens of our country, many of them, no doubt, former service men, stand with heads covered. Where is the old enthusiasm and patriotism that was displayed when our boys were fighting overseas? Is it all so soon forgotten? Does the sight of the Stars and Stripes flying in the breeze no longer awaken in a man's innermost being an indescribable feeling that prompts him to salute and stand at attention? Are we forgetting what our flag symbolizes?

A PATRIOTIC GIRL.

ANNIE.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—I sincerely hope you are not going to let our smart Orphan Annie fall into Trixie's trap. Why not get rid of Trixie, and where is Mr. Warbuck's shrewd brains that he isn't investigating this school? Can't something be done about this? D. E. F.

FASCIST PROPAGANDA.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Your paper has criticized and praised Fascism intermittently. It has failed to point out, however, that Fascism sends around its press agents to criticize every other country, but forbids the criticism of its own methods in its own territory. The Fascist press in this country does not contain a single word of praise for America, but the false, deliberate, misleading glorification of Fascism. And when international events disclose the aim and methods of Fascism the readers of American papers come back to earth and realize what the interparliamentary conference has impressively shown at Geneva and all well informed people have known from the inception.

I have been an American citizen for over thirty-five years and love this country, which is a country of opportunity, but am unable to understand why we permit the Italian press, whose editors have fattened at our expense, to glorify terrorism, murder, assassination of liberty and representative government, and to abuse a country with the traditions and the achievement of ours, while they keep on praising murderers and tyrants.

Disorders in Switzerland and elsewhere are the consequence of a policy of provocation which the Fascist government and its paid press agents and falsifiers have been directed to carry out. If this country is so bad for them, the agents and hirelings of Fascism can go back to the land of Mussolini to enjoy its blessings. Why should they insist in remaining here to suffer our iniquities and shortcomings, which they so loudly and persistently criticize? JOE ORRICO.

AFTER READING J. O'D. B.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—When James O'Donnell Bennett asks for 2.50 or even 3.50 columns, always give them to him and you will never make a mistake. His articles are so wonderful, so informative and so inspiring, written in a style so fascinating and refreshing, unsurpassed in modern newspaper diction, that his articles should be printed yearly in pamphlet form for distribution by THE TRIBUNE. They would make a valuable and priceless addition to any library. They are, indeed, prose poems—each a masterpiece. Through the dark, foreboding mass of lurid, nauseating news they shine like a beacon light of hope and optimism, illuminating the paths of our people with rays of respect for the past, satisfaction with the present and confidence in the future, notwithstanding the many apparent signs of discouragement and discontent. Let us have more articles by Bennett and the world and THE TRIBUNE will profit thereby. From one who never fails to read and appreciate Bennett's articles and passes them on to others.

POLITICAL ADVICE.

Berrien Springs, Mich., Aug. 8.—National platforms should be wholly disregarded. They have no meaning. They are forms of words intended to intrigue those who are still fatuous enough to believe in the professions of politicians. After considering all the platforms—it would be a waste of time to read them—the only thing to do is to be governed by a general sensing of the whole situation and the manner in which any candidate appeals to you. Regardless of platforms and academic programs the conscientious voter will cast his ballot for the man whom he believes to be the most nearly sincere in his professions.

THE GREAT WHITE LIGHT.

Chicago, Aug 7.—I am writing with regard to the letter of mine which appeared in your column on July 5, with reference to janitor troubles. I would like you to know that since that day the pickets have folded their tents and fled away and have annoyed me no longer. Every other step I had previously taken was ineffectual, which proves that the publicity was all that was needed. I want you to know that I am very grateful for your help. Thanking you I am RUTH M. LAPPERRE.

Book Studies Contrasts of 2 Heritages

But Characters Fail to Appear Real.

MAZO DE LA ROCHE, whose "Jalna" received the Atlantic Monthly prize for $10,000 in 1927 and which was the first volume of a long family saga, has in "Lark Ascending" changed both characters and scenes. This novel is not a continuation of the White Oak series but a separate, detached and complete story in itself.

MAZO DE LA ROCHE.

Fay Palmas, a young widow of 38, lives in Saltport with her young son, Diego. In her veins is the blood of the American Indian and of New England Puritans. Her husband, also of New England lineage, had a strain of Portuguese blood in him. She chafes against the New England restraint and against her position as the town's bakeress. Living with her is her young cousin, Josie Froward, who is, against her will, fascinated by the dark languor and indifference of Diego.

Both children paint, Josie with a peculiar coldness and formality and attention to detail, and Diego with a genius that shows itself in brilliant colors, breathless chaotic vision, warm, vital, primitive design. A conservative and loyal druggist from the small town is as madly in love, as his nature permits, with Fay. About a year after her husband's death Fay decides to leave Saltport and go to Europe. With her go the druggist, her son and Josie.

Fay meets an impoverished Sicilian count whom she befriends and whom she learns to love wildly. Diego meets a Russian exile who is both beautiful and unscrupulous. The family moves to Sicily, where Fay and Diego live with the primitive happiness that has lain dormant under their New England reserve. But the poor druggist and the girl, Josie, shackled by their inherited conventions and inhibitions, are miserable in this pagan atmosphere. Their mutual attraction is inevitable.

There are many flaws in this book, flaws that prevent it from being even a consistently interesting novel. The first and most important one lies in the characterization. Not one of the characters ever seems real. Perhaps toward the end of the book the reader, thoroughly accustomed to the author's technique, lends somewhat more credence to the characters than he did in the beginning. The inadequacy is in Miss de la Roche's expository method of presenting character. She tells the reader again and again that Fay is fascinating and dynamic, but Fay never acts or speaks or seems in any way as intriguing as the author would like us to believe her to be.

The other characters, except for a rare flash of reality, are equally wooden despite the author's elaborate descriptions of their actions and personalities. Toward the end of the book, however, the reader is interested enough in the story [which on careful examination seems thin and far fetched] to overlook temporarily the unrealness of its actors.

The second flaw occurs in the introduction of chance in the narrative. No matter how great a part chance plays in real life its presentation in fiction, to be convincing, must be manipulated with extreme care and subtlety. But in "Lark Ascending" the trip abroad, the meeting with the count, the purchase of the villa, the success of the antique shop, the launching of the Bond cold cream, all are accomplished too easily, too opportunely. The part that Mr. Putnam, the fabulously rich man, plays in the story is completely incredible and somewhat silly.

The theme that lies behind the novel deals with the contrast of the two heritages. But the two representatives of New England, Josie and the druggist, are not at odds with their Latin environment because of their inheritance from their forbears. They seem on the contrary out of place in Sicily only because of the temperamental and very individualistic restraints and inhibitions.

Miss de la Roche's understanding of New England seems superficial while her appreciation of Latin culture is on the whole keen and sincere. The fact that she cannot convey the impression of broad understanding of Puritan traditions probably accounts for the lack of weight and conviction of her theme, of the conflict between two blood streams.

Occasionally the reader wonders what it is all about and why so much ineffective emphasis had to be laid upon the difference between New England and Sicily. If "Lark Ascending" had been a straightforward story, without an attempt at depth, scope and profundity on the part of the author, it would have been more successful, because the scenes in Sicily are brilliantly written, redolent with the colors and sounds and passions of the Latin race. ## Women Learn Better Habits of Shopping

Find Low Price Tags on Quality Articles.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

By this season all shoppers must be having a grand time prowling around the shops, looking for new things to wear . . . and there are plenty of new fall clothes and accessories to exclaim over. We are getting used to slim budgets, we are learning how to buy at last, learning not to plunge madly and buy the cheap sleazy things that we hated two or three days after we dragged them home, but to buy sanely and appreciatively all those delightful new things that are exquisitely fashioned of firm and beautiful materials with sane and reasonable price tags attached.

After two or three frantic but educational seasons the jittery shopper who bought just because the stuff was marked sensationally low has vanished.

We are buying with a sweet reasonableness that probably stuns our masculine critics, who from the first used much more discretion than we in grabbing bargains just because they were bargains and regardless of whether they needed the things. Now we know values, we ask more questions, we have learned a lot about fabrics, colors and styles and the most striking of all, we refuse to be extravagant even while we refuse to join the hoarders.

And so while you are going to be thrilled with the new imported handbags one Chicago shop is showing, you will be even more excited over the modest price tags. These bags are made of a very supple leather called willow calfskin in lustreless black and a warm tobacco brown. The name you will soon see, is most appropriate, as the leather is creased or patterned in long wavering thin lines like the leaves of a willow tree. Notice how carefully these bags are made with shaped sections skillfully tailored and sewed into place. The lining is new . . . a dull silk with flat ribs in diagonal formation.

But the most important part of these bags are the new shaped coin purses attached to the end of a small but strong metal chain . . . coin purses used to be flat and square, but these are made to look like an exact half of a money pouch or the half of a deflated baseball . . . a wee baby zipper holds any sized wad you may start out with and keeps the small change you salvage for the return trip to home base.

Some of these bags have covered frames, with concealed zippers, others have huge shell shaped locks of matching black or brown gallilith, while others use either silver clasps or gold metal contraptions to keep your supply of cash and all the gadgets safe. No colors are featured in this collection, but the black and brown models are quite the best looking daytime bags that have arrived.

You can also buy some exceptionally sleek, satiny looking, black suede bags parting with the fewest dollars imaginable for such distinctive creations . . . swanky square envelope models with the two lower corners clipped straight across and decorated with a glittering prystal and marcasite clasp, which by the way is the newest and shiniest fashion hint for black suede bags.

These bags are snootily lined with black moire silk and are fitted with the usual small purse and case with mirror. Whoever invented these dark linings to the bag collecting shoppers should be covered with medals by the gals who spill powder and smear lipstick every time they carry a new and light lined handbag.

Good Manners Are One Result of Bad Times

Courtesy Being Revived by All Classes.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Good manners are in revival. Courtesy, dusted off and repainted, is again the order of the day. Or such is the opinion of several of Chicago's well known hostesses who see compensation for this period of economic stress with all of its poverty and hardship in a new respect for the amenities of polite living.

"Yes, it is noticeable everywhere," said Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, who stopped in Lake Forest with the Theodore W. Robinsons. Mrs. Lamont, wife of the former secretary of commerce, returned recently from Washington.

"Difficult times have resulted in a better understanding generally between employer and employé," she continued, "and this in turn means more kindness, more tolerance, more courtesy. It applies to all groups. Even in the bonus army with which I had a number of contacts while it was encamped in Washington, good manners prevailed."

Mrs. Lamont's opinion is shared by Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, who has traveled extensively abroad the last year with Mr. Strawn, also by Mrs. Harvey Fox, president of the Chicago Woman's club.

"Living the simple life necessitated by the depression has made people more human and gracious," commented Mrs. Strawn, "and I know that I am not alone in this belief. Attention to good manners is simply a part of a greater scheme that means a better sense of values."

Mrs. Fox, whose contacts are many and varied, characterizes the improvement as "better fellowship." She finds it particularly among the younger groups. "I have always stood back of them," said Mrs. Fox, "but with lavish amounts to spend on this and that, it is so easy for a boy or girl to think he can 'get away' with most anything in manners. Tightened purse strings teach all of us that we have only our own graces and personalities to rely upon."

Hard times have, without doubt, quickened or at least emphasized the importance of good manners both as a business as well as a social asset. Yet a revival of a courtesy conscience is something we have a right to expect for, as one well known writer has pointed out, it is part of a reaction that always follows a great social cataclysm. This time the cataclysm was the world war.

After the French revolution there came an era that curiously resembles the last decade and a half—inordinate spending, extravagant fashion, bad manners; live and be merry, overthrow the churches that restrain, the laws that restrict; live for the short pull rather than the long haul; eat, drink, play, dress, spend. This was the order of that day. Yet no profound social change took place, and within 30 years a period of conservatism and extreme formality had set in.

The same cycle is what we are experiencing today. Fourteen years have passed since the great war, and the time has arrived for a renewal of dignity and the outward expression of good breeding.

"It's the story of the echo," commented Mrs. Rufus Dawes, who will serve next year as chairman of the social committee of the Century of Progress. "We generally get back what we give. Consideration of others means consideration in return."

Time was when rudeness was the privilege of the upper classes—back in the days when the peasant pulled his "forelock" as his master roared and bullied—another well known matron explained. "The last few years, however, I made up my mind that democracy had truly triumphed and bad manners had become the rule for all," she continued. "Taxicab drivers swore at the pedestrians they almost ran down. Porters and policemen always seemed to have grudges to deliver.

"But I had a happy experience recently that convinced me otherwise. I was sojourning in Rome and for the first time in my life really appreciated the lovely Michelangelo frescoes in the Sistine chapel. Always before the Fascist guard at the entrance had snapped viciously at me as well as the rest of the visitors, leaving us all in such bad humor we never really enjoyed the chapel. But this time it was different. The same guard, but he was gracious, polite, solicitous of his guests.

"It is a small incident, but significant, I believe, of a new attention to courtesy that is very heartening. Yes, good manners are in revival."

Free Ice Fund Gets $50 from Insurance Club

The ice fund continued looking up yesterday with the receipt of a $50 gift from the Good Fellow club of the Insurance Company of North America. This club has in the past not only contributed to the ice fund, but has remembered many a needy family at Christmas time. It also was active during the winter months of 1930-'31 when the Good Fellow Junior clubs were organized to care for unemployed families.

Other contributions brought the day's gifts to $76. This burst of support has given the ice fund added hope that it can render service to hundreds more needy families during the remainder of the summer.

Tomorrow's gifts should send the grand total over $1,800, and a few days should bring the $2,000. Last summer $7,000 was spent distributing ice to the most destitute homes in the city. This year the need is even greater.

The gifts arriving yesterday were:

$5—Mrs. Caine, Elizabeth Simpson, Ada M. Clark.

$1—Anita Fortis and Clair Selig.

Total—$76.

Previously acknowledged—$1,715.06.

Grand total—$1,791.06.

Contributions may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune tower, to the free ice fund and to the Camp Algonquin fund, which gives vacations to tenement mothers and children.

Dash of Vidor Now Appears at All Studios

A New Director of That Name Signs Up.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 10.—No studio is a success without a dash of Vidor seems to be a Hollywood motto. Since leaving M. G. M., King Vidor has been in demand to direct at United Artists, Paramount, and other studios, and the present Mrs. King Vidor [Eleanor Boardman] has just concluded a long and remunerative contract at Paramount in which, it is true, she was not used as an actress. Maybe the studio just wanted her name on its list as a talisman.

But now comes Charles Vidor, a slender, light brown haired Hungarian, who is still in his twenties, to represent the Vidor clan once more at M. G. M. No relation at all to his better known predecessor, King, Charles Vidor is M. G. M.'s choice to direct the weird screen drama, "Mask of Fu Manchu," in which Boris Karloff administers the chief creeps.

"I am no relation to King Vidor," says Charlie, in answer to the first question everybody asks him, "but I wish I was." He still speaks with some Hungarian accent after several years in New York and four more years in Hollywood. This Vidor came to attention with an independent movie film titled, "The Bridge," which he shot on Sundays and holidays around Los Angeles at a total expense to himself of $250. The film depicted the thoughts flashing through the mind of a man jumping off a bridge and was hailed as an artistic film success and exhibited in movie art theaters here and other large cities. At the time he made it the young Hungarian was a secondary film writer and assistant in minor executive capacities. He says the family name in Hungary was just plain Vidor, same as the name of the Texas clan that King Vidor came from.

They made the college flag rush scenes so vehement in Columbia's "That's My Boy," that Dick Cromwell, who is being starred, was knocked unconscious and suffered a broken rib. The trouble with the scene was that it was a matter of work for Cromwell, but was all play for 40 extras, all of them hearty, healthy young men recruited through the University of California at the Los Angeles employment bureau, and Cromwell found himself at the bottom of the heap in the rush for the flag.

Edwin Carewe, producer and director, said today that he may have to knock off work any time on his present picture at Metropolitan studios to go home and help his wife, the former Mary Akin, ex-actress, greet the stork.

Kay Francis owes her start in pictures to the fact that Lilyan Tashman has been so busy for four years. Kay came west from New York; was used in one rôle that Lilyan had been compelled to reject because of working in a second, and pretty soon Miss Francis was working in several films that had been cast with Miss Tashman in mind.

Eddie Cantor and David Freedman are collaborating on a book about Flo Ziegfeld's career. They will call it "Ziggy."

Hal Roach studio is asking Laurel and Hardy to come back from their British vacation early in September, considerably earlier than the hard working funny men expected. The Roach studio officials are fidgeting on first one foot and then the other at the idea of all the money lost by not being earned while Laurel and Hardy remain idle.

Sally Blaine, the second sister of Loretta Young (the other one is Polly-anne Young), is getting her most important film part in some time, as cowgirl heroine in Paramount's "Heritage of the Desert," in which Randolph Scott and Gordon Westcott are playing.

Married

Mr. and Mrs. George Walworth Hayden of 538 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park, announce the marriage of their daughter, Grace, to Harold W. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Walker of La Grange. The couple will reside at 514 North Fifth avenue, La Grange. [De Dou Ceramic Photo.]

Contracts Signed for 2 Opera Events at Soldiers' Field

A contract involving $50,000 and covering the expenses of the performances in Soldiers' field of "Aida" Aug. 28 and "Il Trovatore" Aug. 31 was signed at the Congress hotel yesterday by Andrew Lydon, manager of Soldiers' field and representing the south park board, Alfredo Salmaggi, general director of the opera company, and H. H. Fisher, its treasurer and business manager.

Attico Bernabini, chorus director of the Civic Opera company, will be chorus director of the Soldiers' field performances. The entire chorus of the Civic Opera company will be used, augmented by choral units from companies of other cities. Mr. Bernabini states that such choristers as he has been unable to reach may communicate with him at the Steuben club.

Herbert Witherspoon, during the last season the vice president in charge of opera of the Civic Opera company, is leaving Chicago shortly to take up new musical duties. He has been appointed dean of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. E. M.

Elks Open State Convention; Help Crippled Children

The 29th annual convention of the Illinois State Elks' association opened yesterday at Aurora. It will continue today and tomorrow. Former Judge Floyd Thompson, grand exalted ruler, was the principal speaker at the opening session. The parade and picnic will be held today.

Dr. Henry Bascombe Thomas, orthopedic expert of the Chicago Research hospital, held a crippled children's clinic in connection with the National Crippled Children's program of the Elks. More than thirty children, ranging in age from six months to 17 years, were examined by Dr. Thomas.

Many physicians watched Dr. Thomas conduct the clinic, learning how to establish similar clinics in their own towns as part of the program of the lodge.

Thorne Camp Will Be Scene of Happy Party

Dozen Children and Adults to Enjoy Affair.

BY JUDITH CASS.

Such a house party as there is to be at the Robert J. Thornes' camp at Desbarats from the end of this week until the middle of September, about a dozen children and the same number of grown-ups! Mrs. Hermon Dunlap Smith (Ellen Thorne) of Lake Forest is going up on Saturday and taking with her her own two little girls, Gwendolyn and Deborah, and Nancy Dickson, Modrea Mullen, Joan Rayner, and Nancy Brocksmit.

The party is going by boat and a week later Mr. Smith and the son of the family, Farwell, will depart, also by boat. The secretary of the Lake Forest Country Day school is going along with Mrs. Smith to help keep an eye on the children—nurses and governesses are taboo on such expeditions as this, of course, for the children just about live in bathing suits and spend most of their time in or on the water.

When the Smith party arrives at Desbarats it will find the Keith Carpenters and their two daughters, Alice and Ann, already at the camp, for they have been there for a fortnight, and the junior William Burrys and their son, Billy, and Peter Holt, who are going up today.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart H. Otis plan to join the gay party next week and the Roger Bronsons, the John N. Lees, and the Donald Welleses and all their youngsters have been invited up for a visit for after Labor day, so it looks as if every cot in the Thorne camp will be in use for the next few weeks.

Life at Desbarats today is almost as simple and primitive as the pioneers in that part of the world found it years ago, and every one who goes there comes home full of enthusiasm and determined to pay another visit to those islands, where so many Chicago families have summer places.

Vacation News from France

A letter received by a friend from Mrs. Charles C. Adsit, who is summering at Saint-Jean-de-Luz, near Biarritz, brings news of some of the Chicagoans who are there or who have been there this season.

Mrs. Adsit and her daughter, Mrs. Charles McAlpin Pyle of New York, and little Charlie Pyle and his nurse, Sally, the same Scotch nurse, by the way, who took care of the former Elizabeth Adsit when she was a child, are there for the summer, having a delightful time and taking short motor trips in a Citroen that Mrs. Pyle's brother-in-law, Gordon Pyle, had left at Biarritz.

Mrs. Pyle and Mrs. Adsit went to Biarritz by bus and drove the car back to Saint-Jean-de-Luz in spite of being "utterly ignorant of the roads and sharp curves," as Mrs. Adsit wrote. Mrs. George D. McLaughlin and Miss Harriet McLaughlin and Mrs. C. Morse Ely are there, also the Clarence B. Mitchells and the "Jack" Kelloggs.

Mrs. Adsit makes life in that lovely Basque country sound most diverting and delightful with descriptions of trips to Lourdes, Pau, and San Sebastian, which, by the way, she says is "a dead city, having once been the king's summer residence, with the court there. All that grandeur has disappeared with the republic, and, as far as we could judge, only the beautiful bridges and harbor are left."

The Chicago colony at Charlevoix continues to be augmented by the arrival of more vacationers, so our news gatherer at that fashionable Michigan resort writes. Mrs. Edward B. Butler has opened her cottage at the Chicago club and plans to remain in it until late in September.

Mrs. Harold C. Smith, who has been in Lake Forest during the first half of the summer, also has opened her cottage on the club grounds and will remain there until after Labor day. With her is her daughter, Elizabeth. Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Scudder (Joan Stuart) are occupying the John Stuart cottage just now.

Miss Betty Chilton, who has been visiting Miss Cynthia Wilson at the Chicago club, has left to join her mother, Lady Chilton of London, England, in Grand Rapids, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hagey [Elinor Whiting] and their infant daughter, Joan, have returned home after a fortnight's visit with Mrs. Whiting's mother, Mrs. A. Harris Whiting.

Miss Margaret Reid, daughter of the Byran S. Reids, is visiting Miss Anne Rickords, and Mr. and Mrs. Reid, who are cruising in the great lakes with the Sterling Mortons, are expected at Charlevoix shortly.

All of the William B. McIlvaines' children are at Charlevoix now, the junior William B. McIlvaines of Winnetka, the Benjamin H. Brewsters III. of Brooklandville, Md., the junior Blanchard Randalls of Baltimore, and the David B. McDougals of Geneva, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Solomon P. Smith spent last week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Charles E. Pynchon of Winnetka has returned from a 3 weeks' visit to Mrs. George B. Douglas of Cedar Rapids, Ia., at Charlevoix. Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham Jr. and her two sons, Daniel and Spencer, went to Charlevoix last week. They have as guests George Ennis and Harry Nacey of Chicago and Richard Baum of Lake Forest.

Mary Kinney Is Engaged

"Uncle Sam" is responsible for the late announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Kinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Kinney of Taylorville, Ill., to Henry Homes Porter Jr., son of Henry H. Porter of Chicago and Mrs. Prentice Porter of Manchester, Vt., in yesterday's paper as Mrs. Taylor requested. Her special delivery note did not reach this department on Tuesday as she thought it would [it just came yesterday afternoon] so we are making the delayed announcement this morning.

I Like You So Much

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Gold Franklyn calls Dr. Elverton, who has a surgery in a poor district of London, to attend her indolent, dependent, young half brother. The doctor offers to give Barney Pierce, a well to do accident victim, a lift to his destination, and Pierce waits while the doctor makes his call. He catches a glimpse of the pretty creature who summoned the doctor. Pierce determines to help the plucky young orphan girl. The doctor is to sail the next week to New York and Havana on a leave, taking the ship doctor's place. Mrs. Doria Hathaway, a widow friend of Pierce's, is to sail on the same boat. She wants a maid-companion for the Atlantic crossing. The doctor sends Gold to see Mrs. Hathaway and she gets the job. Pierce regrets putting Gold under the demoralizing influence of Doria. He decides to sail himself. On the boat Doria meets David Dorrance, who wants to interest Pierce in a business deal. Gold is angered by Pierce's cynicism and distrust of women. Gip Alen, Gold's half brother, stows away on the boat. Pierce overhears Gip threatening Gold and, unknown to her, arranges to get Gip third class passage. Doria invites a good looking youth from steerage to dine with her and give an exhibition tango. The youth is Gip Alen. Barney again takes Gip in hand and arranges to give him a six months' tryout in his Texas lumber camp. Gold accepts Dorrance's offer of a position as his secretary on the Havana trip. On their arrival in New York he sends her to a small hotel near Washington square. In the evening he takes her out to dine and dance in a colored night club in Harlem. Doria expects Pierce to call and has ordered dinner to be served in her hotel suite. Dr. Elverton calls before Pierce. Pierce arrives in search of Gold. He learns where Dorrance has taken her and follows. He sends Dorrance back for Doria and takes Gold away. They go to his New York apartment.

INSTALLMENT XL.

AFRAID TO TRUST.

"You also," Pierce suddenly heard Gold saying from those billowy depths in which her slim figure was sunk, "said something that first night at sea that I have remembered."

He sat forward, no nearer her; his elbows on his knees, hands clasped till the knuckles whitened in the tanned skin; staring into the fire.

"Do you remember?" There was a smile in her voice; adorable. "You said: 'I like you so much.'"

"And that was worth remembering?"

"No. I know it wasn't worth remembering; but as you said just now, words stick."

Should he say: 'It was not nonsense. It was truth—except that it was only a half truth. I've thought of you without ceasing since an evening in London when you ran bareheaded out of a house outside which I sat in a car'? Should he say that? And then more? And risk all?

As he sat in silence, his hands knitted together between his knees, he was aware that she was talking on in so soft a voice that he had to strain to catch her words.

"About the anxiety: I don't mind telling you now. It's over. No harm can be done. I had a brother on the ship—well, a half brother. He had stowed away. I was perfectly desperate when I found it out. He's so reckless, and improvident and self-willed; and I've always had to fight his battles or make him fight them if I could. I didn't know what to do—I didn't know how I could land in the middle of that scandal—or how he could be landed with just what he stood up in. And then—by a miracle—a rich passenger took care of him and has given him a start over here. Where he has gone I don't know, but Dr. Elverton has given me an address where I can write to him."

She quoted his own office address and he listened without moving.

"I've been thinking it all over," she said, "that must be a wonderful man, whoever he is."

"Who is a wonderful man?"

"That anonymous rich passenger."

"You think a little thing like that—which is a little thing to a wealthy man—Wonderful?"

"Don't belittle it, please! I wish I could meet and thank him."

"And supposing you met this man whom you think of as such a benefactor," said Barney, keeping the ache out of his voice with an effort, "he'd probably be a pot-bellied, bald-headed old millionaire—who liked making a gesture; and he'd try to play on your gratitude for favors, wouldn't he? You're a very lovely girl."

Again she flushed a deep rose; with startled eyes.

"You take the lowest, crudest view of everybody!"

"Still, he might be a millionaire, and he might easily—if not annexed—ask you to marry him."

Why, his heart asked him, am I talking to her thus? Why am I testing and probing and experimenting?

Then he heard her crying:

"If a man like that ever asked me to marry him, and it would make him happy, I'd be proud to do it!"

"In gratitude for what he did for your half brother?"

"A thousand times, yes!"

"Even if you didn't love him?"

"Yes."

"Even if you found him repellent?"

"Yes."

"Of course, assuming this romantic situation, he would be able to do a great deal more for your half brother. You'd do anything for this half brother of yours?"

"I'd do anything!"

"We're talking nonsense," she said quickly, "and nonsense isn't worth quarreling over."

"Are you going to quarrel?"

"I might if I stayed longer. You always——" she wanted to cry out: "You always hurt; you always insult——" A lump in her throat stopped her.

A tearful lump in her throat! Could she be so quickly moved by this arrogant man passing an idle hour with her? She knew that this was absurd! She rose with one single movement as if coiled on springs, so lithe and slim; lovely to watch. He rose too.

"It doesn't occur to you that a man wants loving?" he demanded in a hard voice that registered cool, biting amusement.

"Please stop. This is just fictitious——"

"It doesn't occur to you that a man doesn't want only gratitude from a woman?" Adding in his customary way: "Not that he's likely to get even that."

"O——" She turned aside. He baffled and hurt always. She crossed the room to get away from him and looked blindly at the Bellini. It had an intimate and yet superb serenity and sweetness that stole into her heart.

"This room is not like you," she said, still gazing at the Madonna.

"Isn't that queer?" he rejoined. "Because it is so entirely my room, made by me. There is a drawing room that women like, where women are generally asked; but you were different. I wanted you here."

She came forward and picked up her coat. "I'm not different!" What made her say that in a breathless voice?

"Not different?" he asked, holding the coat.

"From other women. I like what they like; I want what they want."

"Tell me," he said abruptly, "you're staying in New York, I take it?"

"No. Tomorrow I shall be out of New York again."

"Going!"

"You know I have work. I didn't tell you it was here."

"Where will it take you?"

If Gold Franklyn had not looked into Barney's face at that moment she would have replied evasively. He had been talking more or less lightly all the time that they had been together this evening. But she looked into his face and the grim demanding intensity of his mouth and eyes impelled her to tell him.

"I'm going——" Dorrance had definitely said it did not matter whom she told—"to Havana; in the Mercuria."

There was a silence.

"And not with Mrs. Hathaway? You are going with Dorrance!"

"He has a great deal of work to get through in the next few days, he says; and he has decided to do some of it on that trip."

"That's true," said Barney. "There is a lot of business ahead. I'm concerned in it. Did you know that?"

"I can't talk details of Mr. Dorrance's affairs."

"How correct we are!" He stood looking at her. "Dorrance's lawyer is going with him on the boat, I knew. But about you I did not know."

"Why should you? What is a mere secretary?"

His fists clinched.

"You feel, of course, that you've struck lucky in your employer."

"Very lucky, indeed. Especially as he tells me he will probably be able to give me some useful introductions there. It's kindness such as I've never met with before. No one else has ever done so much for me."

That passed. Barney answered: "Introductions? . . . Yes. He is likely to meet a good many business friends at play."

"Goodnight," she said, "and thank you."

Tiresome Prude, Good Example Not the Same

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

When we say that parents must set an example to children, we expect the idea to be seasoned with common sense and digested with intelligence. To set an example does not mean you must do only those things you want your children to do. To give an obvious instance, there is no reason why you should give up drinking coffee in moderation because you don't want your children to drink it. Nor smoking. On moderate drinking (alcoholic) I won't attempt to touch, because prohibition and the practices that have followed on its heels make it too complicated to speak of sketchily, especially where there are children or young people in a family.

On the other hand, if you want your child to be considerate or peaceable you can scarcely expect it if you adults are rude or quarrelsome. To represent worth while living or to be a good influence for your children you do not have to confine yourself to doing only those things you want them to do. There is such a thing as suitability. There are things grownups can do without harm that children cannot do—or should not.

"If you do it why can't I do it?" isn't at all to the point if addressed by a child to a grown person. In fact, it will rarely be heard if a child has a full life of his own and grows up with faith in his parents' judgment and fairness. Explanations are necessary, but if children are treated fairly and they have confidence and respect for their parents, explanations won't be necessary at every step of the way. To a certain degree your children should come to accept many things simply because you say so.

A certain amount of questioning on the part of a child shows intelligence, but too much questioning or arguing at every step of the way means poor training or that the child feels a lack of faith, or firmness, or conviction in his father or mother.

To set an example is rather an awful expression, I think. It creates an impression of two grownups conducting their lives with one eye cocked for its effect on the child. To be an example is a little better way to put it. But better still is it to say that the best influences for a child are parents who, as the fruit of experience or as a result of certain convictions, have grown into ways of living that bring with them a certain sense of happiness and satisfaction and which are worth emulating.

Coffee Breads Offer Great Variety of Delicious Foods

BY MARY MEADE.

There's something alluring to me about a coffee shop. As a very little girl I pancaked my appreciative nose against the pane of many a neat German shop and gulped in the exquisite whiffs of things savory, sugary, and spicy. But it wasn't just the coffee that lured—that still lures—but the delicious creations which were served with the steaming cups.

Coffee accompaniments — cakes, breads, buns—call them what you will—notwithstanding the modern decline in general baking, are, delightfully enough, climbing right up the social ladder into this season's most swanky luncheons, teas, coffees, and after theater snacks, as well as holding their own at the breakfast table as first choice in pantry pirating.

Perhaps the real reason for all this popularity is the tantalizing variations which may be enjoyed from one simple recipe. That and the many different recipes that have been airing themselves lately from mellow old files and old cook books. Almond, pecan, or jumbo coffee breads, for instance. Or spicy affairs filled with finely chopped dates, figs, prunes, raisins, or pineapple—or blended with stewed prunes, apricots, or figs. For shapes we may have braids, rounds, ovals, twists, rings—just anything.

First, though, to define terms. There are really two branches of the family—those made with yeast, which I prefer to call coffee breads or buns, and those leavened with baking powder, which are generally known as coffee cakes.

For the industrious housewife who still bakes occasional loaves of crusty goodness as a change from the more familiar bakery wheat loaves, a coffee bread now and then is an easy accomplishment. Simply save out four cups of bread dough when baking. Blend together 2 well beaten eggs, ¼ cup each of sugar, butter, and flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Let rise till light, knead and turn into a shallow greased pan. Brush with melted butter and then sprinkle with 1-3 cup sugar mixed with 1 tablespoon of cinnamon. Let rise again twice its bulk and bake in a moderately hot oven [350 to 375 degrees Fahrenheit] 25 minutes.

But since we moderns are more likely to start from scratch on our coffee accompaniments here is a simple and speedily raised coffee bread from which a score of different variations may be made:

LEMON COFFEE BREAD.

1 cup milk
1 cake compressed yeast
3½ cups bread flour
1-3 cup sugar
¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup chopped fruits or nuts

Crumble the yeast cake into the milk and make a sponge by adding half the flour and half the sugar. When light, add the rest of the sugar which has been creamed with the fat, lemon rind, egg, and salt. Stir in the fruit or nuts and then slowly add the rest of the flour or enough to make a moderately stiff dough. Knead 4 minutes. Cover in a warm place and let rise until double in bulk. Punch and pat out to ½ inch thickness to fit a greased shallow pan. Let rise in pan till light, then brush with melted butter, sprinkle with 1-3 cup sugar mixed with 1 tablespoon of cinnamon. Press in blanched almonds and bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees Fahrenheit] about half an hour.

For the first pleasant variation substitute orange juice for half or all of the milk in the recipe. Pecans, peanuts, or almonds may be used in the coffee bread or on top. Any dried fruit chopped fine may be added or a tutti frutti combination of several may be created.

Spiced coffee bread has the lemon rind omitted. Instead add 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon each of cloves and allspice. Or for a different arrangement use chopped figs in the dough and sprinkle ½ cup whole blanched almonds over the greased pan before putting in the coffee bread. Add a second half cup of almonds and a sprinkling of sugar and cinnamon on top. Or instead of mixing fruits or nuts with the dough, divide the dough in half, place one-half in the pan, spread with the fruit or nuts, and add the second half of the dough rolled to fit the pan.

Something delicious for either a topping or filling is made by combining ¾ cup of chopped almonds with ¼ cup of sugar and 1-3 cup of shredded citron.

So far we've been able to talk only about yeast raised coffee bread. The modern baking powder coffee cakes are just as delicious, however, and much more speedily made. I have three—one that is spice filled, one that does interesting things with cracker crumbs, and one that is just a good solid starting point for any variations you wish to make. These recipes are yours for a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

so is well known to most of her fiancé's friends. She is a graduate of the Holton Arms school in Washington and studied music here last winter.

Mr. Porter was graduated from Yale in 1926. His brother, S. Prentice Porter, is to be married to Miss Elinor Durbin on Sept. 27, and it is probable that the Kinney-Porter wedding will take place shortly after that, but no date has been set.

Mrs. Harry L. Street of Winnetka and her daughters, Jeanné, Katherine, and Marjorie have returned from a motor trip to Rhinelander, Wis., where they visited the youngest daughter of the family, Harriett, at Camp Bryn Afon. The Frank Mercers of Highland Park also are just back from Rhinelander where they visited their daughter, Marjorie, at the camp. Lucy Fairbank, daughter of Mrs. Dexter Fairbank, is another Chicago girl at the same camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Dixon of 1500 Lake Shore drive returned yesterday from a month's vacation at a mountain ranch near Santa Fé, N. M.

The Malcolm Shroyers have about decided not to motor east this month, as they had planned, and Mrs. Shroyer and Mr. Shroyer's sister, Miss Roxana Shroyer, who is here from Oregon to spend the summer with her brother and sister-in-law at their country residence near Barrington, left yesterday to spend a few days at Lakeside, Mich. Mrs. Shroyer's sister, Miss Louise Wood, who has been in Vermont all summer, will arrive about Sept. 1 to spend a month with the Shroyers before returning to Italy.

Mrs. R. Boynton Rogers of 190 East Chestnut street is planning to take an eastern trip right after Labor day. She will be away three or four weeks. Mr. Rogers is just back from a short business trip to the east.

Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart of Kenilworth departed yesterday to spend two weeks at Lake Placid, where her husband will join her in a few days.

The mixed sixsome for the Benedict golf trophy that the Charles Dennehys, the James A. Cathcarts, and the George F. McLaughlins are to play at Onwentsia will be played off late this afternoon if all of the contestants can get together. If business prevents any of the men from leaving their offices in time for the match it will be postponed until next week.

The Milwaukee Shamrock polo team, led by "Wild Bill" Wagner, will play Fort Sheridan on Sunday afternoon on the Army's field. The Wisconsin team will come armed for revenge for the defeat they suffered when the Fort Sheridan men visited Milwaukee.

All the boys who are at the Fort Sheridan training camp will be admitted to the polo field free of charge and their 65 piece band will furnish music for the show.

Sally Will Take Hundred Guests to Circus Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Isn't the baseball situation a thrilling one, boys and girls, with the Cubs only a half game away from first place in the National league standing, and with Pittsburgh and Boston at an apparent standstill? It makes one most impatient to have next Thursday, our party day, arrive, for we'll see an extremely exciting game between the Cubs and the Braves.

I shall read your letters this morning, and the names of the hundred winners will appear in next Sunday's paper.

This is the day of our party at Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, too, and those of you who won invitations should be primed for a grand time. The circus is one of the most thrilling events in our series of summer parties and the hundred boys and girls who will attend it with me this afternoon should consider themselves most fortunate.

You have your invitations and know our plans for meeting. Please do not be late, for there are a number of things to see before the performance actually starts, and I don't want you to miss any of them.

Wed in Evanston

Mothers Feel Gold Is Panacea to All Our Ills

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What's the matter with girls?" "Anxious Mother" asks. "Surely they can see from the condition of their own homes that money is necessary. My daughter knows what a hard life I've had because of lack of money. I can't understand why she wants to marry this boy of hers, who hasn't anything, when, with her looks, she could make a much better match."

It isn't what's the matter with the girls, "Anxious Mother." It's what's the matter with you mothers, thinking you can put youths' adventures on a money basis. No matter what they see of conditions in the home, no matter how you talk the need of money, when adventure comes their way in the guise of a love-struck swain, you can't sell the money idea. And more important for parents to understand, you can't live your children's lives for them. And you shouldn't try.

Money becomes important as you get older. The security it represents becomes important. But it isn't important to youth—in love. Love is the vital thing to them. And adventure, dreams, work, ambition. You can't change this. And it's well for the race that money is not the great marriage impetus.

We older ones are inclined to believe that the thing we have not got is the thing that would act as panacea to all our ills. It's just our little sop for failures we've created. If we put money above everything else that's an indication that we have failed in every other line. Poverty, of course, is not a state to applaud. But between it and the kind of money marriage mothers talk about in connection with their children there is a whole world of opportunity to extract happiness out of life.

Modest Dress Era Brings Back Feminine Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Have you noticed how much more ladylike our women are dressing this year? Is it the general sobering of the times, or is it the fashion pull? Whatever it is, it's nice on the eye!

I hadn't thought much about it until the other day. The wind caught an uncorseted and unpetticoated figure coming across the street. A couple of summers ago it was that kind of figure the wind was in the habit of catching. But you don't see many of her this year. You don't see many women with the vulgarly waddling rears of a few seasons back.

And you don't see the harrowing makeups of a comparatively recent yesterday. You don't see the brassiereless figure. And, of course, you do not see legs and knees as they used to be seen—and heard from.

Yes, we've got into just about as charming a woman era as any one has the right to ask for. Outside of beach costumes I should appoint it as modest an era as could be asked, too. Perhaps I should add "outside of nudist costumes" when I'm making exceptions. But to date, praise be, the latter isn't having any great run of popularity. Nor do we think, except for the usual quota of nutty ones in our midst, the movement will make any headway.

Women find for their particular business on earth of charming the good old illusion game continues as headliner. And that's why, we claim, they ought to be getting in a lot of good work with their current alluring dress and just as alluring makeup and coiffure appeal.

Overskirt Frock Is Favorite with Super-Chic Woman

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Overskirts that are frankly what they are called were brought out by Schiaparelli this spring. She made printed suits and dresses, and tied over them a plain silk or silk and wool skirt. That these overskirt dresses would be worn by fashionable women was questioned by the skeptical. However, the scoffers who said that these extreme styles would never go have had to eat their words, or whatever scoffers do when their prophecies are handed back to them disproved.

The overskirt frock of Schiaparelli ranks high among the most exclusive French styles for summer, with such women as the Comtesse Charles de Voguë wearing it around town. The three piece version of this model, the one chosen by the Comtesse de Voguë is illustrated today.

It begins with a plain princess dress of brown and white dotted crêpe de chine, the dots in varying sizes arranged in diagonal stripes. This dress has no sleeves. Over it Schiaparelli puts a simple waistline length jacket with long sleeves and a small shawl collar. This jacket buttons at the waistline.

Prince, 102, to Build Oriental City for Fair

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Prince Hadji Tahara, who says he will be 103 years old on Aug. 14, announced today at the interview at the Hotel Astor that he has been commissioned by his first cousin, King Ibn Saud of Hedjaz and Nejd, to reconstruct an oriental city at the World's Fair in Chicago.

The Arab sheik of a tribe of more than 20,000 persons made the announcement soon after his arrival from Canada.

"This typical oriental city that we propose to build at the World's Fair," he said, "will cost about $1,000,000, to which the Arabian government will contribute a part of the expense. We plan to populate it with 2,000 people, combining all the oriental races except the Japanese and Chinese. It will be a monument to the fast disappearing picturesqueness of the orient."

Prof. Cole Doubts Reports on "Monkey Men" in Sumatra

Prof. Fay Cooper Cole, head of the department of anthropology at the University of Chicago, is frankly skeptical of reports that a tribe of "monkey men" has been discovered in Sumatra, despite the decree of the Dutch East Indian government that to kill one is murder.

Prof. Cole has done research work in Sumatra, and he said yesterday that the natives were confusing the orang utan, or "man of the woods," with the supposed "orang letjos," or "man who talks nonsense."

"The natives are always talking about the men who live in the woods," said Prof. Cole. "They see these creatures in the trees and observe that many of their actions and looks are similar to those of man. The natives, being superstitious, call them men. But they mean the orang utan."

Elizabeth Henning Becomes Bride at Washington Rites

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Miss Elizabeth Henning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sears Henning was married to Lieut. Nelson Landon Head, U. S. A., this afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral by Canon Raymond Lee Wolven. A small reception followed in the home of the bride's parents.

It was a distinctly military wedding, the bridegroom and the men of the wedding party wearing khaki uniforms and the costumes of the bride's attendants and the mothers of the bride and bridegroom, were in tones harmonizing with khaki. Great bunches of white blossoms in the chancel were the only decorations in the chapel. The bride and bridegroom passed under the crossed swords of the men in the wedding party, as they left the chancel, and the bride cut the wedding cake with the bridegroom's sword.

The bride wore eggshell satin with long train and trimming of point d'Alencon lace. Her tulle veil was held with bunches of orange blossoms over each ear and she carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

A TIP FOR HOT WEATHER by Timmins

FOLKS CERTAINLY ARE SNOBS AROUND HERE. TRIED TO TALK TO FOSTER ON THE TRAIN THIS MORNING. BUT HE EXCUSED HIMSELF AND WENT INTO THE SMOKER
NEXT DAY AT THE GROCER'S
ISN'T THIS HEAT TERRIBLE! HOW DO YOU MANAGE TO LOOK SO FRESH AND COOL?
BATHING OFTEN WITH LIFEBUOY HELPS A LOT, I FIND. IT'S WONDERFULLY REFRESHING
I SEE SHE BOUGHT LIFEBUOY. I'M GLAD. I'VE OFTEN WISHED I DARED HINT ABOUT "B.O."
THEY'RE SUCH PLEASANT PEOPLE IN EVERY OTHER WAY. I DON'T SUPPOSE THEY EVER REALIZED THEY'VE BEEN A LITTLE CARELESS
TWO DAYS LATER
ANY MORE LIFEBUOY? IT'S GREAT. GIVES SO MUCH LATHER AND MAKES ME FEEL SO COOL AND CLEAN
I LIKE IT SO MUCH, TOO. IT AGREES WONDERFULLY WITH MY SKIN
NO "B.O." NOW TO SPOIL THEIR WELCOME!
I'M SO GLAD YOU COULD COME TONIGHT
YES, WE CERTAINLY MISSED YOU FOLKS LAST NIGHT

Danger months for "B.O." (body odor)

WHAT chances we're taking these hot sticky days if we do nothing about "B.O." (body odor)! Any moment we may offend without realizing it. Why run this constant risk? Play safe—bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Its pleasant, quickly vanishing, hygienic scent tells you Lifebuoy gives extra protection. Its creamy, abundant, searching lather purifies and deodorizes pores—stops "B.O." Deep-cleanses face pores—freshens dull skins to healthy radiance.

TRY LIFEBUOY FREE

If you don't use Lifebuoy and want to try it, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. L-28, Cambridge, Mass. Two full-sized cakes will be sent you without cost.

A new car that needs a new word to describe it

So we call it TERRAPLANE

NOTE: This is a long advertisement, yes, but if you want to be informed on an automotive engineering achievement so substantial and far-reaching that it dates the new-type motor car from July 21, 1932, you will find it worth while to read every word.

TERRAPLANE!

That's the new way to get from where you are to where you want to be.

That's the new word to describe what the automobile industry has been groping for these many years in vain.

That's the new physical sensation in motoring needed to meet the down-to-earth demands of these deflated days.

Since the time of the old one-lunged side-winders, keen designers have known it had to come.

They knew in their consciences that roadability is king, and that weighting a chassis down with inert steel to make it rideable was not the answer.

Cycle cars, banties, midgets and the whole discarded lot were attempts to work it out.

But they didn't click, and until now, if you wanted anything but a black-and-blue ride you bought the extra tonnage and paid grimly to have it chugged around.

Shedding Wasteful Avoirdupois

Until the ESSEX TERRAPLANE, every car, no matter what the size or price, has been built by perching a body on a chassis. The power-plant, wheels, frame and other chassis parts have been built in one unit, the body—often produced in a separate factory—in another.

The result has been a duplication of materials—and an automobile needlessly high and needlessly heavy. To offset this, costly cars have been ballasted with hundreds of deadweight pounds, and many inexpensive cars have been lightened to flimsiness.

In the TERRAPLANE, the body and chassis are of unified design, a single continuous unit skilfully constructed around a basic frame. The very floor of the car is the rigid centerbrace of the weaveless X-membered frame—the frame reinforces the body, the body the frame. Even the handsome instrument panel is a strength-member serving to reinforce the whole car by its truss construction. That is why the new ESSEX can be so safely low and still have the spaciousness that full comfort demands.

1932 — and it's different now

Here certainly is the first combination of featherweight nimbleness and heavyweight stability and "road sense" which the motor car industry has ever engineered into the same automobile.

With it comes a new form of transportation, smooth and thrilling as flying, yet safe as terra firma, only to be described by a brand new word.

Save for top-speed, and that's only a matter of gear ratio, the stock TERRAPLANE will outperform anything you ever drove — even the highway Pullmans that sell for ten times its price.

HERE IS A CAR WITH GETAWAY like a startled rabbit, that accelerates from 10 to 50 faster than any stock car built, regardless of price, size or number of cylinders;

—A CAR THAT SNUGGLES DOWN on the road and follows its nose with the surefooted steadiness of the best-handling heavy car you ever saw, and yet carries not one pound of weight more than it should;

—A CAR THAT SKIMS UP HILLS with quieter ease and more stuff to spare than any car now available in the market;

—A CAR THAT LACKS NOTHING in head-room, leg-room, shoulder-room;

—A CAR WITH THE HIGHEST PROPULSIVE EFFORT per pound of any production car built in this country or abroad;

—A CAR WITH SO LOW A CENTER OF GRAVITY and so low a total height that it offers safety-and-stability-at-speed in the extreme;

—A CAR WHICH COULD ORIGINATE only in the untrammeled atmosphere of a bold engineering department with the sympathetic encouragement of independent management.

Let's go Terraplaning

You'll never think of this ESSEX TERRAPLANE chiefly as a low-price car, because its low, trim, compact lines proceed from inspired design, not from rule-of-thumb mechanics.

A beauty to the eye it certainly is, but come slip under that wheel and let's go TERRAPLANING.

What a Car! — *and the lowest-priced Six in America!

and up, f.o.b. Detroit

You won't move a hundred yards before you've caught the idea.

As you touch toe to the treadle and take off you are conscious of a smoothness as of flowing oil.

There's finesse in the action of that full 70-horsepower of six-cylindered pneumounted power—sweet quiet and velvet ease as well as a wallop.

There's no more vibration—anywhere throughout its speed range—than you find in a cake of ice.

Now you get it: if you've ever cruised the skies in a great airliner you recognize the sensation.

You're not exactly riding and yet you're not flying.

Brother, you're TERRAPLANING!

Just fluid motion as the TERRAPLANE answers—fun to ride and fun to drive.

Hills? You scarcely know they're there.

Curves? You take them in your stride.

TERRAPLANING! The nearest thing to flying possible on wheels!

Come see it! Terraplane! Compare!

The price figures place the ESSEX TERRAPLANE actually right down among and UNDER the former lowest-priced Three.

But that's a triumph of smart engineering and able manufacture, and not a sacrifice of the things you want.

Did you ever lift an old cane fish-pole after casting with a four-ounce fly-rod?

That's the difference between the TERRAPLANE and the older heavy brethren of the road.

Just give a glance at the performance chart based on tests made by the scientists of Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University.

See what the TERRAPLANE did against the representative finest and costliest cars that American automotive genius has contrived.

That's the story—not to mention the bedrock economy with which the ESSEX does it.

Come on, take a TERRAPLANE ride!

WHEN IT'S DONE IN CALIFORNIA IT'S DONE RIGHT

Take Olympics; Boy, There Is a Job.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—There have been a few squawks in the Olympic symphony, but I remind you that these games have embraced all the temperaments from the aloof and melancholy Finnish to the highly inflammable Latin, that certain groups of the athletes have inherited blood feuds from the political ancestors and that, in several cases, the boys and girls have been packing a patriotic responsibility to bring home the spoils, just as though they had been diplomats sent to outswindle other diplomats in the name of peace.

In contrast to these squawks there has been an astonishing sweetness in the demeanor of the native Californians toward the Japanese, against whom, the rest of the country had been led to believe, the California people cherished an old grudge. The recent events on the yonder side of the Pacific probably have suggested to the Californians that the Japanese nowadays are not a people to be lightly pushed around, but they undoubtedly are sincere in their admiration of the pluck, enthusiasm and sporting courtesy which the Japanese athletes have shown throughout the games.

The Perfect Hosts?

In fact, if there were any method of scoring such matters, the Californians probably would be found to have established a new record in all around courtesy, efficiency and cordiality to all the delegations. Their only conspicuous breach occurred when Lauri Lehtinen, the Finn, shut off Ralph Hill of Oregon in the final of the 5,000 meters, but the Californians are only human, and Lehtinen was guilty of scandalous offense against the spirit of the Olympic oath.

So they let fly a whole souled booing which let the Finn know that there were some things that even the most courteous host could not put up with. But in Europe the crowd might have been all over the track and the infield after him, for didn't the official Italian newspaper threaten to block a loan to Austria in the league of nations in retaliation for an impudent defeat in an international soccer match a few years ago?

It's Spiritual, Pal.

As this episode turned out, Hill ran a dead heat with Lehtinen in the electrical timer which is supposed to be infallible, but the officials not only refused to protest but gave the race to Lehtinen on the judgment of the naked eye, as though to shame him with chivalry.

Although the games are now in their second week there is still something downright spiritual about the show as the Californians have put it on. Of course, Los Angeles is notoriously the center to which the more goofy of the wild-eyed preachers eventually gravitate to propagate their curious isms and the community is more susceptible than most others to the religious suggestion of the big flame burning in the exaggerated bird bath on the peristyle at the open end of the stadium.

The Olympic flame they call it and there is something about the look of it, blowing in the wind at the top of a high granite shaft, which arouses a primitive awe, some faint stirring of the soul which may be only a slight irritation of a spiritual vermiform appendix. Given that flame and the dignified grandeur of the arena, leopard skin and a tom-tom band, any one of fifty nut preachers now in action here could build up a prosperous revival of fire worship among the religious gypsies of Los Angeles today.

Six Band Masters.

The boast of bigness has been vindicated in all that Los Angeles has done in the running of the games. They built a river for the boat races and if nature hadn't endowed the place with a hill on which to perch the Olympic village, up where the athletes could catch the breeze at night, undoubtedly they would have built a hill.

At the football game the other evening, a mere exhibition between picked teams of the east and west, they trotted out between halves the biggest, brassiest, noisiest, marchingest band ever seen at a football game, led by not one drum major but six, including two co-eds from somewhere, one of them in an old fashioned burlesque queen's uniform of satin jacket and short satin pants, revealing a set of very spectacular legs.

The other girl's legs may not have been so interesting for she wore a long skirt but, not to be outdone, she paraded the field in a peripatetic hootch for half an hour, wiggling and squirming in a manner to suggest that a pin had come unstuck somewhere or someone had dropped a handful of caterpillars down her back.

A Rich Man Plays Papa.

Residents of Los Angeles state that all the apparent prosperity of the moment is merely of the moment and a part of the Olympic program, but obviously when they make up their minds to forget their routine troubles, they forget big, too.

The American track and field men, having finished their doings, were told they must pay for their own rations at $2 a day for the rest of the meet, but that was the fault of the Olympic committee, not of Los Angeles. And

Sarazen Fails to Qualify for U. S. Pro Tournament

Rockville Center, N. Y., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Gene Sarazen, British and United States open champion, failed today to qualify for the National Professional Golf association championship at St. Paul next month. Recently he had been offered automatic qualification, but declined.

GENE SARAZEN.

Tied with six others for the last three places in the metropolitan district allotment at the end of the 36 hole trial held at the Rockville Country club, Sarazen was shut out on the first extra hole when three of the seven holed birdie 3s.

The three successful ones were Joe Turnesa, Mike Turnesa, and Johnny Golden. Tony Manero took a 5, while Sarazen, Leo Diegel, and Henry Miller had 4s. Sarazen made an eagle 3 on the next hole to be in line for a place should any one among the 14 qualifiers decide not to make the trip.

Ziglarski Wins Olympic Bout from Nicolas

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—Hans Ziglarski, German bantamweight, who defeated George Goodman of the Chicagoland Golden Gloves team in the international bouts in Chicago, entered the semi-final round of the Olympic competition tonight by defeating Paul Nicolas of France in three rounds.

Heinrich Kohlhaas, the heavyweight from Germany, suffered a cut over his right eye in the first round of his match with George Maughan of Canada and lost the decision because of poor visibility. He went down for counts twice in the second round, apparently to get his bearings. Kohlhaas stopped Duffy Dvonch at Chicago.

Werner Spannagel, flyweight, and Erich Campe, welterweight, other Germans who won their opening bouts, were idle tonight.

Nathan Bor of New Jersey, lightweight; Joe Lang, bantamweight of San Francisco, and Johnny Hines, San Pedro, featherweight, were Americans who advanced with victories tonight.

BUSTER CRABBE WINS 400 METER OLYMPIC SWIM

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Clarence [Buster] Crabbe, who learned his swimming in the Hawaiian islands, came from behind today to stage a surprise victory for the United States in the 400 meter free style finals of the Olympic games before a crowd of 12,000.

In bringing to the United States its first racing championship of the men's division, Crabbe set a new Olympic record of 4 minutes 48.4 seconds and also bettered Arne Borg's world record, posted in Sweden at 4:50.3 in 1925.

Crabbe had a margin of only a few inches over Jean Taris of France, the early leader.

Taris Takes Early Lead.

Taris jumped into a lead of two meters on the first lap and maintained it until the 300 meter mark had been passed. Crabbe pulled along at the opposite side of the pool from Taris in second place, with Tsutomu Oyokata, Japan, in third position.

Crabbe cut the Frenchman's lead down to less than a foot as they turned back to the finish with 50 meters remaining. Both drove with all their might, but Crabbe had the greatest reserve, finishing one-tenth of a second ahead.

Crabbe's triumph enabled the United States to retain its team lead with a total of 42 points, against 37 for Japan.

Miss Coleman Wins Diving.

United States girl swimmers swept the first three places of the spring board diving finals, with Georgia Coleman of Los Angeles in first place with a total of 87.52 points.

Katherine Rawls, 14 years old, from Miami, Fla., finished second and Jane Fauntz of Chicago was third. Miss Rawls' point total was 82.52 and Miss Fauntz's 82.12.

The Yankee girls' attire caused a mild sensation before the diving started. Dr. Leo Donath, president of the International Swimming federation, ordered Miss Coleman and Miss Fauntz back to the locker rooms, demanding a change of suits on the grounds the ones they wore were cut too low in the back.

German Girl Fourth.

The other contestants finished as follows: Olga Jordan, Germany, 77.60; Doris Ogilvie, Canada, 70; Madalene Epply, Austria, 63.70; Etsuko Kamakura, Japan, 60.78; Ingrid Larsen, Denmark, 57.26.

The United States and Japan qualified three each for the semi-finals of the 100 meter back stroke tomorrow.

Summaries:

100 METER BACK STROKE [MEN].

First two of each heat and fastest third qualify for semi-final tomorrow.

SECOND HEAT—Won by Robert Zehr, U. S. A.; Ernest Kuppers, Germany, second; Kentaro Kawatsu, Japan, third; William Francis, Great Britain, fourth; Benevenuto Nunes, Brazil, fifth. Time, 1:09.9.

THIRD HEAT—Won by Toshio Ire, Japan; Munroe Bourne, Canada, second; Jorge Pauls, Brazil, third. Time, 1:11.3. Marcel Noual, France, disqualified for making illegal turn.

FOURTH HEAT—Won by William Karlsen, Norway; Gordon Calmers, U. S. A., second; Dennis Walker, Canada, third. Time, 1:13.7.

400 METER FREE STYLE [MEN].

FINALS—Won by Clarence Crabbe, United States; Jean Taris, France, second; Tsutomu Oyokata, Japan, third; Takashi Yokoyama, Japan, fourth; Noboru Sugimoto, Japan, fifth; Andrew Charlton, Australia, sixth. Time, 4:48.4. [New Olympic record, betters world's record. Old Olympic mark, 4:51.4, held by Yokoyama; world's record, 4:50.3, set by Arne Borg, Sweden, 1925.]

HE ORDERED A HOMER, BUT SETTLED FOR LESS

Gregory Makes Good Start Despite Sox' Defeat, 6 to 3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Paul Gregory's entry into the ranks of White Sox starting pitchers yesterday was both successful and unsuccessful. The successful feature of the Atlanta rookie's effort was that, experience considered, he did pretty well. But the unsuccessful part was that the title holding Athletics thumped him, not to mention Relief Man Urban Faber, for more runs than the south side experts could harvest from the port side delivery of Rube Walberg. Under the circumstances the champs had little trouble accomplishing their second victory in the three game series, 6 to 3, and Walberg had even less trouble achieving his sixth in a row.

Because of the need of a pinch hitter, Gregory's exhibition was limited to seven innings, during which he surrendered eight hits and four runs. At least half of the tallies could easily have been avoided, however. Mr. Charley Berry gave the hostiles one run by not making a suitable throw on a slough footed runner who was bold enough to attempt a burglary of second, and Carey Selph gave them another by not holding a grounder that wasn't sufficiently treacherous to annoy even a member of a touring Bloomer Girls' nine. Two runs were made when Faber took a hand in the eighth.

Double Play Costly.

If a double play hadn't been dropped into the right spot there probably would have been more than one run scored in the first inning. The day's argument opened with a pass to Bishop and a single by Haas. Cochrane schemed to advance them with a bunt, but Gregory picked up the ball and tossed to Selph to force Bishop at third. Simmons came out of a slump long enough to spank a single into center, Haas scoring and Cochrane stepping to third. Simmons moved to second on the throw in. The bases were filled on a pass to Foxx and the needed double play followed on McNair's roller to Selph.

The champions grabbed a bargain counter in the second. Miller led off by walking, and his steal of second was aided by Berry's high throw. He went to third on Dykes' fly to Kress and home on Walberg's lofter to Fothergill. The next outbreak was the work of the Sox. Berry walked to open the third. Gregory died on a high fly, but Seeds plunked a double to the score board in left, Berry stopping at third. Hayes bounced to short and was thrown out, Berry scoring on the play. Selph ended it with a gentle poke to the pitcher.

Selph's inelegant fielding let the titleholders make it 3 to 1 in the fourth. After two men had been set down, Dykes walked and dashed to third on Walberg's line single through Blue's hands. Bishop clipped an ordinary grounder toward third and Selph, after closing his hands around the ball, let it slip through. As a special favor to Bishop it was recorded as a hit. Dykes scored on it, after which Haas ended the incident with a bounder to Gregory. Another run scored in the fifth on successive hits by Simmons, Foxx, and McNair.

Had the Sox been able to keep away from a double play in the sixth, they might have put on an extensive bit of scoring. As it was, they were choked off with only one run on a single, a double, and another single. Selph started it with a hit to right and was doubled up on Fothergill's hopper to Dykes. Appling lined to center and, as Haas seemed to be in no particular hurry, Appling stretched the hit into a two bagger. Blue's single to left sent him home. Kress popped up for the third out.

KID CHOCOLATE WHIPS FARR IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, junior lightweight champion, was awarded the decision over Johnny Farr of Cleveland in a ten round nontitle bout tonight.

Chocolate dropped the Italian for a seven count in the tenth round. Farr also was down twice for three counts in the first round.

Chocolate seemed not to exert himself and took every round, despite Farr's furious fight. The Cuban punched for the head throughout.

In the eighth round both Farr's eyes were cut. He slowed up slightly, but came out as lively as ever in the ninth, and still was fighting gamely as the bell ended the last round.

CALIFORNIA CREW BEATS CANADA IN OLYMPIC TRIALS

Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The undefeated University of California eight oared crew, representing the United States, scored a smashing victory over Canada today in the Olympic regatta trials, thereby clinching a place in the finals. The Americans won by nearly a length in 6 minutes 29 seconds for the 2,000 meters.

The big California crew, intercollegiate and national title holders, drew away from Canada in an exciting finish after being separated by barely a deck length most of the way.

The time registered by Italy's surprise crew, victor over Great Britain in the first eight oared heat, was slightly faster than that made by the Americans. The Italians established themselves as a real threat by winning in 6:28 1-5. Summaries:

FIRST HEAT—Won by Italy, 6:28 1-5; Great Britain, second, 6:34 2-5; Japan, third, 6:43 2-5; Brazil, fourth, 6:52 1-5.

SECOND HEAT—Won by United States, 6:29; Canada, second, 6:33 1-5; Germany, third, 6:36 4-5; New Zealand, fourth, 6:38 1-5.

Stribling Stops Renault in Fifth of Australian Bout

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRISBANE, Australia, Aug. 10.—W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight boxer, won on a technical knockout over Jack Renault, Canada, in the fifth round of a fifteen round bout here tonight. One of Renault's ears was badly cut and Stribling battered the Canadian so badly the referee stopped the bout.

WGN to Broadcast Cub-Pirate Game Direct from Field

W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE radio station on the Drake hotel, will present a detailed play by play account of the Cubs-Pirates battle for first place direct from Forbes field in Pittsburgh this afternoon.

CHARLEY GRIMM.

Bob Elson, baseball announcer for W-G-N, and Chief Engineer Carl Meyers will arrive in Pittsburgh this morning, and this afternoon, starting at 1:45 o'clock, Chicago time, Elson will give W-G-N listeners the complete details of the struggle for the lead in the National league pennant chase.

When the broadcast opens Elson will present Manager Charlie Grimm to his listeners. This will be the first radio appearance of Grimm over a Chicago station since his appointment to the managership of the Cubs last week.

Wires for the broadcast will be installed this morning in a field box on Forbes field. The Pittsburgh club does not allow broadcasting by Pittsburgh local stations, and the W-G-N radio presentation of the game will be one of few ever staged at Forbes field.

Immediately after the Cubs-Pittsburgh game is concluded the regular broadcast from Comiskey park of the White Sox-St. Louis contest will be presented.

ERNIE SCHAAF TO MEET BAER AT STADIUM AUG. 31

Max Baer, who defeated King Levinsky in a twenty round bout at Reno, Nev., on July 4, will meet Ernie Schaaf of Boston at Chicago Stadium Aug. 31. The match was announced last night by Nate Lewis of the Stadium.

Isadore Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight, who knocked out Charley Retzlaff in the first round at New York Tuesday night, will be on the supporting card.

LON WARNEKE TO PITCH; HE'S AFTER 18TH WIN

Last Game of Giants Series Rained Out.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The Chicago Cubs moved out of New York tonight all keyed up for their big one day war for the National league leadership with the Pirates at Pittsburgh tomorrow. A beneficent shower intervened today to prevent the final game with the Giants and gave the Cubs a not unwelcome day of rest to prepare for the struggle which gives them an unexpected opportunity to return home in first place.

While the rain was keeping the Cubs idle, the Pirates were going through a double header at Boston, which, while it made no difference in the relative standing of the two clubs, saw the end of Pittsburgh's ten game losing streak and the start of another which the Chicagoans hope to prolong for at least one more day. By breaking even with the Braves, the Pirates remained a half game ahead of the Cubs.

Warneke After No. 18.

A victory for the Cubs tomorrow will put them out in front by one half game, while a defeat will stretch the margin between them and the Pirates to one and a half games. The Cubs feel that if they can move past the Pirates tomorrow, they can maintain their lead until they get home. Lon Warneke will go after his 18th win of the season. He has rested since the first game of the Giants series on Sunday and is in fine shape.

The other members of the big four, Guy Bush, Pat Malone, and Charley Root, will have had an abundance of rest by the time the series with the Cardinals opens in St. Louis on Saturday, and Manager Grimm sees no reason why his renovated outfit should not sweep the three game series with the faded world champions.

Rain in Second Inning.

Today's game was rained out after less than an inning and a half of play. A shower broke loose in the first half of the second inning with Moore and Grimm on second and first as a result of singles, two out, and Jurges at bat. Fitzsimmons was pitching for the Giants and Grimes for the Cubs.

Monday will be an off day, devoted largely to acceptance of further congratulations extended to Charley Grimm, new manager of the Cubs. Thus far the boys have won five out of seven games under Grimm's managership. By the time they get back they expect to have a record of at least eight victories out of 11 games under Boss Charley's direction.

Make Best Showing in East.

The game postponed today will be played off during the three day visit of the Cubs here Sept. 13. The Giants and the Cubs now have played 13 games, of which the Cubs have won eight. The two teams will open a five game series with a double header in Chicago on Aug. 27.

In taking nine out of fifteen games in the east, the Cubs were the only western club to make a showing of .500 or better. They left Chicago on July 25, four and one half games out of first place and then dropped to five and a half before the Pirates went into their nose dive, so that the last ten days have seen them make a net gain of five games over Pittsburgh.

DON SAILS FOR SPEEDBOAT DUEL WITH GAR WOOD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Kaye Don of England, holder of the world's speed boat record, sailed today for the United States, where he will compete against Gar Wood at Detroit for the Harmsworth trophy. Richard Garner, his mechanic, and W. F. Sturn, his American manager, accompanied the British sportsman.

"I am making no promises, except that I will do the best I can against Wood's boat, which has a much greater horsepower than my boat—Miss England III," Don told a large crowd of British admirers as he left.

CHARLEIGH GIVES JOLT TO SISKIN'S TURF COMEBACK

Reformed Plater Defeats Hawthorne Favorite.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The turf comeback of the once mighty Siskin was nipped in the bud out at Hawthorne yesterday during the running of the Park Ridge purse at 6½ furlongs.

Siskin, which everybody thought might be making a comeback that would be as notable as the one Equipoise has staged this year, finished third in the Park Ridge, soundly beaten by Charleigh, a reformed selling plater, and Sweet Scent, a filly from Kentucky which doesn't often win a race.

When Siskin failed most of the folks in the gathering of 11,000 groaned, for they had made him a short priced favorite. Siskin simply couldn't get his once great legs to functioning like they did when he was bidding for championships, and on top of that he was the victim of a bungling ride by R. Richard, who pulled the notorious front runner up soon after the start and never gave him his head until it was certain he was soundly beaten.

Even then Siskin had nothing left with which to challenge. He was whipped, no doubt about that.

Charleigh a Mystery Horse.

The failure of Siskin shouldn't take any of the credit away from Charleigh's spectacular triumph which sent Bill Schmidt, the Chicago undertaker, and a lot of his friends into a wild, noisy celebration.

Charleigh has been the mystery horse of the turf for the best part of two seasons. It was only a month back that he was running with very cheap selling platers out at Arlington Park, but beating them just as he pleased.

Many wise horsemen said Charleigh was a cripple, yet he won so frequently that Owner Schmidt of Chicago made quite a big offer for him, having in mind the $10,000 Illinois Owners' handicap, which is to be run at Hawthorne on Saturday afternoon.

Schmidt wound up by buying the horse. He started him in the Hawthorne handicap last Saturday and Charleigh wound up at the eighth pole behind the stylish horses which made the way in the handicap.

Workout Is Tipoff.

Mysterious Charleigh was then asked for a speed test in a training drill. He ran five furlongs faster than any of the fastest western sprinters have been able to do it at Hawthorne. So he came back to try for this 6½ furlong dash known as the Park Ridge. The racewise folks didn't think a horse could show such dazzling speed in a sprint after traveling so long in route affairs.

But Charleigh did it, and was up just in time to beat the early pacemaker, Sweet Scent, by a head, with Siskin three lengths back in third place. He did it on a rousing ride by Jockey Willie Moran.

Backers Collect $11.94.

In the mutuels Charleigh paid $11.94 to win, $6.30 to place and $3.76 to show. Sweet Scent, on which there had been a last minute plunge, paid $9.86 to place and $4.08 to show. Siskin's show price was $2.80.

Col. Edward R. Bradley's green and white jacket was much in evidence during the afternoon. His fleet colt Ballygran, a son of Bubbling Over-Blackeyed Kathleen, won the La Salle purse at six furlongs which engaged some of the smartest juveniles in the west.

Later on in the afternoon Bradley's B'ar Hunter encountered a band of distance runners in a mile and a sixteenth struggle. The aged jockey, Jimmy Smith, brought him from behind and was able to beat the fleet mare Kincsen by a length. Chokoloskee finished in third place. Little America, which had become quite a favorite with the Chicago racegoers, was last after making all the early pace. B'ar Hunter had many backers and was at even money in the betting.

Ballygran was up in the last strides to beat Admiral Cary T. Grayson's Hope To Do by a length, with Stuyvesant Peabody's Meloy running stoutly near the end but in third place. Hope To Do didn't want to give up the struggle, and as Ballygran sailed past him he reached over and tried to bite the Bradley colt. Ballygran was an odds-on favorite.

ITALIAN GYMNAST WINS OLYMPIC PARALLEL BARS

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP) Guglielmetti, Italy, won the parallel bars championship, and Stephen Pelle, Hungary, and Mario Lertora, Italy, tied for the rings title in Olympic gymnastic competition today.

Heikki Savolainen, Finland, finished just ahead of the two American stars, Frank Haubold and Alfred Jochim.

15 May Start in Hawthorne Owners' Stake

It is expected that a field of fifteen will go to the post in the $10,000 Illinois Owners' handicap at Hawthorne on Saturday. The stake is for three year olds, but so much rivalry has developed among Chicago and Illinois owners that one would think their charges were getting ready for a much richer event.

Fairbypair, Mrs. John Hertz's candidate, gave the clockers something to talk about yesterday when he worked a mile and an eighth, one-sixteenth farther than Saturday's race, in 1:53 2-5. The colt was timed in 1:38 2-5 for the mile and finished the drill in great shape.

Conditions were far from ideal on the track during the early hours because of a heavy blanket of fog. Visibility was extremely low.

Fairbypair has been assigned 113 pounds in the Illinois Owners', but packed several extra pounds in the drill.

R. M. Eastman's Cathop also worked a mile and was timed in 1:40 4-5. Cathop stepped the three-quarters in 1:14 3-5. Jockey McDermott was up.

The pages of turf history were rolled back at Hawthorne for an hour yesterday morning when William Hurley, who trains the western division of the E. R. Bradley stable, showed up at the secretary's office with a copy of the racing program run off at the old Harlem track on June 8, 1903.

On the program the great McChesney's name was listed in the feature race and the markings on the card showed that he ran second to Savoldi. It was for a $700 purse.

Frank Otis, now a patrol judge at Hawthorne, was among the jockeys that afternoon while Martin Nathanson, a Hawthorne steward, was listed as secretary and presiding judge. Otis had a leg up on Nellie Waddell, which was unplaced.

Another Hawthorne official, whose name was not on the program but who remembers the day well, was Max Murphy, paddock judge. He was selling programs at Harlem.

Trainer Hurley found the programs in an old trunk and presented it to Mr. Nathanson as a memento.

Jockey W. Wright, one of the best young riders hereabouts, will be out of action for several weeks. He suffered a broken collar bone when he fell with Southland Belle in the last race Tuesday. Wright is in the Garfield Park hospital.

Jockey Morris Rose left for Dade Park track in Kentucky yesterday and Jockey J. McCoy will get away today for the same point.

Joe Fisher, a member of the house of representatives in Louisiana, and Vic Carona, sheriff of Kenner, La., were in the throng at Hawthorne yesterday.

Jockey G. Woolf, who drew a fifteen day suspension at Arlington Park, will be eligible to ride again Monday. He will be up on Fluoky Play when the California handicap star meets Equipoise in the Hawthorne gold cup.

PIRATES DIVIDE WITH BRAVES TO END LONG SLIDE

Pittsburgh Wins the First 5-2; Loses 2d, 3-2.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Home runs by Berger and Schulmerich gave the Braves a 3 to 2 victory over the Pirates in the second game of a double header today after the league leaders had broken a 10 game losing streak by winning the opener, 5 to 2. French held the Braves to four hits in the second game, while the Pirates collected nine off Brandt, but the two circuit drives, plus a squeeze play, gave Boston victory. Scores:

DODGERS TAKE PAIR.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Dodgers battled the Cincinnati Reds for 22 innings, four hours and 53 minutes of actual playing time, today, but finally won two games, 6 to 1 and 10 to 9. The victories placed the Dodgers only one game behind the third position Boston Braves. The second game went 13 innings.

AUSTIN ADVANCES TO THIRD ROUND OF EASTERN MEET

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Henry (Bunny) Austin of England, who arrived in the United States last night, swept into the third round of the Eastern Grass Courts tennis championship at the Westchester Country club today by defeating Ernest Kuhn, New York, 10-8, 6-2, 6-3.

Three other English players, who accompanied Austin, also won. The trio, Fred Perry, J. S. Olliff and Edward R. Avory, had little difficulty in winning their first round matches. Rain stopped their second round contests.

Strong Teams Seek Tribune Swim Trophy

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Although the entry lists for THE TRIBUNE'S swimming races Sunday closed last night, today's mail will bring the final deluge, and the number of registrations will not be available until tomorrow. Yesterday brought several team entries, and such is the size of these teams and caliber of the contestants that it is impossible to predict which may win the championship trophy.

Andy Kovac, swimming instructor of the Community Recreation center, 4711 West Madison street, and a booster of the 100 yard races since their inception in 1930, has entered thirty-five swimmers. Kovac believes that the races are excellent training in competition for novices, and at the same time offer incentive for the better swimmers. Kovac hopes that his group will capture two or more of the gold medals. All of the teams, of course, will receive merit buttons for negotiating the 100 yards in the Lincoln park lagoon.

Alvin J. Ott, director of the California park pool, which is located in the River Park district, has submitted entries in all ten races Sunday. California park has the largest outdoor pool in Chicago and the boys and girls of that team have been in training for several weeks for THE TRIBUNE races. The commissioners of the district encourage all aquatic sports and California park has become one of the most popular parks in the city.

The Eckhart park girls' team from the west parks is in charge of Sylvia Bernstein, the instructor. Miss Bernstein has chosen the best of the girls from Eckhart park and there are at least two competing in each of the five age divisions. Class B is the most popular. There are five girls in that division for 13 and 14 year olds.

Warren Holmes, captain of the Washington High school swimming team, East Chicago, Ind., will try for the class D boys' title Sunday. His entry has been submitted by his father, Harry Holmes, who, incidentally, brings up a most important subject.

"I know of one club," Mr. Holmes writes, "which will not be represented Sunday because the coach would not be a party to misrepresentation of ages by sending in entries for a younger division than that to which the contestants belong. If the winners' ages were investigated and it was known that those who cheated would be caught, it would encourage those who are honest."

To a great extent the question of ages submitted by individual competitors is a matter of personal honesty. It should go without saying, but apparently it must be said, that all contestants are on their honor in entering the age divisions. There can be no satisfaction in winning a trophy by falsification of ages.

All swimmers 16 years of age and over must be registered with the A. A. U. The A. A. U. will suspend indefinitely all swimmers who falsify their ages. The names of the first five finishers in each of the ten races will be taken Sunday by the judges. Those who win the gold, silver and bronze medals must verify their ages before the prizes will be given out. In event of error or misrepresentation, those finishing fourth and fifth will be moved up.

Plenty Spots in Michigan for Fish and Fun

BY BOB BECKER.

One week for touring and fishing through the lower peninsula of Michigan and fish must be had. This is the problem several Chicago fishermen have put up to us. It's undoubtedly one that many vacationists face this summer. R. M. W. phrases his query thus:

"I am planning a trip to Muskegon, Traverse City and back by way of Alpena in the week of Aug. 20. Can you advise me of a good fishing spot. It doesn't necessarily have to be on the route mentioned above."

Here are some suggestions:

1. The Newaygo country. Both Muskegon and Newaygo are on the Muskegon river. Without doubt the river above Newaygo will give any fisherman a good time and some dandy strings of fish. Fish the fast water, as well as pools, for small mouth bass. H. B., an Oak Park angler, just returned from that section and reports fishermen getting small mouths on nightcrawlers fished deep in eddies and pools, and on fly casts into the rapids.

In the deep water they are taking fine strings of walleyed pike. This same area is producing big rainbow trout [they have been getting them at or after dark] and strings of brook trout in nearby streams. Northern pike are there also.

As we reported earlier in the season the Muskegon between Croton Dam and Newaygo has been heavily stocked. It's a dandy river for a "float and camp" trip, but one can get a place to stop next to a big pool or run of swift water and enjoy the sport. There also are lakes nearby to which you can drive in your car.

Traverse City. We have fished one lake above Traverse City that's a dandy. Leelanau is its name. It is on the hard road and easy to reach. Excellent small mouth bass as well as pan fish and northern pike can be caught there. Moreover, one of the few Michigan lakes with muskelonge. Deep holes have lake trout, too. Right now the small mouths are mostly in deep water. Later you'll get them in shallow water. Cast the weed beds for both northern pike and muskies. The latter are not abundant, but one should be able to pick up one or two by persistent casting. [This is the St. Lawrence variety of muskie, a different species from that found in Wisconsin.]

BowbeerMeets Martin Today in Golf Final

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Dick Martin of Sunset Valley and Hank Bowbeer of Riverside are now the only two sailors aboard the golfing ship which set sail three days ago over the treacherous fairways of the No. 3 course at the Medinah Country club in the nineteenth annual amateur championship of the Chicago District Golf association. Only one of them will be on deck after today's 36 hole final over the course, which veterans have agreed is now the most difficult in the district.

Martin and Bowbeer rode out yesterday's storm by winning both their quarter-final and semi-final matches. Dick, former Illinois captain and Western conference champion, had easy sailing in his morning round, defeating Oliver Schmidt of Medinah, 6 and 5, but in the afternoon he was matched against Art Sweet of Ridgemoor, who on Tuesday had blazed through the No. 3 course with a 70, two under par, for a new course record. The magic which had been in Art's clubs, particularly his putter, hopped over into Dick's bag yesterday, and the Ridgemoor veteran finally was eliminated, 2 and 1.

Bowbeer Meets Trouble.

Bowbeer had a pair of real battles to advance to the final, winning the first from Yontz Bonnett of Bloomington, 2 and 1, and the second from Bill Chambers of Sunset Valley, 1 up. Chambers had gone into the semi-finals with a 1 up, 19 hole victory over Johnny Banks of York, western junior champion, while Sweet had won his morning match from Johnny Van Nortwick of Chicago Golf, 1 up.

Ted Behmyer of Euclid Hills and Charles Christopher of Park Ridge will meet today in the championship consolation final.

The name of Couch, long familiar in district golf, turned up again yesterday when Jock Couch of Glen View battled 20 holes to defeat Lyle Hoffman of Woodridge, for the first flight championship.

Rally Is Futile.

The Sweet-Van Nortwick and Chambers-Banks matches provided most of the fireworks in the morning round. In the former Van Nortwick rallied to even the match by winning the 16th and 17th, but found the woods with his drive to the home green, and was forced to play a safety shot out while Art was winning the hole and the match with a par 4.

In the afternoon play Bowbeer played some of the most perfect golf of the tournament on his outgoing nine, matching the course card hole for hole for a par 36. He was five up on Chambers at this point, but after halving the tenth Billy came back and won the 11th, 12th, 13th, 15th and 16th. Hank took the 14th with a birdie deuce, and they halved the 17th and 18th in pars.

Martin was only 1 up on Sweet at the end of nine. The latter missed short putts for birdies on the first, second, and fifth, while Dick dropped in long ones at the second, sixth, and seventh. He added another, a 20 footer, for a birdie three on the eleventh. Sweet came to grief in the woods at the thirteenth, and took a 7 to Martin's par 5. Art won the 14th and 16th, but Dick clinched it by taking the fifteenth and halving the seventeenth.

JUSTIN'S 116 IS LOW

Two hundred and sixty voyagers embarked on Butterfield's annual cruise yesterday and after 27 tempestuous holes it was found that Frank Justin, a guest from Edgewood Valley, had proved the best golfing seaman of the lot, with a gross score of 116.

The leading 27 hole scores were:

California at Olympic Time; There's a Spot!

ft was a Los Angeles millionaire, who hearing of it, sent word around that he would pay the board of any player who wished to stay on but couldn't pay his own.

An Argentine swimmer jumped the camp and the games, refusing to race because his own committee hadn't repaid his expenses incurred in training in the U. S. A., and an English boxer, apparently a pupil of Fainting Philip Scott, went through horrible spasms of agony in the ring, claiming to have been fouled.

Same Conflict Unavoidable.

These things seem unavoidable in any such congress of the athletes of all the nations but, again, no failure of the American management can be blamed for them. It was a fat Hungarian referee whose rulings harrassed the Brazilian water polo team to fighting rage the other day and a Belgian whose discrimination against the American team brought them crawling out of the water with blood in their eyes, like angry alligators, at the end of their game with the Germans.

There are certain to be scenes and wrangles in the fights, because the scoring of boxing bouts is entirely a matter of personal judgment and fist-fighting, for all the use of the name of chivalry in connection therewith, retains the gutter snipe character of the sporting community. Not always, but more often than not, the fighter who loses was sick or weak at the weight, he hurt his hand or was robbed. A boy came into his dressing room last night, beaten to the satisfaction of all but himself and his coach.

"I win every round," he said, "but they gave him the decision."

But the majority of the athletes and spectators when they go away from here will carry an impression of magnitude, of health enthusiasm, cordiality, good manners, and the rather grave beauty with which the Californians managed to invest the ceremonial phases of their show.

CHILE STARTS UP PRINTING PRESS TO ERASE DEBTS

Finance Chief Heads New Inflation Plan.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 10.—The Chilean peso will go the same way as the post-war German mark, it is predicted here, if Finance Minister Enrique Zanartu continues to hold office.

In a signed article in the government paper, La Nacion, Zanartu stated that, just as Germany achieved her "internal salvation" after the war by inflation, so Chile must also use the printing press to relieve her people of domestic indebtedness and crushing taxation burdens.

"The only value of money is created by the need for it," he declared.

Begins to Practice Theories.

Zanartu is the most forceful personality in Davila's revolutionary régime, and the newspapers which had formerly cracked jokes at his inflationary ideas are now thoroughly alarmed for the simple reason that he has begun to practice what he preached.

When he assumed the treasury post he declared his belief in a "managed currency." In two months he has managed the currency in such a way that he has doubled the note issue.

The finance minister represents what is the most influential and vociferous class in Chile today—the debtors. He is called the "king of debtors." On his own confession he owes $720,000 and he is credited with the intention of paying this amount before he quits office. He already has succeeded in reducing it to one-third of its value.

Looks After Debtors.

Whatever his ultimate intentions, Zanartu has looked after his own flock. Since taking office five laws have been passed for the benefit of debtors. The first decreed a general moratorium for all commercial debts for three months. The second postponed the payment of house and land mortgages. The rest have been amplifications of the moratorium decree.

REBELS IN BRAZIL CLAIM CAPTURE OF FEDERAL CITY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Capture of the City of Santa Ana, near Treas Lagoas, in Matto Grosso state, by the Sao Paulo rebels was reported today. The federals also reported advances.

Gen. Goes Monteiro, federal commander, telegraphed to Rio de Janeiro that the federals had penetrated fifteen miles westward in areas toward Cachoeira, compelling the rebels by an encircling movement to abandon their hilltop trenches.

The rebels were concentrating at Cachoeira, where a decisive battle was likely for the key point in the Parahyba valley and control of railways from southern Minas Geraes, said the reports here.

Chas. Thayer, Pioneer Lake County Resident, Is Dead

Charles Thayer, pioneer resident of Lake county, died yesterday afternoon at Waukegan after a ten days' illness. He was 61 years old. He was born in Lake county and for thirty years was caretaker of the county courthouse at Waukegan and was also a deputy sheriff. He is survived by his father, George Thayer, 88 years old, of Grays Lake, and by his widow and three daughters.

1 KILLED, 2 HURT IN AUTO CRASH NEAR PALATINE

Michael De Marchi, 69 years old, of 2708 North California avenue, was fatally injured yesterday, and his wife, Carrie, 67, and her brother, Anton Larson, 60, of 635 North Curtis street, a retired policeman, were hurt when their automobile was sideswiped by another car in Rand road, near Palatine, and forced into a culvert siding. The other automobile sped away.

All were taken to the Evangelical Deaconess hospital, where De Marchi died. Mrs. De Marchi suffered a leg fracture and a cut near her eye which may cost her the sight of the eye. Larson's back was strained.

De Marchi's death and four others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 701. The other victims:

Joseph Ward, 57 years old, 2544 East 106th street. Died at home of injuries incurred Sunday when he was run down at 104th street and Hoxie avenue by the car of Charles Grand, 10626 Calhoun avenue.

Allan Blackwell, 50 years old, a Negro, 4841 Michigan avenue. Died in the Chicago hospital. He was struck on Monday by an automobile driven by William Williams, 4648 Indiana avenue.

Ian Anderson, 12 years old, of Toronto, Ont. Died yesterday at the Hinsdale sanitarium of injuries received Saturday when he was struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle in Ogden avenue, Western Springs, where he was visiting friends.

The late John Emory Wilder, 1622 Forest place, Evanston, president of the Wilder Tanning company and a former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, left most of his $425,000 estate in trust to his widow, Mrs. Fannie Morse Wilder, and his four children. His will was approved yesterday by O. S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Horner.

The will gives $200 to each employe of his factory who has been on the pay rolls for more than one year, and directs that $11,000 be shared by twenty-one of his associates. Charitable bequests of $5,000 to the Chicago Memorial hospital and $2,000 each to the Y. M. C. A. and the First Presbyterian church of Evanston were made.

Mrs. Wilder was given the income from one-third of the residual estate. Mr. Wilder's children by a former marriage, Lawrence R. Wilder and Emory H. Wilder of 2620 Lake View avenue; Mrs. Lois W. Landreth, Waukegan, Wis., and Mrs. Antoinette W. Ball, 296 Forest avenue, Lake Forest, will each receive the income from one-sixth of the estate. The principal of the whole estate will be divided by the heirs of each child.

The will of Mrs. Jennie Scott Ford, widow of Charles E. Ford, former president of the Kenwood National bank, was also approved yesterday. Her $250,000 estate was divided among her two sons and daughter, and a $100,000 trust fund was established for her grandchildren.

U. S. CALLS 104 WITNESSES FOR H. O. STONE CASE

Subpœnas for 104 witnesses were issued yesterday by Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Struett as the last move in preparation for the trial of Henry F. Norcott, president of the defunct H. O. Stone & Co. real estate and mortgage house, and eight of his associates on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

The trial is scheduled to begin before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on Sept. 20 and is expected to last more than two months. All of the defendants have entered pleas of not guilty. The men indicted gained control of H. O. Stone & Co., a 95 year old institution, several years ago. It failed almost two years ago with liabilities of 14½ million dollars.

Besides Norcott the defendants are Claude Niles, vice president; Marshall W. George, secretary; W. Scott Carroll, controller; Harold D. Bennett, vice president; Leslie A. Needham, attorney for the company; Charles A. Packer Jr., treasurer; David A. Coleman and Francis E. Richardson, officials of a subsidiary concern.

RINGLING CIRCUS RETIRES OLD NELL AT THE AGE OF 76

At the age of 76, Old Nell, the first elephant bought by Ringling Brothers, was retired yesterday after 45 years of active service. The retirement of the animal was ordered by Mrs. Charles Ringling, manager of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus. Old Nell will be sent to the pastures at the show's winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla.

The elephant is credited by the circus management with having saved the show in 1889 when it was a one ring and one elephant wagon circus. By hauling seven wagons across the Illinois-Wisconsin state line, the story goes, she evaded deputies who sought to plaster the property with attachments. Charles Ringling was thus given time to raise money to settle the claims.

WELL! WELL! THIS SCIENTIST REALLY PREFERS BLONDES

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A quest of the McGill university weather man for blondes whose tresses reach to their waists brought a quick response today.

The meteorologist required fine, sensitive, golden hairs for a hydrograph, a delicate instrument used for recording humidity changes from hour to hour. The hair of brunettes is too course, he said.

Telephone calls assured him there were still women in Montreal with blonde hair that was unbobbed and who were willing to sacrifice a few strands of it on the altar of science.

POLICE MAKE TWO SPEAKEASY RAIDS IN ALBANY PARK

Two basement speakeasies in the Albany Park police district, which catered allegedly to school children as well as adults, were raided yesterday by police squads headed by Capt. Joseph Goldberg and Sergt. Larry Starr.

The first place was at 4353 North Tripp avenue. Capt. Goldberg arrested Adolph Sagel as the owner and Clarence Dierdorf as bartender. He confiscated 1,000 bottles of home brew, 10 gallons of alcohol, and a slot machine.

At 3753 North Hamlin avenue the police seized Emil Horn as the owner and took possession of two barrels of wine, 300 bottles of beer, and some whisky. The two barrels of wine were emptied in a sewer. Both raids were made on warrants.

REAL REASONS SEEN FOR STOCK AND BOND GAINS

Commodity Prices Forging Ahead.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

While stocks and bonds were making further advances yesterday there were here and there in commodity markets and in industry some encouraging developments on which these rising security prices might be founded.

Wheat soared, receded somewhat but closed with a gain of more than a cent. Cotton was up another dollar a bale. Butter and eggs made fractional gains. Silk, sugar, and other commodities forged ahead.

United States Steel corporation yesterday reported unfilled orders of 1,966,302 tons as of the end of July, a new low, but the decline was only 68,466 tons, substantially smaller than had been expected. During June unfilled orders dropped 142,394 tons and in May they declined 149,764 tons. Last year in July the decline was 74,507.

Report Held Favorable.

The report was considered distinctly favorable in financial circles. In fact some observers believe that the checking of the decline in "Big Steel's" orders may mark the turn in the industry which has been in the doldrums all through the current year.

The market for scrap, which sometimes anticipates an upturn in steel production by several weeks, has developed a strong undertone. The Iron Age reports advances of 50 cents to $1 a ton in Chicago on several grades. The Pittsburgh quotation on heavy melting steel is 50 cents a ton higher. A mill in that district paid $1 a ton above the price ruling on the last previous mill purchase. The scrap trade expects still higher prices.

Among the larger consumers of iron and steel the railroads are expected to lead in increased orders. Their repairs have been neglected, resulting in a considerable increase in bad order cars.

Cotton Back in Favor.

The Board of Trade reports that cotton, usually overlooked in Chicago, is again finding favor with traders here. The government estimate of a short cotton crop for the current year and the belief that the farm board is about through with its cotton manipulations and is seeking to get private interests to take over its surplus have caused cotton prices to advance more than $5 a bale in the last few days.

"A revival in cotton trading seems probable," James E. Bennett, chairman of the Board of Trade's cotton committee, said yesterday. "Artificial influences in the cotton market are being gradually withdrawn. Greater activity in cotton, with more in prospect, already attracts attention."

In a single day this week more than 20,000 bales of cotton, in contracts for future delivery, were bought on the Chicago Board of Trade. The Chicago cotton contract is commercially attractive, Mr. Bennett says, because it provides Houston, Galveston, and Texas City deliveries where there are ample warehouse, railway and shipping facilities.

Odds Held Against Break.

In the opinion of Garfield V. Cox, professor of finance in the University of Chicago School of Business, the odds now appear to be against bond and stock prices breaking into new low ground.

"Numerous concerns in a variety of industries," he says, "have so far reduced costs that they need no more than stabilization of present low prices and a very moderate increase in volume to make possible operation at a profit. The banks continue to carry large surplus reserves and plans now on foot give promise of putting some of these idle funds to work in industry by early autumn."

Bank closings throughout the United States during the week ended at noon yesterday were 51.2 per cent under the weekly average for 1932 to date and 55.8 per cent under the August, 1931, weekly average, according to Rand, McNally & Co.'s weekly banking bulletin. The number of new and reopened banks was 78.6 per cent greater than the weekly average for August, 1931.

U.S. Bankers Work on Loan for Russians?

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The New York Times in a front page news story this morning says:

"With the opening of an international campaign to sell an unlimited amount of soviet Russian gold bonds redeemable on demand in the currencies of the countries in which they are marketed it has become apparent to banking interests here that a far reaching change in the relations between this country and Russia is taking place and that this foreshadows the eventual recognition of the soviet régime by the United States government.

"The financing is centered in an issue of internal bonds so arranged as to avoid the difficulties of floating foreign dollar bond issues in this country through established underwriting syndicates. Under the program the sales campaign will be directed from Moscow with the assistance of American consultants. Its sponsors expect that through these bonds international trade, especially with this country, will be given the greatest impetus yet enjoyed.

Banking Groups Formed.

"Arrangements have been made for the Chase National bank of New York and the International Acceptance bank to handle the transfer of the funds and the delivery of the bonds in this country.

"For many years important banking and commercial interests, as well as some government officials, have been advocating closer commercial relations with Russia. Recently Col. Frederick Pope, president of the Nitrogen Engineering corporation, urged that the United States send an unofficial observer or commissioner to Russia with a view to facilitating business relations. Because of the nonrecognition of soviet Russia and other trade handicaps purchases by soviet Russia in this country have been restricted. Germany and England now get the bulk of the trade.

"The possibility that President Hoover might suggest closer trade relations with Russia was widely rumored and discussed in the financial community today. There were definite indications that any such development at the present time would be regarded favorably from a financial standpoint."

Would Purchase Here?

"Although full details of the bond issue are not available, it is considered likely that the proceeds would be used as part payment for goods purchased in this country. While the bonds are redeemable on demand they are to run for a period of ten years.

"Owing to the fact that the sale of Russian soviet bonds in this country and perhaps in several other countries would be frowned upon, it distributed through a local syndicate, a scheme has been devised through which it can be done, it is believed, without any objection from governmental authorities.

"The Russian central bank at Moscow, through correspondent banks throughout the world, will distribute the bonds after funds have been forwarded to it by the correspondents.

"It is reported that already some millions of dollars of these bonds have been subscribed for by Americans and citizens of other countries. The unusual feature of the bonds is that they are redeemable at any time at face value plus accrued interest. They will bear interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, which is not considered a high rate to a country experiencing such an expansion as Russia with a shortage of both capital and credit.

"Almost entirely because of the lack of credit facilities, Russian-American trade has fallen off sharply during the last year. This decline followed a period of growth, beginning in 1923, which was not seriously interrupted until 1931. The exports of the United States to soviet Russia expanded in that period from $4,550,000 in 1923 to $114,399,000 in 1930."

REPORT BRITISH MAY GO ON GOLD BASIS THIS FALL

Signs Seen Pointing to Early Action.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Schemes set in motion in London in the last few weeks strongly indicate that Great Britain plans to return to the gold standard some time this fall.

Some quarters fix the time around mid-October, but nothing has been officially available since the statement by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in the house of commons several weeks ago that no immediate change in British monetary policy is contemplated.

Some of the biggest dealers in bullion, not only in the British empire, but in the world, are busy preparing their accounts in such a way that the conviction is now fixed in many places that the change will come around Oct. 15.

Await Ottawa Results.

It is reported that only the Ottawa trade conference and its effects are awaited before the step is taken.

It is learned that the Imperial Bank of India, four Indian exchange banks and bullion dealers in India have been asked to assemble $500,000,000 in gold in India in case it is needed. Big Indian merchants, it is learned, are arranging all contracts to terminate in September wherever it is possible.

One dealer in jewels in London has been advised to rush delivery by air mail so as to complete a contract before the change is made.

Gold Holdings Increase.

Gold holdings of the Bank of England now approach the figure of a year ago when sterling was redeemable in gold, and two of the biggest Indian traders in the metal between them hold or control $250,000,000. They are Sir P. Kikabhoy and G. D. Birla. Both are agents for the government of India and both, like all Indian merchants, would be vitally affected since the rupee is linked with the pound.

All, according to Indian circles in London, are buying gold for delivery late this fall when monetary values both in Great Britain and India are expected to increase after the pound and rupee are restabilized.

The gold value of the pound has fallen in the last few weeks near the level which brought on the British "gold rush" last spring during which sovereigns and ornaments sold at a profit of 25 per cent.

Visiting Merchants' Buying Is Largest for Two Years

As the twenty-second semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants' council drew to a close yesterday Chicago wholesalers were enthusiastic over the results.

Fred H. Scott, vice president of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., declared his company yesterday had its biggest day in two years, both from the standpoint of attendance and buying. More than 1,600 merchants registered at the wholesale house from every part of the country.

An executive of Marshall Field & Co. wholesale stated:

"We have had phenomenal sales of women's and misses' ready to wear, including dresses, house dresses, and coats. We are now getting many buyers who are confining their activities to Chicago, passing up New York.

"Orders for cotton goods are coming from all over the country. We had a merchant due here on Monday from Louisiana who was detained. When the price of cotton started to rise he telegraphed us saying he would be here on Wednesday, and in the meantime for us to protect his buyers. We are running our cotton mills in the south on a full time basis.

Buying Holiday Goods.

"We have had more buyers of holiday goods than ever before. Buyers are purchasing smaller quantities of individual goods, but are spreading their purchases to make a larger showing.

"One thing of interest this year is the number of store owners who are here to do their own buying. The result is we don't have to wait for decisions to be taken. Owners are taking a keener interest in their business than ever before.

"Merchants from the smaller towns tell us that farmers are getting higher prices for their butter and eggs. That is increasing their buying power. One farmer down in Kentucky said the increase in hog prices has given him $4,000 and he is going to buy a new automobile."

Chicago as Leading Market.

More than 600 buyers were the guests yesterday at a luncheon in the Merchandise Mart given by the management of the Mart and the Merchandise Mart chamber of commerce. Bruce MacLeish of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. spoke on Chicago as being an ever increasing important market place for merchants from all over the world.

"The wholesalers in Chicago realize this," he said, "and are doing their utmost to coöperate with and help the merchants to sell their goods. The profit of all depends upon this coöperation.

"The small dealer is now experiencing the best times he has had in the last few years, and his outlook is brighter than it has been for months."

Col. Robert Isham Randolph gave the merchants a talk on the Century of Progress Exposition.

PUBLIC BUYING AGAIN BOOSTS WHEAT PRICES

Closing Gains 1¼c to 1⅝c in Pit Here.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Eastern and local longs who sold out their lines of wheat futures late last week and had been awaiting a break in order to reinstate their holdings apparently misjudged the extent of the public buying in the market.

The bull movement was resumed yesterday after two days of reaction from the extreme top of last Saturday.

Houses that were active sellers on the recent advance were among those which assisted in making a bulge of over 2c from Tuesday's finish to a new high since early in June and nearly 10c above the low of last week.

Public buying of wheat futures in small lots was persistent early in the week and apparently of sufficient volume to absorb the surplus in the pit. This was disclosed yesterday, when

TRANSIT MERGER DEPENDS ON BONDS OF ELEVATED LINES

The future of Chicago's transportation system depends in a considerable measure on the action of holders of Rapid Transit line bonds in depositing them with the bondholders' committee. That was said in a letter sent yesterday to holders of these securities by D. F. Kelly, chairman of the committee.

A great deal of work looking toward the acquisition by the Chicago Local Transportation company of the Rapid Transit and the Surface lines has already been accomplished, Mr. Kelly pointed out.

There are outstanding the following securities of the Rapid Transit lines: Chicago Rapid Transit company first and refunding 6½s, $10,316,000; first and refunding 6s, $8,033,000; Metropolitan West Side Elevated Railway company first mortgage 4s, $10,000,000; extension mortgage 4s, $4,432,000. Northwestern Elevated Railroad company first mortgage 5s, $9,439,000. Union Consolidated Elevated Railway company, $407,000. Union Elevated Railroad company, $3,802,000.

With over 20,000 security holders to deal with, Harry R. Mosser, secretary of the bondholders' committee, said that the number of bonds deposited to date has been satisfactory. The following concerns are now acting with the depositor, Halsey, Stuart & Co, as depositaries: The Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, Philadelphia; Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, New York, and the Old Colony Trust company, Boston.

FARM STOCKS, RAILS HIGHER IN WALL STREET

U. S. Steel Shares in Advance.

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The stock market, despite an overload of bearish news, went roaring on today to higher and still higher price levels. That was due to a flood of buying orders equaled only once since the big "push" got under way nearly a month ago.

The day's gains averaged from $1 to $3 a share in the active list and run as high as $11.50 in some descriptions. The close found most of the list selling at the best levels in more than two months. The turnover approximated 4,400,000 shares, which compares with yesterday's total of 3,800,000.

Among the extreme gains of the day were Colorado and Southern common and Studebaker preferred, each of which advanced 11¼ points a share, and Gold Dust preferred, which rose

HEAT DAMAGE TO CORN CROP CUTS ESTIMATES

Failure in Russia

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—Harvest figures published today for the five days up to Aug. 5 show 25 per cent less grain planted area reaped than at the same date last year and 25 per cent less than for the preceding five days period. Another disquieting factor is contributed by widespread reports that the peasants are not bothering to harvest more grain than for their own needs, because of shortages of goods that they want in return for their surplus grain or money.

WILL HELP CHICAGO.

"The most optimistic reports heretofore from the American point of view have estimated the Russian crop as much larger," Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, said.

Unofficial reports also have been received here of a reduced Argentine wheat crop and have aided the market upturn. Further upturn is looked for today.

Much heavier damage was done to the corn crop during the month of July by hot and dry weather than the traders anticipated. The government report issued after the market's close yesterday indicated a yield of 2 billion 820 million bu, or 176 million bu below the July figures, and was a like amount below the average of the private estimates given out last week. The traders had been anticipating a crop of around 3 billion bu.

The yield of corn estimated by the government was so far below the figures given by Chicago statisticians as to cause considerable comment, as the condition figure of 77.4 was identical with that of E. H. Miller. Yet the latter then anticipated a yield of 2 billion 995 million bu on the basis of the government acreage.

Wheat Less Harmed.

Heat and drought did less damage to spring wheat than anticipated, as the indicated yield was lowered only 24 million bu from the July 1 returns and this was partly offset by an increase of 10 million bu in winter wheat. However, the aggregate yield of 723 million bu was 171 million bu less than last year.

There is no shortage of wheat in sight for the 1932-'33 season. Recent estimates have suggested a carryover of around 340 million bu, which with the crop would give a total of 1 billion 63 million bu, while domestic bread, feed, and seed requirements are normally around 650 million bu and around 125 million bu are needed for carryover at the end of the season.

North America, on the basis of available information, is estimated by the grain trade to have an exportable surplus for the current season of slightly less than 700 million bu after making all necessary deductions.

Figures on Oats.

An oats crop of 1 billion 215 million bu was suggested by the government report, or practically the same as a month ago and 103 million bu more than harvested last year. Small reductions were indicated in the rye and barley crops as compared with July, but both were well in excess of the small yields harvested in 1931. The same applied to flaxseed and hay. Details follow, with the last six ciphers omitted in the productions:

British Import Figures Lowest for Five Years

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Mainly due to new tariffs, British imports for July were the lowest in five years. The total value of $259,605,000 [at par] was $91,125,000 below the total for July last year and shows a decline of $27,980,000, compared with the previous month. Exports last month practically maintained their June total but were $24,790,000 smaller than in the corresponding month last year.

CHICAGO STOCKS HIGHER, WITH LARGER SALES

Recent Gains Show Reviving Strength.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

After some hesitation, shares on the Chicago exchange resumed their climb yesterday, with the result that the previous day's minor losses were erased and many new high quotations for the year established.

Trading expanded sharply. Transactions of 180,000 shares equaled Monday's turnover, when business was the most active since early spring. There is no denying that the speculative fever is spreading. In the crowded brokerage offices in La Salle street the tape watchers whispered excitedly. Exclamations broke from the crowds when some favorite broke into new high price territory.

New high quotations were reached by some issues which belatedly joined in the advance. The feature of the day, however, was a sharp expansion in trading in Middle West Utilities common stock. For many weeks the trade in the stock has been negligible and the price has hovered between 12½ and 87½ cents. Yesterday it moved up to 75 cents from its previous close of 50 cents on a turnover in excess of 32,000 shares.

Representing a far greater business in dollar and cents, however, was the trading in Borg-Warner, which again crossed 10 on sales of nearly 22,000 shares. Commonwealth Edison, too, was high, gaining over a point to 74¾. Swift International scored an outstanding gain of 3¾ points on heavy trade. Union Carbide continued active and moved up moderately.

The recovery of Chicago stocks has been substantial in the last few weeks. The following list of ten representative shares gives an idea of the ground recovered. Yesterday's closing prices and the percentage of gain they represent over the year's low prices are shown:

| Stock— | Yesterday's close. | Percent. recovery from Yr's. low. |
|---|---|---|
| Borg Warner | $10.00 | 181 |
| Bendix Aviation | 10.25 | 141 |
| Commonwealth Edison | 74.75 | 72 |
| Cont. Chicago common | 2.00 | 431 |
| Marshall Field | 7.00 | 136 |
| Public Service, N. J. | 43.12½ | 96 |
| Sohio Sparks | 17.00 | 70 |
| Swift & Co. | 12.80½ | 84 |
| Swift International | 24.00 | 166 |
| U. S. Gypsum | 22.25 | 109 |

The gains in some of the lower priced shares exceed 400 per cent. Even the high priced issues like Commonwealth Edison have registered sharp appreciation.

American Locomotive.

Thank you for your recent comprehensive report on Bethlehem Steel. Will you please oblige me with a report on American Locomotive? I have much appreciation for this service.—Mrs. B. M. G.

American Locomotive company was incorporated thirty-one years ago. Volume of operations is dependent primarily on prosperity of the railroad industry. Earnings in the past have fluctuated widely in sympathy with the credit status and operations of the railroads.

In an attempt to achieve some diversification, subsidiaries operating in other lines have been acquired. In addition to locomotives the company now manufactures Diesel engines, heat exchange equipment, equipment for the oil and gas industries, and steel tired wheels.

President Woodin said that the buying of locomotives during 1931 was practically at a standstill. The company shipped only 77. Net loss for 1931 was $5,929,000 after deduction of $594,000 reserves for loss on Canadian exchange. Deficit for the year after dividends was $7,317,000.

Net income for 1930 was $3,779,000, equal to $9.81 per preferred share and $1.41 per common share. Net for 1929 was $6,851,000, against $4,171,000 for 1928.

On Dec. 31, 1931, unfilled orders were $4,621,000, against $7,529,000 the year before and $17,834,000 on Dec. 31, 1929.

The company finished 1931 with current assets of $24,492,000 and current liabilities of $1,862,000. Cash assets alone were almost $15,000,000. Working capital was $22,630,000, against $31,444,000 the year before and $34,276,000 on Dec. 31, 1929.

The company has no funded debt. There are outstanding 358,998 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred, par $100, and 767,900 shares of no par common. Dividends have been paid regularly on the preferred since 1901. Nothing has been paid on the common since the 25 cent disbursement on Sept. 30, 1931.

Although the manufacture of equipment unrelated to railroad operations has provided some measure of diversification, the company is still primarily a manufacturer of locomotives and dependent on railroad companies for its business.

One favorable factor is shown in a recent survey which pointed out that almost half the locomotives in use are more than twenty years old. This implies a large potential market. Any large scale replacement purchasing by the railroads, however, must await generally improved conditions and improvement in the roads' credit standings.

Metropolitan Edison.

I shall appreciate an opinion as to the merit of Metropolitan Edison first 6s, series F, due 1962.—J. M. T.

They are reasonably sound.

Profit taking and evening up for the government report on wheat due after the close caused a sharp recession from the top, but renewed buying developed on the dip, and the close was within about ⅛c of the top. Net gains were 1¼@1⅝c, with September 55⅝@55¾c, December 59⅜@59¾c, and May, 63⅞@64c.

Public Buying a Big Factor.

Concentrated buying and selling orders appeared in the wheat market from time to time, but the backbone of the bull movement was the steady buying in small lots which brokers attributed to the general public.

In some quarters it was estimated that speculative purchases of wheat yesterday were close to 60,000,000 bu, which would establish a new high record for the year. That the public is in the market on a big scale was suggested by the increase of over 2,000,000 bu in the open interest Tuesday to a total of 133,412,000 bu in all deliveries, or only 500,000 bu under the maximum reached on November 9, 1931, when a sensational 30 day bull movement culminated.

Intimations that a good export business was impending in American hard winter wheat were received from the seaboard, with exporters there expressing the belief Greece would take liberal quantities. October wheat in Liverpool developed congestion during the day and closed 1¼c per bu higher at 58½c, or the same price as the December, the two deliveries coming together for the first time in some months if not for several years. The March future was only ¼c higher at the last. Winnipeg was firm with net gains of 1⅛@1¼c, with December at 62⅜c in Canadian funds.

Cash Houses Sell Corn.

Heavy selling of September corn by a cash house checked an upward movement in the corn market early. Strength in wheat led to short covering and an advance of ½@¾c early, but upturn was more than lost later, with the finish at net losses of ⅛@⅜c. September was 31⅞c, December 33¼c, and May 37⅞c at the last. The country sold 200,000 bu old corn to arrive, and cash handlers expressed the belief that a big business would have developed had the September sold at 33c and over during the day.

Northwestern interests were reported as free sellers of oat futures to hedge against purchases of cash grain, but this was offset to a large extent by short covering and also new buying and the close was unchanged to ⅝c higher, with September showing the most strength. The latter was 17⅞@18c at the last, with December 20c and May 22⅝c.

Rye was influenced largely by the action of wheat and closed ⅞@1⅛c higher, with May leading. The latter was 42⅝c at the last, with September 34½c and December 37⅝@37¾c.

DEL. AND HUDSON CUTS DIVIDEND NOW ON $6 BASIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The Delaware and Hudson company today declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50, placing the stock on a $6 annual basis, compared with the previous rate of $9 a year.

The $9 rate has been in effect for twenty-five years, and from 1901 to 1906 a $7 rate was paid. For the four years, 1897 to 1900, 5 per cent was distributed annually.

Directors of the Eastman Kodak company today ordered a reduction in the quarterly dividend from $1.25 a share on the common stock to 75 cents a share, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis, compared with $5 paid heretofore. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share was declared on the preferred stock.

Brown Fence and Wire company omitted the quarterly dividend of 30 cents on the class A stock due at this time.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Top yesterday, $6.25; average, $5.25.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 21,000; sheep, 14,000.

Another mild gain was scored in hogs yesterday. The peak rose to $5.05, the first time it has been above the $5 line since July 28. This price shows 30c gain over the low spot three weeks ago, and is $1.75, or 53 per cent above the 36 year low established in May. The general average moved up 5c to $4.40, being $1.25 or 40 per cent above the bottom a little more than two months ago.

Although buying on eastern account was light yesterday, shipping demand has been steadily increasing. On recent sessions, barring Wednesday which is one of the light days for shippers, eastern packers have been taking from 14 to 23 per cent of Chicago receipts.

Some Cattle Are Lower.

Some classes of cattle slipped a notch or two yesterday, with a few of the plainer grades down 15@25c, but the peak prices and the majority of well finished offerings maintained the preceding day's high level. Eastern interests kept close to where the top grades were located in the yards, anxious for their quota, despite the weaker trend in other divisions. One string of 60 steers averaging 1,227 lbs sold to order buyers at $9.75, equaling the season's top.

The bulk of yesterday's steers at $7.50@9.25 graded best of the season in quality making prices appear higher "on paper." Not many of the low grade grassy cattle arrived. There were several shipments of extremely heavy cattle. One lot averaged 1,585 lbs at $9. The heaviest here averaged 1,901 lbs and sold at $7.15. They were from Oklahoma. Cooler weather has stimulated demand for beef and prices on the wholesale market have worked up during the last few days. The cattle is also getting encouragement from the hide market where prices are quoted 2@3c over the low of last spring.

Lambs Stronger.

Sheep receipts fell short yesterday and lamb prices forged ahead 15@25c in many instances before the close of the session. Natives led the upturn, while the majority of the range lambs were released at Tuesday's best prices. City butchers and packers hand picked a few lots of natives as high as $6.25, but the bulk of them cashed at $5.75@6.00, with buck lambs rejected at the usual $1.00 discount. Range lambs were sorted at $5.25@5.90, with feeding stock at $4.50@4.75. Aggregate receipts at the seven leading markets were smallest for Wednesday since May 11.

LARD MARKET FIRM

Trading in lard was limited. The close was unchanged to 2 1-2c higher on the near deliveries and 10c up on the January. Bellies were 2 1-2c higher on futures. Inquiries for lard and meats from abroad were more numerous and the general cash trade particularly in bellies was fairly good. Loins were in demand at 9 to 14c. Liverpool lard was 3d lower on spot and 3d higher on January. Exports were only 5,600 lbs. Cash lard was $5.20, loose $4.90, leaf $5.10, short ribs and bellies were 6.75c. Hog markets was up 10c with a top of $5.05. Receipts moderate being under the run of a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS RALLY

Butter and egg futures worked to a higher close despite opening weakness on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, the active deliveries closing ¼c higher in quiet trading. Selling was active in both commodities early, but toward midsession improved new buying and short covering combined to check the selling, prices moving higher steadily to the close. Storage reports were less favorable which did not influence. The four markets reported 200,000 lbs less butter and 4,000 cases less eggs removed, compared with last year's movement. Sales: Butter, 71 cars; eggs, 81 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car. Prices follow:

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

You get the full amount of the loan, and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the reduced rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.
